Huge 'Robot Slave' for Man Is Being Developed

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) —A group of engineers is working on a project which will enable a man to uproot a huge tree, step over a parked car and tote a heavy telephone pole up the side of a steep cliff.

All this and more is predicted for the man of the near future by those assigned to the Army project at the General Electric Co.'s advanced technology laboratories.

In its simplest sense, said Ralph S. Mosher, the plan consists of encasing a man in a 17-foot-high metal skeleton which he can manipulate through his own arm, leg and body movements.

The human-mechanical man, to be known as a "pedipulator," is in its third stage.

Mosher, one of the developers, said the device will have one distinct advantage over a mechanical man or robot since it will have the benefit of a human brain to guide its movements.

When the contraption is completed, Mosher said, a man will be able to run at high speeds for protracted lengths of time and stride effortlessly through deep mud.

Within eight months the developers expect to have ready a two-legged platform of the same height as the pedipulator to test how easily a man can balance himself in the steel cocoon of a giant.

The machine will amplify the power of a normal man's arms and legs, allowing him to perform feats of strength and endurance that defy the imagination.

As the man inside lifts a leg as though he were stepping over a fallen log, Mosher said, the movement will be amplified sufficiently to lift the machine over a parked car.

If a tree is in the way of the man inside will have only to go through the grasping and lifting motions normal for hoisting a thin pole, and the machine will tear the tree from the ground.

Mosher said basic concepts of the pedipulator have been proven workable in a pair of mechanical hands he developed six years ago for remote handling

High Court Strikes Down Colorado Reapportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declared invalid today a "federal-type plan" of apportionment of the Colorado Legislature.

The plan, approved by Colorado voters in 1962 and by the State Legislature in 1963, was to become effective next Jan. 1.

It was attacked by residents of the Denver metropolitan area who said it discriminated against sections with large populations, particularly in the State Senate.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, speaking of the federal-type plan, declared:

"An individual's constitutionally protected right to cast an equally weighted vote cannot be denied even by a vote of a majority of a state's electorate, if the apportionment scheme adopted by the voters fails to measure up to the requirements of the (constitution's) equal protection clause."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declared today the legislative apportionment system of New York State is unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a legislative apportionment case from Maryland, Chief Justice Earl Warren declared today that neither house of the state's legislature, "even after the 1962 legislation reapportioning the House of Delegates, is apportioned sufficiently on a population basis to be constitutionally substainable."

"Consideration of history and tradition," Warren said, "do not and could not, provide a sufficient justification for the substantial deviations from population-based representation in both houses of the Maryland legislature."

Radishes Thrive on Beatle Music, Student Declares

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Radishes like music.

They also like some kinds of music better than others.

They grow better when they're listening to it.

They like Lily Pons' operatic coloratura quite well.

They don't care quite as much for symphonic works.

What they really like the most though, is the Beatles.

Radishes simply go wild over the Beatles.

Her father, Stefan Boshkov, associate professor of mining engineering, was inclined to laugh off the experiment. But he didn't laugh about having to listen to Beatle music around the house day after day.

Here is what she did:

She planted four large trays with radish seeds last December and kept the trays near a sunny window inside the house. They all grew in the same type soil and got the same amounts of water and sunshine.

However, when the plants had grown about three quarters of an inch above the soil, Lynn started playing music to three of the trays.

Each in turn would be placed on the living room floor in front of the phonograph loudspeaker and get 45 minutes daily of Beatles, Pons or Dvorak's "New World Symphony." The fourth

Carson Man Held in Probe Of Wife's Death

A Ft. Carson man, Sgt. Richard Olon Gooch, 38, 715 Main St. is being held in County Jail for investigation of the murder of his wife, Gloria Dean Gooch, 32, the sheriff's office reported this morning.

According to Deputy Sheriff Woodrow Littrell, the sheriff's department received a call from Gooch Saturday afternoon saying his wife had shot herself. Littrell went to the scene and found Mrs. Gooch dead on the bed. A .38 caliber revolver was by her side and there was a bullet wound on her chest.

Dr. R. Urich examined the body which was later removed to Our Chapel of Memories. Investigation showed the wound could not have been self-inflicted and Gooch was arrested on suspicion of murder Saturday evening.

District Attorney Pat Hinton said this morning that all the circumstances at present indicated first degree murder and added that such a charge would be filed against Gooch in District Court late today or early Tuesday.

Nuclear Sub Damaged by Mystery Fire

A spokesman for Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. said it was too soon to determine the extent of the damage to the $40-million submarine from the fire late Saturday night.

The Haddock, sister ship of the ill-fated Thresher, is in the advanced stages of construction. However, none of the nuclear equipment had been installed.

Street Marching By Whites Ends In St. Augustine

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Street marching by white segregationists apparently was over today, at least temporarily. It was uncertain whether Negroes would resume marching tonight.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which is directing the integration drive in the nation's oldest city, said former baseball star Jackie Robinson would join the campaign today.

Busloads of supporters also were expected from several cities, including Albany, Ga., the SCLC office said.

Sunday night, white segregationists marched for the third night in a row but they walked only five blocks in the downtown area. In two previous marches, white demonstrators had walked through a Negro section.

The crowd again met in a park before the march. J. B. Stoner, Ku Klux Klan attorney from Atlanta, told the rally that unless out-of-town Negro leaders pulled out, a fire-your-Negro campaign would begin.

Stoner said there would be no march tonight by the segregationist group.

The SCLC office said more sit-in attempts were planned and there might be a march by Negroes tonight.

Thirty-six Negroes and a white man were arrested Sunday for trying to integrate a restaurant and two churches. This brought to 127 the number of arrests since last Thursday when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was jailed for refusing to leave a motel restaurant. King was released Saturday on bond but said he would return by Tuesday.

Strollers Watch Racial Fighting On Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men, who knocked down two Negroes for allegedly molesting their wives as they walked along brightly lighted Broadway Sunday night, were mobbed and beaten by eight Negroes minutes later. Dozens of strollers watched.

As the two men's wives screamed for help, one bystander did call police.

The victims were Michael Massa, 30, and his wife, Ann, 27, and Edward Costa, 38, and his wife, Margaret, 30, all of Brooklyn.

Police gave this account:

Today is the Massa's 11th wedding anniversary. They had a late dinner with their friends and the foursome was strolling on Broadway between 51st and 52nd Streets, headed for a night club, when two men made obscene remarks to the women, but were ignored.

Then the pair put their hands on the women. Costa and Massa knocked the men down. The Negroes fled to a lunchroom on Broadway near 52nd Street.

The couples then headed down Broadway.

In the lunchroom, a witness told police, the Negroes turned to patrons and said: "Come on. Let's get those guys, they roughed us up."

At 49th Street, eight men jumped Costa and Massa, throwing them to the sidewalk and kicking them about the body and face.

One of the attackers turned to the crowd and said: "Don't any-

Goldwater Nears Total For Win on First Ballot

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater is expected to corral 56 delegate votes in Texas Tuesday and, by current count, push past the magic total needed to win the Republican presidential nomination.

But not all of this first ballot strength is irrevocably bound to the Arizona senator, and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania will be hopscotching the country this week, trying to pick off some of the delegates now in the senator's column.

Since Scranton launched his drive for the nomination last Friday, however, he has gained little more than a score of votes —and only one of the delegates who lined up behind the governor was for Goldwater earlier.

The senator's total meanwhile ballooned to 619 by Associated Press tally. He needs 655 for nomination and is favored to win all of the 56 votes to be designated in Texas and most if not all of the 14 to be assigned in Montana Friday and Saturday.

Those two conventions wind up the delegate selection process for the Republican National Convention opening July 13 in San Francisco.

Lodge Says He Does Not Plan To Resign Now

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge today termed "totally untrue" a Washington report that he was resigning within 30 days.

"There is no truth at all in that," Lodge said through a spokesman.

Lodge repeatedly has denied similar reports in the past.

On one recent occasion he said, "I am not resigning but I don't plan to stay here the rest of my life, either."

The New York Times had reported that Lodge had asked to be relieved within 30 days for reasons of health. The White House in Washington said President Johnson had received no letter of resignation.

The Columbia Broadcasting System reported from Saigon that Lodge said the report he had submitted his resignation was "totally untrue."

The American Broadcasting Co. said Lodge, talking Sunday night in Saigon with ABC correspondent Charles P. Arnot, denied published reports that he was returning to the United States before the Republican National Convention. Lodge made no mention in the taped interview about resigning, an ABC spokesman said.

Father of Five Drowns in Colorado River

GRAND VALLEY, Colo. (UPI)—The body of Bernard J. (Buzz) Beckman, 29, was recovered Sunday from the roiling waters of the Colorado River, where he drowned May 31 in a canoe accident.

Beckman's body was spotted from the air by pilot Kent Wilson of Rifle.

Beckman, a ranch foreman and father of five, was canoeing with Robert Elliott, 25, of Glenwood Springs, just across from the Hank Williams Ranch, where he worked.

Witnesses said Beckman tried to help Elliott, who could not swim. Elliott made it to shore, but Beckman disappeared in the turbulent waters.

Colorado Bike Rider Gets To Kansas City

Grimes said it took him about one week to cycle from Denver.

"I got caught in a few storms," he said, "but my things dried out quickly."

Hopping aboard his 10-gear racing bicycle, Grimes planned to arrive in Kansas City Fri-

Fiery Mt. Etna Continues Its Eruptions

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Mt. Etna rumbled, thundered and hurled incandescent clouds of volcanic ash 3,000 feet into the air today on the fourth day of a new eruption.

Explosions came from the two mile high central cone. The observatory at Acereale, at the foot of the volcano, said the eruptions were accompanied by three sharp earth shocks.

Bunker Retires; Stout New Speidel Newspapers Head

Stout succeeds Harry S. Bunker of Colorado Springs, Speidel president since 1957. Charles G. Murray, also of Reno, succeeds Stout as vice president of Speidel and publisher of the Reno Evening Gazette and Nevada State Journal.

Bunker, who has been in the newspaper business for 40 years, is retiring from active management of the Speidel group but will continue in an advisory capacity as chairman of the executive committee of the board of directors.

Other officers are John Ben Snow, chairman of the board; William H. Leopard, vice president in charge of the Sioux Falls Division; Gerald C. Bean, secretary treasurer; and Beryl Eaton, assistant secretary.

Bunker, a native of Denver and a graduate of the State University of Iowa, was the second president of Speidel, having succeeded Merritt C. Speidel, now deceased. Snow and Speidel founded the newspaper group in 1935. Bunker had been secretary - treasurer, vice president and general manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunker live at 1715 Alamo Ave. He is a director of the First National Bank of Colorado Springs and a member of the advisory board of Junior Achievement. He has served as campaign manager and a member of the board of the Pikes Peak Chapter of American Red Cross and as a vestryman of Grace Episcopal Church.

Bunker is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and for six years was a director of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Snow, Bunker and Miss Eaton will continue to live in Colorado Springs and maintain personal offices in the Mining Exchange Building.

Bean, who has been associated with Speidel since 1947 as chief accountant, is moving his office and departmental personnel to Reno late in June. Others involved in the transfer are F. Clinton Howard, Jr., John K. Koll, Earl E. Criddle, Mary Jane Webert, Barbara Grindinger, Mrs. Ann Peel and Mrs. Barbara O. Connelly.

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP) — Two state policemen were shot and wounded and two others captured and handcuffed to a tree for a brief period Sunday by three men who were stopped on the Pennsylvania Turnpike for a routine radar speed check.

The three, all from Milwaukee, Wis., were arrested by police several hours later after a massive manhunt with bloodhounds and helicopters. State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy directed some 100 men in the hunt.

Three From Springs Killed In Crash South of Denver

The Arapahoe County District Attorney said he planned to file manslaughter charges in connection with a spectacular automobile accident Saturday which claimed the lives of three members of a Colorado Springs family and sent a fourth to the hospital.

District Attorney Martin Miller said he and the Colorado State Patrol were awaiting results of a blood-alcohol test of Mrs. Stella Sawyer, 54, of Denver, one of the drivers in the accident.

Dead were Albert Croskell, 49, his daughter, Deborah, 14, and a son, Martin, 17. Croskell's widow, Edith Lucille, 40, was critically injured.

The State Patrol said Mrs. Sawyer and her husband, James Sawyer, 54, were seen driving erratically in separate cars in the southbound lanes on the highway. A patrolman gave chase, but before he could catch them the cars sideswiped.

The impact sent Sawyer's car tumbling end-over-end across the median strip and onto the top of the Croskell car. Two other cars behind rammed into the wreckage of the first two autos. Sawyer was critically injured.

Croskell was a retired Air Force sergeant major and was employed as the civilian manager of the Air Force Academy credit union. The family was on their way to a Denver airport to fly to Boston for a credit union convention when the tragedy occurred.

Seven other persons died in accidents in Colorado over the weekend bringing the 1964 highway death toll to 211, exceeding by one the record count set by motorists last year.

Others killed Saturday and early Sunday were Hiroshi Shimuizu, 26, a University of Colorado exchange student from Japan; Jerry Lee Coronado, 13, Denver; Lynn M. Baldry, 18 of Lakewood; Prentice C. Steele, 41, Castle Rock; Oscar Black, 63, Denver; Anna Rosina Wilson, 31, La Junta, and James W. Ginn, 55, of Santa Fe, N. M.

Scranton Opens Six-State Drive For Delegates

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton today opened a six-state quest for delegate support in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania's chief executive pointed his campaign westward into regions generally claimed by his No. 1 opponent, U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Scranton, after making a commencement address at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., was to go to Des Moines, Iowa, to confer with the Iowa delegation to the national convention.

Tuesday he will be at Topeka, Kan., and Minneapolis, Minn. Wednesday, he goes to St. Louis, Mo., and Denver, Colo., and on Saturday he is booked to keynote the Massachusetts GOP convention. Aides said there was a possibility other states would be included on the week's tour.

Scranton said he would speak every day this week, unless the work of the Pennsylvania Legislature prevents it.

He has admitted he started late in the campaign and has a long, uphill fight. But, he has said, "I am a good, hard, fast runner."

Scranton's aides contend the Pennsylvanian has more than 105 delegates, but they are banking on strong second ballot support at the San Francisco convention to put Scranton into the top spot.

Goldwater presently holds a long lead in delegate strength, with 619 votes, according to the latest Associated Press poll. This is only 36 short of the number needed for nomination.

The Associated Press poll gives Scranton 113, compared to 127 for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, the No. 2 man in the delegate race.

They also like some kinds of music better than others.

They grow better when they're listening to it.

They like Lily Pons' operatic coloratura quite well.

They don't care quite as much for symphonic works.

What they really like the most though, is the Beatles.

Radishes simply go wild over the Beatles.

Her father, Stefan Boshkov, associate professor of mining engineering, was inclined to laugh off the experiment. But he didn't laugh about having to listen to Beatle music around the house day after day.

Here is what she did:

She planted four large trays with radish seeds last December and kept the trays near a sunny window inside the house. They all grew in the same type soil and got the same amounts of water and sunshine.

However, when the plants had grown about three quarters of an inch above the soil, Lynn started playing music to three of the trays.

Each in turn would be placed on the living room floor in front of the phonograph loudspeaker and get 45 minutes daily of Beatles, Pons or Dvorak's "New World Symphony." The fourth

Carson Man Held in Probe Of Wife's Death

A Ft. Carson man, Sgt. Richard Olon Gooch, 38, 715 Main St. is being held in County Jail for investigation of the murder of his wife, Gloria Dean Gooch, 32, the sheriff's office reported this morning.

According to Deputy Sheriff Woodrow Littrell, the sheriff's department received a call from Gooch Saturday afternoon saying his wife had shot herself. Littrell went to the scene and found Mrs. Gooch dead on the bed. A .38 caliber revolver was by her side and there was a bullet wound on her chest.

Dr. R. Urich examined the body which was later removed to Our Chapel of Memories. Investigation showed the wound could not have been self-inflicted and Gooch was arrested on suspicion of murder Saturday evening.

District Attorney Pat Hinton said this morning that all the circumstances at present indicated first degree murder and added that such a charge would be filed against Gooch in District Court late today or early Tuesday.

Nuclear Sub Damaged by Mystery Fire

A spokesman for Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. said it was too soon to determine the extent of the damage to the $40-million submarine from the fire late Saturday night.

The Haddock, sister ship of the ill-fated Thresher, is in the advanced stages of construction. However, none of the nuclear equipment had been installed.

Street Marching By Whites Ends In St. Augustine

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Street marching by white segregationists apparently was over today, at least temporarily. It was uncertain whether Negroes would resume marching tonight.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which is directing the integration drive in the nation's oldest city, said former baseball star Jackie Robinson would join the campaign today.

Busloads of supporters also were expected from several cities, including Albany, Ga., the SCLC office said.

Sunday night, white segregationists marched for the third night in a row but they walked only five blocks in the downtown area. In two previous marches, white demonstrators had walked through a Negro section.

The crowd again met in a park before the march. J. B. Stoner, Ku Klux Klan attorney from Atlanta, told the rally that unless out-of-town Negro leaders pulled out, a fire-your-Negro campaign would begin.

Stoner said there would be no march tonight by the segregationist group.

The SCLC office said more sit-in attempts were planned and there might be a march by Negroes tonight.

Thirty-six Negroes and a white man were arrested Sunday for trying to integrate a restaurant and two churches. This brought to 127 the number of arrests since last Thursday when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was jailed for refusing to leave a motel restaurant. King was released Saturday on bond but said he would return by Tuesday.

Strollers Watch Racial Fighting On Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men, who knocked down two Negroes for allegedly molesting their wives as they walked along brightly lighted Broadway Sunday night, were mobbed and beaten by eight Negroes minutes later. Dozens of strollers watched.

As the two men's wives screamed for help, one bystander did call police.

The victims were Michael Massa, 30, and his wife, Ann, 27, and Edward Costa, 38, and his wife, Margaret, 30, all of Brooklyn.

Police gave this account:

Today is the Massa's 11th wedding anniversary. They had a late dinner with their friends and the foursome was strolling on Broadway between 51st and 52nd Streets, headed for a night club, when two men made obscene remarks to the women, but were ignored.

Then the pair put their hands on the women. Costa and Massa knocked the men down. The Negroes fled to a lunchroom on Broadway near 52nd Street.

The couples then headed down Broadway.

In the lunchroom, a witness told police, the Negroes turned to patrons and said: "Come on. Let's get those guys, they roughed us up."

At 49th Street, eight men jumped Costa and Massa, throwing them to the sidewalk and kicking them about the body and face.

One of the attackers turned to the crowd and said: "Don't any-

Goldwater Nears Total For Win on First Ballot

Lodge Says He Does Not Plan To Resign Now

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge today termed "totally untrue" a Washington report that he was resigning within 30 days.

"There is no truth at all in that," Lodge said through a spokesman.

Lodge repeatedly has denied similar reports in the past.

On one recent occasion he said, "I am not resigning but I don't plan to stay here the rest of my life, either."

The New York Times had reported that Lodge had asked to be relieved within 30 days for reasons of health. The White House in Washington said President Johnson had received no letter of resignation.

The Columbia Broadcasting System reported from Saigon that Lodge said the report he had submitted his resignation was "totally untrue."

The American Broadcasting Co. said Lodge, talking Sunday night in Saigon with ABC correspondent Charles P. Arnot, denied published reports that he was returning to the United States before the Republican National Convention. Lodge made no mention in the taped interview about resigning, an ABC spokesman said.

Father of Five Drowns in Colorado River

GRAND VALLEY, Colo. (UPI)—The body of Bernard J. (Buzz) Beckman, 29, was recovered Sunday from the roiling waters of the Colorado River, where he drowned May 31 in a canoe accident.

Beckman's body was spotted from the air by pilot Kent Wilson of Rifle.

Beckman, a ranch foreman and father of five, was canoeing with Robert Elliott, 25, of Glenwood Springs, just across from the Hank Williams Ranch, where he worked.

Witnesses said Beckman tried to help Elliott, who could not swim. Elliott made it to shore, but Beckman disappeared in the turbulent waters.

Colorado Bike Rider Gets To Kansas City

Grimes said it took him about one week to cycle from Denver.

"I got caught in a few storms," he said, "but my things dried out quickly."

Fiery Mt. Etna Continues Its Eruptions

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Mt. Etna rumbled, thundered and hurled incandescent clouds of volcanic ash 3,000 feet into the air today on the fourth day of a new eruption.

Explosions came from the two mile high central cone. The observatory at Acereale, at the foot of the volcano, said the eruptions were accompanied by three sharp earth shocks.

Bunker Retires; Stout New Speidel Newspapers Head

Stout succeeds Harry S. Bunker of Colorado Springs, Speidel president since 1957. Charles G. Murray, also of Reno, succeeds Stout as vice president of Speidel and publisher of the Reno Evening Gazette and Nevada State Journal.

Bunker, who has been in the newspaper business for 40 years, is retiring from active management of the Speidel group but will continue in an advisory capacity as chairman of the executive committee of the board of directors.

Other officers are John Ben Snow, chairman of the board; William H. Leopard, vice president in charge of the Sioux Falls Division; Gerald C. Bean, secretary treasurer; and Beryl Eaton, assistant secretary.

Bunker, a native of Denver and a graduate of the State University of Iowa, was the second president of Speidel, having succeeded Merritt C. Speidel, now deceased. Snow and Speidel founded the newspaper group in 1935. Bunker had been secretary - treasurer, vice president and general manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunker live at 1715 Alamo Ave. He is a director of the First National Bank of Colorado Springs and a member of the advisory board of Junior Achievement. He has served as campaign manager and a member of the board of the Pikes Peak Chapter of American Red Cross and as a vestryman of Grace Episcopal Church.

Bunker is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and for six years was a director of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Snow, Bunker and Miss Eaton will continue to live in Colorado Springs and maintain personal offices in the Mining Exchange Building.

Bean, who has been associated with Speidel since 1947 as chief accountant, is moving his office and departmental personnel to Reno late in June. Others involved in the transfer are F. Clinton Howard, Jr., John K. Koll, Earl E. Criddle, Mary Jane Webert, Barbara Grindinger, Mrs. Ann Peel and Mrs. Barbara O. Connelly.

Two Cops Shot, Two Handcuffed By Young Gunmen

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP) — Two state policemen were shot and wounded and two others captured and handcuffed to a tree for a brief period Sunday by three men who were stopped on the Pennsylvania Turnpike for a routine radar speed check.

The three, all from Milwaukee, Wis., were arrested by police several hours later after a massive manhunt with bloodhounds and helicopters. State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy directed some 100 men in the hunt.

Three From Springs Killed In Crash South of Denver

The Arapahoe County District Attorney said he planned to file manslaughter charges in connection with a spectacular automobile accident Saturday which claimed the lives of three members of a Colorado Springs family and sent a fourth to the hospital.

District Attorney Martin Miller said he and the Colorado State Patrol were awaiting results of a blood-alcohol test of Mrs. Stella Sawyer, 54, of Denver, one of the drivers in the accident.

Dead were Albert Croskell, 49, his daughter, Deborah, 14, and a son, Martin, 17. Croskell's widow, Edith Lucille, 40, was critically injured.

The accident happened on the Valley Highway just south of the Denver City limits.

The State Patrol said Mrs. Sawyer and her husband, James Sawyer, 54, were seen driving erratically in separate cars in the southbound lanes on the highway. A patrolman gave chase, but before he could catch them the cars sideswiped.

The impact sent Sawyer's car tumbling end-over-end across the median strip and onto the top of the Croskell car. Two other cars behind rammed into the wreckage of the first two autos. Sawyer was critically injured.

Croskell was a retired Air Force sergeant major and was employed as the civilian manager of the Air Force Academy credit union. The family was on their way to a Denver airport to fly to Boston for a credit union convention when the tragedy occurred.

Seven other persons died in accidents in Colorado over the weekend bringing the 1964 highway death toll to 211, exceeding by one the record count set by motorists last year.

Others killed Saturday and early Sunday were Hiroshi Shimuizu, 26, a University of Colorado exchange student from Japan; Jerry Lee Coronado, 13, Denver; Lynn M. Baldry, 18 of Lakewood; Prentice C. Steele, 41, Castle Rock; Oscar Black, 63, Denver; Anna Rosina Wilson, 31, La Junta, and James W. Ginn, 55, of Santa Fe, N. M.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater is expected to corral 56 delegate votes in Texas Tuesday and, by current count, push past the magic total needed to win the Republican presidential nomination.

But not all of this first ballot strength is irrevocably bound to the Arizona senator, and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania will be hopscotching the country this week, trying to pick off some of the delegates now in the senator's column.

Since Scranton launched his drive for the nomination last Friday, however, he has gained little more than a score of votes—and only one of the delegates who lined up behind the governor was for Goldwater earlier.

The senator's total meanwhile ballooned to 619 by Associated Press tally. He needs 655 for nomination and is favored to win all of the 56 votes to be designated in Texas and most if not all of the 14 to be assigned in Montana Friday and Saturday.

Those two conventions wind up the delegate selection process for the Republican National Convention opening July 13 in San Francisco.

Scranton Opens Six-State Drive For Delegates

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton today opened a six-state quest for delegate support in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania's chief executive pointed his campaign westward into regions generally claimed by his No. 1 opponent, U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Scranton, after making a commencement address at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., was to go to Des Moines, Iowa, to confer with the Iowa delegation to the national convention.

Tuesday he will be at Topeka, Kan., and Minneapolis, Minn. Wednesday, he goes to St. Louis, Mo., and Denver, Colo., and on Saturday he is booked to keynote the Massachusetts GOP convention. Aides said there was a possibility other states would be included on the week's tour.

Scranton said he would speak every day this week, unless the work of the Pennsylvania Legislature prevents it.

He has admitted he started late in the campaign and has a long, uphill fight. But, he has said, "I am a good, hard, fast runner."

Scranton's aides contend the Pennsylvanian has more than 105 delegates, but they are banking on strong second ballot support at the San Francisco convention to put Scranton into the top spot.

Goldwater presently holds a long lead in delegate strength, with 619 votes, according to the latest Associated Press poll. This is only 36 short of the number needed for nomination.

Canada Opens Its Debate on National Flag

By FRED COLEMAN

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian House of Commons opens debate today on Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's proposal to give Canada its first official flag. Preliminary polls indicate Pearson can count on a slim majority for approval.

Pearson has staked his minority Liberal government on the emotion-charged issue. He has warned that if he is defeated, he may resign and force another national election.

The hotly debated "Pearson pennant," which the prime minister selected from more than 3,000 designs, is white with three red maple leaves in the center joined to a single stem. Narrow blue vertical bars at each end symbolize Canada's motto, "From Sea to Sea."

The resolution before Parliament would establish this as Canada's national flag and retain the British Union Jack as a symbol of Canada's allegiance to the Commonwealth.

The resolution makes no mention of the Canadian Red Ensign, Canada's semi-official flag, that contains a miniature Union Jack in one corner and the shield of the Canadian coat of arms in another.

English Canadians, the dominant ethnic group in the country, tend to favor the ensign as a national flag. French-Canadians, who form about one-third of Canada's population, view both the Union Jack and the ensign which incorporates it as hated symbols of Britain's 18th century conquest of French Canada.

Friction between French and English-Canadians on political, economic and social issues has threatened to split Quebec from the rest of the nation. Pearson hopes a national flag will help forge a new sense of Canadian unity. However, many English-Canadians view the maple leaf design as a sellout to Quebec.

Canada has lacked a distinctive official flag in the 97 years since it was united, although political parties have often given lip service to the search for an acceptable design.

On taking office 14 months ago Pearson pledged to propose a national flag within two years. His Cabinet later estimated that 65 per cent of the Canadian people want a distinctive national flag.

Pearson announced he was choosing a design in Winnipeg May 17 to a booing convention of the Canadian Legion. Members of Parliament and newspapers across the country have been flooded with thousands of letters pro and con.

The Liberals hold 127 seats in Commons, six short of a majority in the 265 - seat House. Preliminary polls indicate between 135 and 138 members favor Pearson's proposal.

Suburbs of the 15 largest metropolitan areas grew three times as fast as the central cities between 1960 and 1962, according to the Census Bureau.

Zoo Animals Are No Bargain, He Says

PASCO, Wash. (AP) — The erstwhile Pasco Zoo Friday auctioned off its stock at bargain prices. But for Carl Zaskel, Spokane, Wash., who bid successfully on two peacocks and a pair of chipmunks, it was no bargain.

His trouble came this weekend when he went to pick up his purchases. He couldn't catch the peacocks and one of his chipmunks died. To top it off, his car broke down and he couldn't get out of town.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D.,Ph.D.

Notice Gerald White's statement, for it indicates the attitude of an intelligent thinker. Newspapers try to produce debate and an impartial scientific outlook. But many people's criticisms develop because their own pet "corns" have been stepped on. Then they "rationalize" to hide their underlying motive.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE S-491: Gerald White, of Indianapolis, has the viewpoint of a true scientist.

"I have disagreed violently with Dr. Crane and some of his colleagues, he recently wrote to the STAR.

"But Dr. Crane has enlarged my thinking ability and enriched my life.

His letter to the STAR was prompted by some previous violent criticisms of ideas advanced in this column.

For I purposely prod readers into dissecting many parroted notions which many folks uncritically accept.

"Dr. Crane," many readers will smilingly admit when I meet them following public lectures in their cities, "I follow your column every day but I don't always agree with you!"

To which I invariably reply: "Splendid! That's why I write my column, for without differences of opinion, we'd never thresh out the true facts."

Then I cite the famous remark of William Wrigley, Jr., who said:

Every successful teacher, advertiser or speaker soon learns that there is tremendous "audience inertia."

If you wish to move the mass of mankind even to the halfway point, then you as the teacher, writer, actor or salesman, must overact.

You must dramatize and occasionally inject emotional adjectives that prod the lethargic public into activity, even though you anger them!

It is a standard rule of the stage that an actor or actress must use excessive cosmetic aids in order to appear normally pink-cheeked even halfway back in the theater.

For an audience doesn't respond as fast or as far as the leader!

Many astute editors thus urge us columnists to spur readers into waking up and taking sides.

Then they print the resulting irate letters, which make superbly interesting reading.

Frank Gannett used to urge me to incite readers and so has John S. Knight.

Dowing in Bloomington and Bedford, Indiana, courageous Stuart Riley probably gets as much "mileage" out of the letters from readers as any publisher in America.

For he operates both newspapers and never lets irate threats intimidate him an iota!

Obviously, I taunt many soporific professors, so in the usual college towns, my critics are doubled.

For I take definite stands that are psychologically sound but not always financially prudent.

Thus, I indict the attempt to stampede our teen-agers via cigaret and liquor advertising.

And I laud "free enterprise" as well as sound budgeting, not only by housewives but by Uncle Sam, though professional welfarists then attack me violently!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Five Revenue Agents Named in Damage Suit

DENVER (AP)—Five agents of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service were named in a $100,000 damage suit filed in Fremont County Court, two Canon City uranium prospectors disclosed here.

Elmer J. Smaller and John Fontecchio, testifying at the tax evasion trial of John J. Gibbons, said the trial has obstructed development of their properties.

Gibbons, a Denver lawyer, successfully defended Smaller and Fontecchio in a 1957 income tax case in which a $22,000 claim against them was dismissed.

As a result of that trial, Gibbons claims the federal revenue agents—the five sued by Smaller and Fontecchio—had "a personal vendetta" against him.

Gibbons is accused of evading income in 1957, 1959 and 1960.

The five agents sued in Canon City are Thomas Fontecchio, brother of the uranium prospector; George Bodley, chief of the IRS intelligence office in Denver, Paul W. Grimes, Russell Olson and James Leach.

Color-Blind Hiring Preference Reported

NEW YORK (AP)—Direct action demonstrations are helping rather than harming the civil rights movement, say business, education, labor and government leaders.

Results of a survey, released Sunday by Freedom House, a research and educational organization, also showed 3-to-1 backing for "color blind" hiring policies instead of giving preference to Negroes.

Another conclusion reached, the report said, is that the civil rights drive will demand radical changes in the American way of life and will benefit the United States.

The organization said it polled 1,100 leaders in their respective fields as well as 2,800 of its own members.

Two Women Found Dead in Automobile

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — While they slept in a station wagon with the windows closed, a Denver area woman and her house guest from Texas died of apparent asphyxiation.

The bodies of Mrs. Kay Garinger, 46, of 5980 W. 11th Ave., Edgewater, Colo., and Grace L. Storms, 41, McAllen, Tex., were found Friday.

Mrs. Garinger's car, in which they had left her home Monday on a two-day outing, was found on the east shore of Twin Lakes, 18 miles south of Leadville.

Soldiers camping in the area found the bodies. Coroner Andrew Cassidy said the women apparently died early Tuesday after a charcoal burner stove had used up their oxygen.

Scranton Opens Six-State Drive For Delegates

candidacy last Friday at the Maryland GOP convention in Baltimore, said, "The reaction has been fantastic." Appearing on the American Broadcasting Co. television program, "Issues and Answers," the governor said Sunday he has been buoyed by the response of Republicans throughout the nation.

He said he feels most of the delegates for Goldwater "are not completely committed to him" and he feels that through campaign speeches and person-to-person contacts with delegates to the national convention he can "pull back some delegates."

"There is a certain slippage of feeling for Goldwater," he said, claiming the Arizonan has only 250 delegates legally bound to him.

Many others are "changing their minds now that they have a choice," he added.

"I wouldn't be in it if I didn't think I could win," Scranton said.

Scranton's television appearance capped a hectic weekend in which he:

—Made a quick trip to Hartford, Conn., where he spoke before the state's Republican convention and returned with 12 of its 16 delegates pledged to him.

—Accepted a Columbia Broadcasting System network invitation for a two - hour television discussion with Rockefeller and Goldwater. Rockefeller also accepted but Goldwater declined and the program was called off.

—Met with two leaders of the national Draft Lodge for President Committee and was promised they would work for Scranton's nomination.

—Met with 40 volunteer workers who have been campaigning for the governor during the past month.

Paul D. Grindle, national director for Lodge, and David B. Greenberg, field director, said after the 20-minute conference with Scranton, "We came down here to offer all possible help."

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was described as delighted by the decision of the Lodge organization to support Scranton.

In the television interview, he said he had announced his candidacy because party moderates "were downhearted" after Goldwater's primary victory in California.

"I thought it would be most unfortunate," he said, "that the Republican party would not have a candidate for the moderate cause. I had hoped that someone else would do this because I have no personal ambition to be president," Scranton said.

Two Cops Shot, Two Handcuffed By Young Gunmen

James Eugene Szulczewski, 21, were charged with assault with intent to kill, pointing a deadly weapon, and aggravated assault and battery against a police officer.

They were committed to Lancaster County prison, awaiting a hearing. Lt. Rufus Williams said additional charges will be filed.

The wounded troopers are Edward Herbst, 35, of Reamstown, Pa., and Fred W. Bendl, 22, of Nazareth, Pa. Herbst was shot in the face and neck and was reported in serious condition at Ephrata General Hospital. Bendl, who was shot in the leg, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Police theorized that the trio shot at the troopers because they were in a stolen car and because they may have thought they were going to be picked up for other crimes in Milwaukee.

Unhurt were troopers Robert Malarky and Stanley Sypeck. They had been handcuffed to a tree with their own handcuffs, but freed themselves just as the gunfight broke out on the side of the turnpike.

Canon City Youth Awarded Scholarship

David R. Lester, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Lester, 728 Cottonwood Ave., Canon City, has been awarded an Ideal Cement Co. scholarship for an eight-week Frontiers of Science Institute at Colorado State College.

A school official said that "Lester is considered one of the finest science students to attend Canon City High School. He is extremely interested in science and has his own laboratory in his parent's home."

Huge 'Robot Slave' for Man Is Being Developed

of radioactive equipment.

"Compared with the versatility of man,," Mosher said, "the things that a machine can be programmed to do are extremely limited.

"For example, it would be impractical, if not completely impossible, to construct such a machine that would be versatile enough by itself to make its way through sand, mud, strewn rocks, swamp or forest—and to do this without knowing what was coming up next.

"But a man can do this, and if you join man and machine, using the best capabilities of each — the man's brain and nervous system and the machine's great strength — then the machine can do it too."

Goldwater	619
Nelson A. Rockefeller	127
Scranton	113
Henry Cabot Lodge	46
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	13
Favorite sons	93
Uncommitted	212

Scranton and Pennsylvania State Chairman Craig C. Truax claim that only 250 of Goldwater's votes are from legally bound delegates. "There is a certain slippage of feeling for Goldwater," Scranton said.

Replies to a spot check of delegates following Scranton's announcement showed no headlong rush away from Goldwater, however.

He lost one delegate in Georgia who now claims to be uncommitted. One Goldwater supporter in Pennsylvania said he is now backing Scranton.

Balanced against this, Goldwater picked up support from 14 previously uncommitted delegates—two in Missouri, three in Florida, eight in Kentucky and one in West Virginia.

There also were a few shifts from previously uncommitted delegates to Scranton's banner, notably four in North Dakota.

Goldwater backers across the nation contended the senator's delegates would stand fast.

Typical was Jack Toevs of Seattle, who said of the Washington delegation: "We will have 22 absolutely solid and probably all 24, they still have to come back and live in this state."

The weekend conventions went about as expected. Goldwater gained support ranging from solid to unanimous at state conventions in Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Virginia and Missouri. He picked off four of Connecticut's 16 and five of Maryland's 20. Scranton appeared before both conventions, winning 12 in Connecticut and four in Maryland.

Only in Minnesota, where forces favoring an uncommitted stand were victorious, did Goldwater fail to win support. Even there he has eight previously elected district delegates.

Vacation Drivers Can Insure Safe Return Home

Speed: Don't try to cover too much territory in too short a time.

Alcohol: People on vacation are likely to be in a holiday mood and frequently their pursuit of a good time includes drinking. Unfortunately, too many of them don't realize the danger of driving after drinking.

Vehicle Condition: A car with worn tires, inefficient brakes, or any other mechanical shortcoming can bring about a serious accident.

Weather: Failure to adapt their driving to weather conditions, when it is rainy, snowy or foggy, brings grief to many vacation drivers.

"Don't turn your vacation dream into a nightmare," Chief Carrel urges. "Let safety guide you all the way along your highway holiday. Drive to arrive alive!"

Man, 46, Held After Shooting Here Sunday

A 46-year old man was in police custody this morning for shooting two men with a .32 caliber revolver Sunday afternoon.

Police identified the man as Joseph Echols, 719 E. Rio Grande St. Echols told officers he got into an argument with the two men in his kitchen and accidentally shot Eddie Lee Rucker, 42, of 606 N. Spruce St., in the chest while meaning to shoot Theodore Williams (no age or address given).

Radishes Thrive on Beatle Music, Student Declares

tray of radishes got no music.

Lynn wound up the experiment a few days ago when the radishes had reached maturity. She made precise measurements as to leaf and root growth, as well as the size of the eatable part of the radish.

She calculated the different rates of growth in percentages, using the radishes which had not been entertained as a basis of 100 per cent. The others came out in this fashion:

Weight of foliage above ground: Radishes which listened to The Beatles, 247 per cent; radishes in the Lily Pons audience, 224 per cent; radishes treated to the "New World Symphony," 168 per cent.

Weight of radish and root: Beatle-lovers, 322 per cent; the Pons group, 128 per cent; the Dvorak division, 100 per cent—they didn't dig Dvorak below ground.

Number of leaves above ground Beatles, 142.5 per cent; Pons, 118 per cent; Dvorak, 105 per cent.

Said Professor Boshkov: "I was betting on Lily Pons and hoping that the Beatle radishes would turn out with scrawny leaves and crooked roots."

Said Lynn: "I bet on the Beatles. I was with them all the way."

Said Lynn's mother: "I spent a lot of time cleaning mud splatters off the wall and the living room rug."

Said Charles D. Heath, Lynn's high school biology teacher: "My sympathies to Professor Boshkov, for having had to listen to all that Beatle music."

Scranton Opens Six-State Drive For Delegates

candidacy last Friday at the Maryland GOP convention in Baltimore, said, "The reaction has been fantastic." Appearing on the American Broadcasting Co. television program, "Issues and Answers," the governor said Sunday he has been buoyed by the response of Republicans throughout the nation.

He said he feels most of the delegates for Goldwater "are not completely committed to him" and he feels that through campaign speeches and person-to-person contacts with delegates to the national convention he can "pull back some delegates."

"There is a certain slippage of feeling for Goldwater," he said, claiming the Arizonan has only 250 delegates legally bound to him.

Many others are "changing their minds now that they have a choice," he added.

"I wouldn't be in it if I didn't think I could win," Scranton said.

Scranton's television appearance capped a hectic weekend in which he:

—Made a quick trip to Hartford, Conn., where he spoke before the state's Republican convention and returned with 12 of its 16 delegates pledged to him.

—Accepted a Columbia Broadcasting System network invitation for a two - hour television discussion with Rockefeller and Goldwater. Rockefeller also accepted but Goldwater declined and the program was called off.

—Met with two leaders of the national Draft Lodge for President Committee and was promised they would work for Scranton's nomination.

—Met with 40 volunteer workers who have been campaigning for the governor during the past month.

Paul D. Grindle, national director for Lodge, and David B. Greenberg, field director, said after the 20-minute conference with Scranton, "We came down here to offer all possible help."

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was described as delighted by the decision of the Lodge organization to support Scranton.

In the television interview, he said he had announced his candidacy because party moderates "were downhearted" after Goldwater's primary victory in California.

"I thought it would be most unfortunate," he said, "that the Republican party would not have a candidate for the moderate cause. I had hoped that someone else would do this because I have no personal ambition to be president," Scranton said.

Two Cops Shot, Two Handcuffed By Young Gunmen

James Eugene Szulczewski, 21, were charged with assault with intent to kill, pointing a deadly weapon, and aggravated assault and battery against a police officer.

They were committed to Lancaster County prison, awaiting a hearing. Lt. Rufus Williams said additional charges will be filed.

The wounded troopers are Edward Herbst, 35, of Reamstown, Pa., and Fred W. Bendl, 22, of Nazareth, Pa. Herbst was shot in the face and neck and was reported in serious condition at Ephrata General Hospital. Bendl, who was shot in the leg, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Police theorized that the trio shot at the troopers because they were in a stolen car and because they may have thought they were going to be picked up for other crimes in Milwaukee.

Unhurt were troopers Robert Malarky and Stanley Sypeck. They had been handcuffed to a tree with their own handcuffs, but freed themselves just as the gunfight broke out on the side of the turnpike.

of radioactive equipment.

"Compared with the versatility of man,," Mosher said, "the things that a machine can be programmed to do are extremely limited.

"For example, it would be impractical, if not completely impossible, to construct such a machine that would be versatile enough by itself to make its way through sand, mud, strewn rocks, swamp or forest—and to do this without knowing what was coming up next.

"But a man can do this, and if you join man and machine, using the best capabilities of each — the man's brain and nervous system and the machine's great strength — then the machine can do it too."

Goldwater	619
Nelson A. Rockefeller	127
Scranton	113
Henry Cabot Lodge	46
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	13
Favorite sons	93
Uncommitted	212

Scranton and Pennsylvania State Chairman Craig C. Truax claim that only 250 of Goldwater's votes are from legally bound delegates. "There is a certain slippage of feeling for Goldwater," Scranton said.

Replies to a spot check of delegates following Scranton's announcement showed no headlong rush away from Goldwater, however.

He lost one delegate in Georgia who now claims to be uncommitted. One Goldwater supporter in Pennsylvania said he is now backing Scranton.

Balanced against this, Goldwater picked up support from 14 previously uncommitted delegates—two in Missouri, three in Florida, eight in Kentucky and one in West Virginia.

There also were a few shifts from previously uncommitted delegates to Scranton's banner, notably four in North Dakota.

Goldwater backers across the nation contended the senator's delegates would stand fast.

Typical was Jack Toevs of Seattle, who said of the Washington delegation: "We will have 22 absolutely solid and probably all 24, they still have to come back and live in this state."

The weekend conventions went about as expected. Goldwater gained support ranging from solid to unanimous at state conventions in Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Virginia and Missouri. He picked off four of Connecticut's 16 and five of Maryland's 20. Scranton appeared before both conventions, winning 12 in Connecticut and four in Maryland.

Only in Minnesota, where forces favoring an uncommitted stand were victorious, did Goldwater fail to win support. Even there he has eight previously elected district delegates.

Vacation Drivers Can Insure Safe Return Home

Speed: Don't try to cover too much territory in too short a time.

Alcohol: People on vacation are likely to be in a holiday mood and frequently their pursuit of a good time includes drinking. Unfortunately, too many of them don't realize the danger of driving after drinking.

Vehicle Condition: A car with worn tires, inefficient brakes, or any other mechanical shortcoming can bring about a serious accident.

Weather: Failure to adapt their driving to weather conditions, when it is rainy, snowy or foggy, brings grief to many vacation drivers.

"Don't turn your vacation dream into a nightmare," Chief Carrel urges. "Let safety guide you all the way along your highway holiday. Drive to arrive alive!"

Radishes Thrive on Beatle Music, Student Declares

tray of radishes got no music.

Lynn wound up the experiment a few days ago when the radishes had reached maturity. She made precise measurements as to leaf and root growth, as well as the size of the eatable part of the radish.

She calculated the different rates of growth in percentages, using the radishes which had not been entertained as a basis of 100 per cent. The others came out in this fashion:

Weight of foliage above ground: Radishes which listened to The Beatles, 247 per cent; radishes in the Lily Pons audience, 224 per cent; radishes treated to the "New World Symphony," 168 per cent.

Weight of radish and root: Beatle-lovers, 322 per cent; the Pons group, 128 per cent; the Dvorak division, 100 per cent—they didn't dig Dvorak below ground.

Number of leaves above ground Beatles, 142.5 per cent; Pons, 118 per cent; Dvorak, 105 per cent.

Said Professor Boshkov: "I was betting on Lily Pons and hoping that the Beatle radishes would turn out with scrawny leaves and crooked roots."

Said Lynn: "I bet on the Beatles. I was with them all the way."

Said Lynn's mother: "I spent a lot of time cleaning mud splatters off the wall and the living room rug."

Said Charles D. Heath, Lynn's high school biology teacher: "My sympathies to Professor Boshkov, for having had to listen to all that Beatle music."

Armed with extra clothing, a bedroll, a fishing pole and "not much money," Grimes hopes to travel to New Orleans, then up the east coast before going to New York.

"I'm sort of playing this by ear," he said, "but I hope to get a job on the river and work my way down to New Orleans. . . I've always wanted to go there."

On the trip from Colorado, Grimes said "everyone was interested . . . they were with me and thought it was a good thing what I am doing."

Kuchel 'Warned' He Must Support Sen. Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former Sen. William F. Knowland has warned Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel to support Sen. Barry Goldwater if Goldwater wins the Republican presidential nomination or face loss of future GOP support.

Knowland, chairman of Goldwater's California delegation to the Republican National Convention here next month, said Kuchel and other liberal or moderate Republicans would be under a "grave obligation" to support Goldwater if he gets the nomination.

Should Kuchel fail to back Goldwater Knowland said Sunday, he would lose any rights to claim GOP loyalty when he seeks re-election and would "dissolve any responsibility of him as the party whip."

Kuchel was chairman of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's unsuccessful attempt to win California's 86 Republican convention votes in the June 2 primary.

Kuchel said recently that he welcomed the entry into the Republican race of Gov. William W. Scranton but added that he thought the bid was late.

Knowland dismissed the Scranton campaign as a "super-duper publicity drive" that came "too late to do him any good."

Knowland talked to newsmen after a closed organizational meeting of the Goldwater delegation at which he was continued as chairman.

Monday, June 8, was a big day at Ramah Dam, when the dam was formally dedicated. There were 1120 dinners served at noon before they ran out of meat. The speaking was good. Henry Woodard of the Colorado Game and Fish Department gave the main address. Others who spoke that we know of were Earl Ratlief, William Moreland and Ted Flynn. A truckload of fish were dumped in the reservoir. Fishing was real good, and there were lots of people doing it.

Past Master and Mrs. Vernon Morris and daughter Karen attended a past masters convention to Estes Park for three days.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Blakie and children, of Pueblo, were guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Dudrick. Mrs. Blakie is the niece of Mr. Dudrick.

We are really proud of our new telephone directory, which has so many towns in it. Isn't it nice to be able to look up our numbers and get our calls through faster.

Mrs. Helena Bodhaine smashed a finger in a car door last week. The injury has been quite painful.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Englert and Mary Ann recently returned home from a motor trip to Iowa, where they visited Steve Englert and Mr. and Mrs. Thad Englert and children, Mark, Kathy, Lori and Lois.

Miss Elsie Jean Whyte, Tim Englert, Miss Karen Morris and no doubt others are home from college for their summer vacations.

G. J. Brimer of Goodland, Kan., who is road master on the Rock Island, and John Hendricks of Limon called at the Harold Clifford home Thursday afternoon.

Mr. James Neal returned home recently from Oklahoma, where she had been visiting and recuperating. We are glad to report that she is much better.

Mrs. Evelyn Hendricks, Mrs. Emmabelle Hartwell and Mrs. Lucy Stewart attended the missionary conference at Colorado Womans College in Denver Friday until Sunday. They each report a good convention and a wonderful time.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brecheisen, Scotty and Kenny, of Erie, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clifford and granddaughter Melody.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Starey were pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Steve Dudrick visit them Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Coonts and daughters Sherry and Susan, of Denver, spent the weekend at the Alvin Gordon home. They stopped and visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Isgar on their way home.

Prices Will Be Cut for World's Fair Amusement

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is still bogging down in the lake amusement area of the World's Fair, and plans are afoot for price-cutting, brighter lighting, daily raffles, parades and band concerts.

Thomas Deegan, chairman of the fair corporation's executive committee, acknowledged the slump Sunday. He attributed the fall-off to the "beautiful and free" foreign, state and industrial pavilions.

A $100,000 program for brighter lights in the area is under way, he said.

Prices now range from $1 to $4.80.

Deegan insisted the business drop "has absolutely nothing to do with the fact that we don't have undressed girls there."

"The pattern for our amusement area is that of the Tivoli in Copenhagen, which has been running successfully for 122 years without any undressed girls," said Deegan.

Monday, June 8, was a big day at Ramah Dam, when the dam was formally dedicated. There were 1120 dinners served at noon before they ran out of meat. The speaking was good. Henry Woodard of the Colorado Game and Fish Department gave the main address. Others who spoke that we know of were Earl Ratlief, William Moreland and Ted Flynn. A truckload of fish were dumped in the reservoir. Fishing was real good, and there were lots of people doing it.

Past Master and Mrs. Vernon Morris and daughter Karen attended a past masters convention to Estes Park for three days.

We are really proud of our new telephone directory, which has so many towns in it. Isn't it nice to be able to look up our numbers and get our calls through faster.

Mrs. Helena Bodhaine smashed a finger in a car door last week. The injury has been quite painful.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Englert and Mary Ann recently returned home from a motor trip to Iowa, where they visited Steve Englert and Mr. and Mrs. Thad Englert and children, Mark, Kathy, Lori and Lois.

Miss Elsie Jean Whyte, Tim Englert, Miss Karen Morris and no doubt others are home from college for their summer vacations.

G. J. Brimer of Goodland, Kan., who is road master on the Rock Island, and John Hendricks of Limon called at the Harold Clifford home Thursday afternoon.

Prices Will Be Cut for World's Fair Amusement

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is still bogging down in the lake amusement area of the World's Fair, and plans are afoot for price-cutting, brighter lighting, daily raffles, parades and band concerts.

Thomas Deegan, chairman of the fair corporation's executive committee, acknowledged the slump Sunday. He attributed the fall-off to the "beautiful and free" foreign, state and industrial pavilions.

A $100,000 program for brighter lights in the area is under way, he said.

Prices now range from $1 to $4.80.

Deegan insisted the business drop "has absolutely nothing to do with the fact that we don't have undressed girls there."

"The pattern for our amusement area is that of the Tivoli in Copenhagen, which has been running successfully for 122 years without any undressed girls," said Deegan.

Great Books Group Meets Wednesday

The Wednesday evening Great Books group will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. in Mrs. Reid's office at the public library, 21 W. Kiowa St., for a discussion of E. M. Forster's "A Passage to India."

Ethel Zinn will conduct the questioning in a manner to bring out the values of this novel which is said to be one of the four best novels of the Twentieth Century.

The group, now completing its eleventh year, is under the sponsorship of the public library and open to the participation of anyone who wishes to sit in on the discussion of the text on any single occasion or for the series. The summer reading will be a novel each month, with Stendhal's "The Charterhouse of Perma" for the August selection. In September the twice-monthly meetings will be resumed on the second and fourth Wednesday evenings of each month, and the winter's list of readings will be made up by members of the group to compare with the selections usually listed by the Great Books Foundation of Chicago.

The techniques for group discussion also are those recommented by the Great Books Foundations, with questions on the assignment prepared on three levels, to bring out the exact statements of the author, the meanings as interpreted by the readers, and the applications of these meanings to present-day living. "A Passage to India" is expected to bring out valuable applications to problems of that area of the world today. Further information about participation will be given to anyone who wishes to call Myrtle Allen, 635-8540, Margaret Gibson, 633-3397, or other regular members of the Great Books group.

Lottery Date Leads To Marriage Vows

LONDON (AP)—John Butler, 27, is honeymooning today with the girl he won in a 5-cent lottery.

The prize was a blind date with any member of the college's netball team. Butler won, and chose Jill Teague, now 20.

One date followed another. They were married over the weekend.

Said Jill's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Teague: "People thought the lottery was in bad taste and I must admit I thought it a bit funny. But the outcome could not have been happier. They are ideally suited."

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

We have a redwood picnic table in our patio which we eat on almost nightly. As the patio is concrete we have found that ants sometimes like to eat with us!

My wife hit upon the idea of tying a piece of cloth around the bottom of each table leg and saturating it with insect repellent. This has been our answer. Have you got a better one?

Luther

I think your wife's got a great idea.

I have heard of people filling tin cans with water and setting each table leg in the cans of water before a picnic. I have actually seen this done and it does the work.

However, I am of the opinion that it might eventually rot the table. Try taking tuna fish cans, washing them out, drying them thoroughly and setting them under each of your table legs. Then ... fill them full of oil! Any kind of oil.

An ant cannot possibly skim or crawl upon oil. We did this once in our yard. Our table sat upon grass and it worked like a charm.

We also found that during mosquito season we could pour oil of citronella (bought at your drug store) in each can and the mosquitoes wouldn't come near us. Use only a teaspoon or so of oil of citronella in each can. How about that?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

During hot, humid weather when your cellophane tape becomes sticky and useless, keep it in the refrigerator.

This makes it easy to separate and it's ready to use when you need it.

Barbara Grindstaff

Dear Heloise:

When serving butter for corn on the cob, here is a little trick that simply cannot be beat:

Cut pieces of your famous nylon net (about a four-inch-square), or big enough to hold two pats of butter. Place the butter in the center of the net and close it into a little sack, fastening the net around the butter with the little pieces of wire that come on vegetable bags, or small rubber bands, (much as you might wrap a popcorn ball), leaving a little tail of the nylon net.

Each diner has his individual butter sack to rub over an ear of corn, buttering as large or small an area as he chooses. The heat from the corn melts the butter on contact but leaves the remaining butter solid and under control in the little sack.

This method far surpasses applying butter with a knife and having it drip. It also has the added advantage of your being able to keep extra servings in a dish of chipped ice right at the table, even in hot weather.

Mary Jo Brown

Dear Heloise:

I take a piece of narrow elastic about 8 to 10 inches long and sew a large paper clip to each end.

I then tie the middle of the elastic around the hook of a coat hanger. I can hang my sun-back dresses on this hanger, clip the front and back of them together near the center of the shoulder, and they do not slip off the hanger.

Mrs. Leroy Burmeister

Dear Heloise:

This idea just came to me as we are preparing for our vacation:

I am making cotton drawstring bags for my four children to hold a week's supply of socks and pants, etc. They will be marked on the outside with the name of each child.

These drawstring bags do not necessarily have to go in a suit case, but could go in a side pocket or the trunk of a car or any other inconspicuous place.

Plastic or mesh bags could also be used.

Mrs. Doris Chessler

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

How can you teach your child the value of money?

New free booklet helps solve an age-old problem.

Children quickly learn the importance of money—but teaching them its value is a long, slow process. So says child expert Suzanne Strait. And to help parents guide their youngsters towards this worthwhile goal, she has written a booklet especially for New York Life. "Teaching Your Child the Value of Money" is packed with informative, practical suggestions . . . and it's yours free!

LET THEM LEARN BY DOING. The author, mother of four, and a respected writer on child matters, points out there's no educational device like an allowance: "Let children handle money for themselves, make their own mistakes, and learn for themselves. Do not use money as a punishment or a reward, but rather as a practical lesson in getting, choosing and spending."

EXAMPLES AND PRACTICAL ADVICE. There are numerous examples throughout this booklet, illustrating how youngsters at various ages often react to money and the problems it poses. In addition, Suzanne Strait offers tips to help parents set a good financial model. Above all, trust your children, she says, and give them leeway. Just as in learning to sew or saw, they'll make mistakes, but they will learn in the long run.

Priest Is Given Support on Racial Issue

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Some 200 parishioners at a Roman Catholic church in suburban Compton say they will ask Jam Frances Cardinal McIntyre to "take a stand on civil rights and permit the clergy to speak out."

They are members of St. Albert the Great church where a young priest, the Rev. William H. DuBay, has sent a letter to Pope Paul VI asking for the cardinal's removal for alleged inaction on civil rights.

Scores of supporters cheered the 29-year-old priest Sunday when he appeared outside the church after celebrating a Mass for the predominantly Negro congregation.

After making his letter to the Pope public, Father Dubay was relieved as administrator of the church, but not from his priestly duties.

A spokesman for the cardinal said no disciplinary action was taken. The cardinal has declined comment.

Catholics, many of them Negro, from other parts of Los Angeles attended the Mass. Outside, a dozen supporters carried various banners. Some signed petitions on tables in front of the church.

Father DuBay did not mention the race problem in his sermon. In his announcements, he thanked parishioners for "your support" and said: "I do not intend to divide the church, but want to unite it."

Another Catholic priest, the Rev. Terrence W. Halloran, said Saturday that Father DuBay's accusations on the cardinal's civil rights stand are substantially true.

Two Youths Admit Murder for 25 Cents

CHICAGO (AP) — Two teenagers have admitted to police that they fatally beat a 49-year-old Chicagoan in a robbery that netted 25 cents.

The youths, Willy James Council, 19, and James Jackson, 14, were arrested Friday.

The victim, C. J. Cowart, died shortly after he was attacked last week.

Sarajevo Notes Pistol Shots That Launched War

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP)—This quiet Bosnian city today began observance of the 50th anniversary of the pistol shots that touched off World War I.

A simple memorial meeting opened a two-week period which will reach a climax June 28 with dedication of plaques and laying of wreaths.

The celebration will be modest. Though Gavrilo Princip's shots on June 28, 1914, are generally condoned here, they led to a war that killed more than 5 million fighting men, and planted the seeds of World War II.

Out of the holocaust emerged an independent Yugoslavia, accounting for the regard in which Princip is held.

He was a sickly revolutionary of 19 when he killed Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, and his wife.

Princip was one of a group of young Serbian revolutionaries who wanted Bosnia free of Austro-Hungarian rule so it could join independent Serbia.

One month later, on July 28, Austria declared war on Serbia. Three days later Austria's German ally declared war on Russia, Serbia's ally, and the guns began the fearful sounds that were stilled only after four years of fighting.

In Sarajevo, a city of 125,000 there is little to show for all that history. A bridge across the Niljacka River is named after Princip. A museum is on the spot of the shooting.

Two elderly men still living here belonged to the revolutionary organization with Princip. They are Prof. Cvjetko Popovic, who runs the museum, and Ivo Kranjcevic, a retired railroad man.

Another survivor, Dr. Vaso Cubrilovic, is a professor at the University of Belgrade. He plans to come down for the June 28 celebration.

Romania to Free Political Prisoners

BUCHAREST, Romaia (AP)—Romania will empty most of its political prisons by the end of the year, says Deputy Premier Alexandru Birladeanu.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Birladeanu said Sunday Romania had freed 7,674 political prisoners without publicity in the past 3½ years.

He promised a general pardon in August and said that by the end of 1964 "we will have practically no political prisoners."

Birladeanu acknowledged "differences of opinion" with the Soviet Union over Romania's plans to industrialize; admitted that Russian names were being eliminated and that the study of Russian was no longer compulsory in schools; said Romania's relations with Red China were "good and developing"; and pledged to use two nuclear power plants Romania is trying to buy from the United States or Britain "only for electrical energy for peaceful purposes."

Priest Is Given Support on Racial Issue

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Some 200 parishioners at a Roman Catholic church in suburban Compton say they will ask Jam Frances Cardinal McIntyre to "take a stand on civil rights and permit the clergy to speak out."

They are members of St. Albert the Great church where a young priest, the Rev. William H. DuBay, has sent a letter to Pope Paul VI asking for the cardinal's removal for alleged inaction on civil rights.

Scores of supporters cheered the 29-year-old priest Sunday when he appeared outside the church after celebrating a Mass for the predominantly Negro congregation.

After making his letter to the Pope public, Father Dubay was relieved as administrator of the church, but not from his priestly duties.

A spokesman for the cardinal said no disciplinary action was taken. The cardinal has declined comment.

Catholics, many of them Negro, from other parts of Los Angeles attended the Mass. Outside, a dozen supporters carried various banners. Some signed petitions on tables in front of the church.

Father DuBay did not mention the race problem in his sermon. In his announcements, he thanked parishioners for "your support" and said: "I do not intend to divide the church, but want to unite it."

Litton Industries Buy Company In Minneapolis

An agreement for the acquisition of Streater Industries, Inc., of Minneapolis, by Litton Industries was signed today.

E. C. Streater, president and founder of the company, and Joseph S. Imirie, vice president of Litton's Industrial Group, said the acquisition will involve an undisclosed amount of Litton securities.

The Streater company, operating at a current annual sales rate of $12 million, has plants in Albert Lea, Minn.; Chatham, N.Y., and Salinas, Calif. The company produces and markets a broad line of display equipment for all types of retail stores, including merchandise control centers, and checkout and sales register related equipment. It also provides planning and design services for merchandising enterprises, including supermarkets, chain drug outlets and other retailing activities.

Imirie said the acquisition of Streater would augment Litton's integrated systems approach to diversified point-of-sale product lines and services. Litton produces and sells a wide range of business equipment and supplies, and manufactures automated data processing for retail sales analysis and inventory control.

The Streater company will become a division of Litton's Industrial Group and will be operated by its present management, headed by Mr. Streater.

Streater, with more than 300,000 square feet of manufacturing space, has 550 employees. There are sales offices in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit, Kansas City and Atlanta. In San Francisco, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Atlanta. In Minneapolis, its headquarters city, Streater operates the only national display center in its industry. The company also has a national sales force that is expected to be tripled by the end of 1965.

"Streater Industries looks forward to greatly accelerated growth and diversification in products and services in a wide variety of retail field," Streater said.

The transaction is subject to the approval of the commissioner of corporations of California and by the shareholders of Streater Industries.

Zale Jewelry Expands Its Diamond Business

Morris B. Zale, chairman, announced today that Zale Jewelry Co. has formed a partnership with a London diamond company "to maintain and improve its competitive advantages at retail and to expand sales at the wholesale level."

Zale added that the partnership enables Zale's to secure both rough and polished diamonds more economically and improves Zale's sources of supply for now and for the future.

As a result of this move, the Dallas-based jewelry firm has expanded diamond cutting operations through its foreign offices in London, Antwerp and Tel-Aviv, and has started cutting of diamonds in Germany and Puerto Rico.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Spades, J-9-6-4-3; Hearts, A-6; Diamonds, 9-5-2; Clubs, K-Q-7.

Q. 1—As South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 Dia.	Dbl.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A. — You have an average hand in high cards (10 points) and a five card suit, which makes game prospects very bright opposite a takeout double. The method of conveying this bit of information is to bid one more than necessary. The proper call is two spades.

Q. 2 — Partner opens with three notrump and you hold: Spades, A-5; Hearts, 7-6-5; Diamonds, Q-10-9-4; Clubs, K-10-7-5.

What do you bid?

A.—On the basis of simple arithmetic, you should contract for a small slam in notrump. You have a count of nine, and partner has a minimum of 25.

Q. 3—As South you hold: Spades, 7-6-3; Hearts, A-Q-7-5-3; Diamonds, Q-10-6-3; Clubs, 5.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 Dia.	2 Clbs.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. There can be no bright prospects for game when partner fails to make a take-out double. It is extremely dangerous to experiment with a suit that is higher in rank than partner's suit. If he does not like hearts, he may have to return to three clubs, and then the fur might start flying.

Q. 4—As South you hold: Spades, A-6-5-4; Hearts, A; Diamonds, A-8-4-3; Clubs, A-8-6-5.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 Dia.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—This hand will very likely produce a slam, and a jump shift is clearly indicated. The suggested call is three clubs. This is much preferable to two spades, for in making temporizing bids it is preferable not to take liberties with weak major suits.

Q. 5—As South you hold: Spades, K-10-6; Hearts, A-K-10-7-5; Diamonds, K-J-9-6; Clubs, A.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Hrt.	Pass	1 N.T.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—With this hand we would insist upon reaching a game contract despite partner's mild response. We therefore would rebid three diamonds, a jump shift forcing to game. If partner returns to three hearts we would bid four. If he bids three notrump we would relax and, if by some chance, he should raise diamonds, we should have a reasonable play for game in that suit.

Q. 6—As South you hold: Spades, A-7-3; Diamonds, 9-7-6-4-2; Clubs, A-K-7-5-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 Spd.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Two clubs. This is preferable to a response of two diamonds, for it is not our purpose to bid this hand as a diamond-club two suiter. It is highly improbable that diamonds could be the best contract unless partner bids that suit himself.

Q. 7—As South you hold: Spades, A-2; Hearts, 5-3; Diamonds, J-9-8-7-6-4; Clubs, A-K-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Dia.	Pass	1 Hrt.	Pass
2 Dia.	Pass	3 Hrts.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—We do not recommend a bid of three notrump. Partner's hand is highly unbalanced. Your tricks are very quick, and your diamond suit does not appear to be readily establishable for purposes of notrump. We therefore recommend a raise to four hearts. Remember that two trumps constitute adequate support when partner has made a jump rebid in the suit.

Q. 8—East - West vulnerable and as South you hold: Spades, Q-J-9; Hearts, 6-5; Diamonds, 5-4-3; Clubs, A-J-6-4-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
3 Dia.	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — While technically partner's double of three diamonds is primarily for a take-out, nevertheless under the conditions of vulnerability we would pass and convert it into a penalty double. This hand has the reasonable expectation of taking about two tricks in defense, which means that a sure set is in sight.

Public's Liquid Assets Increase 6.6 Per Cent

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If your bills keep pouring in and your debts seem to go only one way—up—here's a happy thought from a cold statistic:

The public's liquid assets this year have increased 6.6 per cent.

And liquid assets, lest you jump to the wrong conclusion, are regarded as a very sober and solid part of the nation's economy.

Bankers define liquid assets as the public's holdings of money, time deposits in commercial and mutual savings banks, postal savings, savings and loan shares, U.S. savings bonds, the government securities maturing within one year.

You have other assets, doubtless just as meaningful to you, but a bit less liquid because they can't be drawn upon quite as fast and surely in the market place. These include equity in your home, auto, appliances and other furnishings, your stake in Social Security and private pension reserves, your insurance policies, your investments in real estate and long-term securities.

All types of personal assets come to well over a trillion dollars now. They are a reassuring factor when economists worry about mounting debts—personal as well as government — and about monthly payments that tend to rise as personal income does.

Millions of famlies have both savings and debts, of course. Others may be strongest in debts. Some are above the average in liquid assets.

The assets swelled by $44 billion in 1963, and the debts by $23.6 billion.

The increase in personal liquid assets shows that people have the wherewithal to spend on what they want this summer, if they wish. And the merchants, the dealers, the resort owners, transportation companies are counting on them.

Litton Industries Buy Company In Minneapolis

An agreement for the acquisition of Streater Industries, Inc., of Minneapolis, by Litton Industries was signed today.

E. C. Streater, president and founder of the company, and Joseph S. Imirie, vice president of Litton's Industrial Group, said the acquisition will involve an undisclosed amount of Litton securities.

The Streater company, operating at a current annual sales rate of $12 million, has plants in Albert Lea, Minn.; Chatham, N.Y., and Salinas, Calif. The company produces and markets a broad line of display equipment for all types of retail stores, including merchandise control centers, and checkout and sales register related equipment. It also provides planning and design services for merchandising enterprises, including supermarkets, chain drug outlets and other retailing activities.

Imirie said the acquisition of Streater would augment Litton's integrated systems approach to diversified point-of-sale product lines and services. Litton produces and sells a wide range of business equipment and supplies, and manufactures automated data processing for retail sales analysis and inventory control.

The Streater company will become a division of Litton's Industrial Group and will be operated by its present management, headed by Mr. Streater.

Streater, with more than 300,000 square feet of manufacturing space, has 550 employees. There are sales offices in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit, Kansas City and Atlanta. In San Francisco, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Atlanta. In Minneapolis, its headquarters city, Streater operates the only national display center in its industry. The company also has a national sales force that is expected to be tripled by the end of 1965.

"Streater Industries looks forward to greatly accelerated growth and diversification in products and services in a wide variety of retail field," Streater said.

The transaction is subject to the approval of the commissioner of corporations of California and by the ahareholders of Streater Industries.

Zale Jewelry Expands Its Diamond Business

Morris B. Zale, chairman, announced today that Zale Jewelry Co. has formed a partnership with a London diamond company "to maintain and improve its competitive advantages at retail and to expand sales at the wholesale level."

Zale added that the partnership enables Zale's to secure both rough and polished diamonds more economically and improves Zale's sources of supply for now and for the future.

As a result of this move, the Dallas-based jewelry firm has expanded diamond cutting operations through its foreign offices in London, Antwerp and Tel-Aviv, and has started cutting of diamonds in Germany and Puerto Rico.

By CHARLES H. GOREN

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Spades, J-9-6-4-3; Hearts, A-6; Diamonds, 9-5-2; Clubs, K-Q-7.

Q. 1—As South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 Dia.	Dbl.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A. — You have an average hand in high cards (10 points) and a five card suit, which makes game prospects very bright opposite a takeout double. The method of conveying this bit of information is to bid one more than necessary. The proper call is two spades.

Q. 2 — Partner opens with three notrump and you hold: Spades, A-5; Hearts, 7-6-5; Diamonds, Q-10-9-4; Clubs, K-10-7-5.

What do you bid?

A.—On the basis of simple arithmetic, you should contract for a small slam in notrump. You have a count of nine, and partner has a minimum of 25.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
Spades, 7-6-3; Hearts, A-Q-7-5-3; Diamonds, Q-10-6-3; Clubs, 5.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 Dia.	2 Clbs.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. There can be no bright prospects for game when partner fails to make a take-out double. It is extremely dangerous to experiment with a suit that is higher in rank than partner's suit. If he does not like hearts, he may have to return to three clubs, and then the fur might start flying.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
Spades, A-6-5-4; Hearts, A; Diamonds, A-8-4-3; Clubs, A-8-6-5.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 Dia.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—This hand will very likely produce a slam, and a jump shift is clearly indicated. The suggested call is three clubs. This is much preferable to two spades, for in making temporizing bids it is preferable not to take liberties with weak major suits.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
Spades, K-10-6; Hearts, A-K-10-7-5; Diamonds, K-J-9-6; Clubs, A.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Hrt.	Pass	1 N.T.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—With this hand we would insist upon reaching a game contract despite partner's mild response. We therefore would rebid three diamonds, a jump shift forcing to game. If partner returns to three hearts we would bid four. If he bids three notrump we would relax and, if by some chance, he should raise diamonds, we should have a reasonable play for game in that suit.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
Spades, A-7-3; Diamonds, 9-7-6-4-2; Clubs, A-K-7-5-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 Spd.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Two clubs. This is preferable to a response of two diamonds, for it is not our purpose to bid this hand as a diamond-club two suiter. It is highly improbable that diamonds could be the best contract unless partner bids that suit himself.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
Spades, A-2; Hearts, 5-3; Diamonds, J-9-8-7-6-4; Clubs, A-K-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Dia.	Pass	1 Hrt.	Pass
2 Dia.	Pass	3 Hrts.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A —We do not recommend a bid of three notrump. Partner's hand is highly unbalanced. Your tricks are very quick, and your diamond suit does not appear to be readily establishable for purposes of notrump. We therefore recommend a raise to four hearts. Remember that two trumps constitute adequate support when partner has made a jump rebid in the suit.

Q. 8—East - West vulnerable and as South you hold:
Spades, Q-J-9; Hearts, 6-5; Diamonds, 5-4-3; Clubs, A-J-6-4-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
3 Dia.	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — While technically partner's double of three diamonds is primarily for a take-out, nevertheless under the conditions of vulnerability we would pass and convert it into a penalty double. This hand has the reasonable expectation of taking about two tricks in defense, which means that a sure set is in sight.

Public's Liquid Assets Increase 6.6 Per Cent

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If your bills keep pouring in and your debts seem to go only one way —up—here's a happy thought from a cold statistic:

The public's liquid assets this year have increased 6.6 per cent.

And liquid assets, lest you jump to the wrong conclusion, are regarded as a very sober and solid part of the nation's economy.

Bankers define liquid assets as the public's holdings of money, time deposits in commercial and mutual savings banks, postal savings, savings and loan shares, U.S. savings bonds, the government securities maturing within one year.

You have other assets, doubtless just as meaningful to you, but a bit less liquid because they can't be drawn upon quite as fast and surely in the market place. These include equity in your home, auto, appliances and other furnishings, your stake in Social Security and private pension reserves, your insurance policies, your investments in real estate and long-term securities.

All types of personal assets come to well over a trillion dollars now. They are a reassuring factor when economists worry about mounting debts—personal as well as government — and about monthly payments that tend to rise as personal income does.

Millions of famlies have both savings and debts, of course. Others may be strongest in debts. Some are above the average in liquid assets.

But just as totals, the personal financial assets of Americans top the personal debts by a comfortable figure, as expressed in current market values.

The assets swelled by $44 billion in 1963, and the debts by $23.6 billion.

The increase in personal liquid assets shows that people have the wherewithal to spend on what they want this summer, if they wish. And the merchants, the dealers, the resort owners, transportation companies are counting on them.

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Peace Through Production And Trade

With the advance toward technology, automation and cybernetics, there is a decreasing likelihood of a major war. The more completely any nation equips itself for the kind of production machines can perform, the less likelihood will exist that such a nation would willingly embark on a major holocaust.

The way to reduce the probability of war is to turn away from government and political methods and to develop a truly great private market place. Why do we say this?

Because, the more thoroughly advanced technically a nation becomes, the more vulnerable it becomes in the event of armed uprisings. If, for instance, all basic industry is computer operated, the sudden destruction of that computer could reduce the nation to impotency in a matter of a few days.

Equally important, in considering the matter of war and peace, is the opening of national borders to all kinds of trade. Economists, regardless of their political persuasion, have almost always been in agreement that the only kind of an economic situation that makes sense is one in which free trade can and will exist on a world basis.

Economically speaking, we know what to do and how to do it. But we are universally hampered by a general unwillingness or a general inability to consider the factors free of government supervision or control.

It should come as a matter of great interest to us that the great periods of human prosperity which have occurred on occasion have been stimulated when people in certain areas stopped relying on the state and went to work productively.

The Roman empire provides a good example. Although the Roman economy was never a completely laissez-faire system, its value to itself and to other people in the world was geared into Roman trade, not Roman tyranny. At the beginning of the growth of this empire, Rome was a production and trade center. With the passing of time, especially following the emergence of the socialist inspired Gracchi, Rome began to rely more and more upon the state and less and less upon market channels. Rome finally collapsed and fell after business and industry had been regulated and taxed virtually into extinction and Rome itself operated on little more than the tribute it could collect from other places in the world.

The growth of Athens, as compared to other Greek cities, occurred because here was largely a free market in that city and universal trade was encouraged.

The Hanseatic League brought prosperity to the low countries and Germany when traders and producers were in the center of the stage and the government had been shunted to one side.

The British empire, although never entirely free of government supervision of one sort or another, nonetheless was built on trade and industry.

The greatness of America is likewise a development of our freedom to own property privately and our ability to work and trade with other people.

If one looks at the various efforts being made constantly by government, one can become pessimistic and discouraged. Regulations and taxes are increasing. And government has devised an instrument called the United Nations which is a sort of international association of politicians designed to dominate and rule the world, either directly or indirectly through its members.

But if we look to the market place, there is room for some optimism and encouragement. For we are advancing here in terms of technological know-how, in terms of automation, computer controls and in terms of world trade.

Envision, if you can, a world in which government does not intrude into the economy at any point for any reason.

In such a world, individuals in one nation can trade as they please with any individual in another nation and neither of them will be punished for doing so, nor prevented from doing so. Consider the vast strides we could make if our tax money each year, running into the multiple billions in this country, and on a world scale into many more billions, were to remain in private hands and would be invested in our development of trade and industry and in the private education of individuals.

There is a natural genesis for peace. Peace comes not from government and its enforced armaments, but through the development of market place skills and free trade. And the more thoroughly we rely on the economy and the more completely we reject government solutions, the more quickly can we move in the obviously desirable direction of peace and prosperity.

Two Steps

If you wish to profit from your mistakes you must do two things: 1) admit your error; 2) understand where you made it.

Crime Reduction In Montana

Although this is going to sound almost unbelievable to a great many, the evidence is increasing that newspapers do a better job of reducing the crime rate than many courts of law.

The courts are judicial and punitive agencies, and of course are not engaged actively in PREVENTING anything. But the theory persists that actions of courts, in punishing offenders, provide some kind of a warning to possible future offenders and, hence, serve a preventative purpose.

There's an interesting observation appearing in one of the issues of a Denver Sunday supplement on the question of juvenile delinquency. The item reveals that whereas there is a marked tendency across the nation for an increase in juvenile delinquency, there is one state where this kind of behavior is actually on the decline. And that state is Montana.

The article goes on to explain that in Montana a bold move was made. All juvenile courts were scrapped. Any offender, regardless of age, is treated like any other. If his offense warrants it, he goes into a regular court, his name is not omitted, and there he is charged and must defend himself just like an adult.

And the big part of the affair is that the law in Montana no longer prohibits the newspapers from publishing the names of the offenders, the names of their parents, the nature of the crimes committed and all the rest of it. Says the author: "The publicity has proven a genuine deterrent to crime."

Juvenile felony cases in Montana are down 40 per cent. Traffic violations by juveniles are down 75 per cent.

Judge Lester Lobel, who brought about this development, says that he treats youthful offenders just like adults.

"The system," says the judge, "is effective because we lecture offenders and their parents in open court so that their cases can be fully reported. It passes responsibility on to the parents. They can no longer hide behind the anonymous charges which used to go on the record in the juvenile court."

Isn't this wonderful? The real damage so often done by governments and their agencies is in the attempt to shield the perpetrator of a wrong, from the results of his actions. Everywhere — in government, school, home — efforts are made to eliminate personal responsibility of individuals.

The environmentalists have convinced vast numbers of people that they can't possibly be responsible and, hence, that their environment or their parents, or their lack of money or some other factor in their past, has eliminated their personal involvement in anything that transpires.

Thus, the juvenile who robs a filling station is led to believe that he did it because he couldn't help it. He had an "impulse" that led to the crime and that "impulse" came out of his environment and his heredity and he just "couldn't help it."

That is pure rubbish. Of course he could help it. And certainly, if his name and the names of his parents are published, then his friends and associates are going to know just what kind of a young fellow he is. The fact that such information would find its way into ordinary news channels would have a far more preventative affect upon possible offenders than anything a juvenile court might do.

All crime flourishes in the dark. It is a furtive world where the only real safety for the criminal relates to his ability to go unrecognized. It is not that he might be punished, that bothers him. If the punishment can be administered quietly, he can always alibi his way out of that. But it is the lack of quiet that disturbs the wrong doer. If his destructive bent is telegraphed from the street corners, he is certainly going to think twice before he puts himself in a position where such bold disclosure can occur.

Of course, disclosure will not prove a panacea. There will always be a certain number of men of any age who will presume they are smart enough to "get away with it." But if newspapers could have a free hand in the reporting of information of this sort, it would be the greatest boon, not toward punishment of wrong doers, but toward preventing future crimes.

An old adage is appropriate. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." It is crime prevention we must seek, not skillful ways to punish afterwards, and certainly not skillful ways to prevent the facts of the crime from reaching the eyes and ears of those who know the criminal best. Punishment, sometimes cruel and severe punishment, has done little to deter future crime. But publicity . . .the full disclosure of the identity of the perpetrator of crime. . .not so much related to how he is being punished, but related to what he did — that is the Achilles' heel through which a reduction in crime may occur.

Montana Judge Lester Lobel has made a wise move.

Wanted, Better European Reporters

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

What the European press has to say about the Goldwater victory in California is absolutely fantastic, if the cabled excerpts that have reached this country are fairly representative of what has been said. What they seem to prove is that European reporters have made absolutely no effort to find out what Goldwater has actually said about any of the major issues of war and peace.

The London Daily Telegraph, The Times, the Amsterdam Christian Democratic Volkskrant, the Frankfurter Allgemeine and the Frankfurter Rundschau all joined the chorus that Goldwater represents political "degeneracy" and a wild foreign policy. I find this fanastic because I happen to have read several times over Goldwater's long foreign policy statement, published in Life magazine last January, which called for a "structural" strengthening of the Atlantic community. The statement was so much on the side of a strong NATO that Clarence Streit, the apostle of a federal union of the North Atlantic democracies, commended it in his magazine, Federal Union, his only regret being that Goldwater had not seen fit to go all the way toward "union now." If it be considered "degenerate" in Europe to support NATO, then the United States must indeed be in for an agonizing reappraisal of its position in the world.

NON-ADVOCACY

Possibly the European newspapers actually believe that Goldwater had called for using the A-bomb in Southeast Asia. But this, as columnist David Lawrence had the gumption to point out before anyone else, could only have been based on an erroneous construction of a Goldwater statement that had merely listed possibilities being discussed in Washinton. Goldwater had gone on to say that he didn't think atomic "defoliation of Asiatic forests" would be used. In any event, he didn't advocate it.

If the European papers are really interested in Goldwater's position on Vietnam and the Southeast Asia crisis, they might ask their correspondents to cable them the full text of Goldwater's San Fernando Valley, California, speech of April 29. Criticizing the policy that permits the North Vietnamese to use supposedly neutral Laotian jungle trails to infiltrate South Viet Nam, Goldwater said our war to keep Communism from inching toward Thailand, Malaysia, Australia, and New Zealand could only succeed by some action that would force the Communist Viet Cong to give up the fight.

"This means," said Barry, "threatening or actually interdicting the supply routes from Red China, Laos and Cambodia. It does not mean bombing Vietnamese, or even bombing Vietnamese cities. It could mean messing up some roads, hitting some depots, and stopping some shipping. Also, the opium crops upon which North Vietnam bases a good part of its foreign exchange, could be destroyed. Again, this doesn't mean launching attacks against North Vietnamese. It just means applying some pressure to a source of supply for their war effort."

SHARED VIEWS

This is the sum total of Goldwater's recommendations for stepping up the war in Southeast Asia. Goldwater did not, repeat, not, urge that A-bombs be substituted for ordinary bombs. Since his proposals are identical with those of Lyndon Johnson's advisers, who have contemplated the alternative of trying to interdict communist supply routes into South Vietnam, any charge of "degenerate" foreign policy must apply to many in the administration as well as to Goldwater. As a matter of fact, Henry Cabot Lodge has also considered the possible necessity of "interdiction" of communist movement based on North Viet Nam. So has Richard Nixon, in stronger words than those used by Goldwater.

In the same San Fernando Valley speech that European papers have ignored, Goldwater warned against putting all our eggs in the "intercontinental ballistic missile basket" for a very humane reason. The ballistic missile, he said, is an "either - or" weapon. "Once you push the button, you are fully committed. Manned bombers, on the other hand, can be called back."

This very responsible and humane reason for retaining the manned bomber ought to appeal to Europeans who are afraid of an "irresponsible" finger on the atomic trigger. But nobody, whether he is European or American, is going to learn very much about Barry Goldwater if he won't listen to what the Senator actually says.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question No. 519: "How would you feel if you were informed who won the election before you had cast your ballot?

"In the California primary on June 2 the GOP candidate was declared the winner at 7:22 p.m. by a major TV network. In San Francisco people were voting, since the polls close at 8:00 p.m. in this city.

"In national elections a similar situation could easily occur — indeed, with our state's large voting bloc to swing a close election, politicians might be tempted to buy votes for a victory.

"Shouldn't the ballot count, partial or otherwise, remain secret until everyone has voted?"

Answer: It seems conceivable that crooked politicians might try to buy enough votes to swing the election the way they want, regardless of whether some results are known in advance.

As a practical matter, it is a little difficult to see how a national sampling, such as the television sampling in the California primary, could show a trend unless it included western states. Thus, it would be difficult to see how a national projection could be made before western states' votes were in. Even in the television projection, there was quite a bit of skepticism about the result at 7:22 which left out the key areas where voting continued until 8 o'clock.

We hope there is no suggestion that a law be passed to prohibit any such projections or reports of eastern votes before all states in the nation have cast their ballots. This would mean nothing could be published until after Hawaii's polls had closed. It also would be further federal intervention into states' authority to run their own elections and would be interfering with the people's right to know what is being done in their governments.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

Four-Freedoms Hogwash

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

For several months I have managed to refrain from bragging about my grandchildren but last evening, Vicki, 15 and lovely and frequently insistent on appearing to be helpless and rather slow intellectually, brought something home from school for my edification. Having decided that most boys of her own age are a bit frightened of girls who exhibit signs of rapidly growing intelligence, Vicki is dedicated to the high purpose of not frightening male youngsters. On the other hand, she finds it difficult to keep her understanding of the freedom philosophy under complete control, and her comprehension of my reaction to the material she carefully copies for me makes me feel good. To add to my enjoyment, our middle grandkid, Lynn, darkly lovely in contrast to her sister's blondeness, asked, abruptly, "What's that, Vick?"

Vicki replied, "This crazy four freedoms stuff. You know, we learned about that at our seminar; how we are either free or we are not free."

With equal erudition, Lynn replied, "Oh, sure, I know all about that. Wouldn't you think the darned schools would get some sense into their heads — at least high schools?"

The first item is concerned with a WORLD dedicated to the four freedoms, while the people of this country remain enslaved. It refers to freedom of speech and expression, on a WORLD basis, while being dedicated to a variety of prohibitions against freedom of speech and expression and association.

It refers to freedom from fear, translated into what it calls world terms. It refers to freedom from want, translated into world terms, which is supposed to mean economic understanding which will SECURE to every NATION a peacetime, healthy life for its inhabitants, whether the nations or the inhabitants earn it or not, at the expense of those who do earn and invest.

The propaganda to which victims of the socialist school system are exposed regularly, refers repeatedly to a WORLD ORDER as a method of avoiding the use of the expression world government and the extremist point of view which envisions a world order or world government is no different than the lunatic dreams of paranoiacs who have plagued freedom loving, reasonable human beings throughout the pages of history. The battle between world government socialists, world government communists and world government fascists rages on.

I have just received word of two more proposed private schools in Southern California. The ambitious, clear - thinking people who recognize the fact that totalitarianism may be halted only through private schools, dedicated to the cause of freedom and joyous respectability, are discovering how difficult it is to finance worthwhile endeavors while unthinking people scramble around investing in everything from worthless stocks to hotshot get-rich-quick schemes.

Encouraging private schools, in which students are not plagued by the sub-pagan urge for mass mediocrity, is a task which is almost as difficult as the work of creating each new private school. In some areas oppressive government controls will make it painfully difficult to operate schools on an independent and truly progressive basis. The socialist school system and its minions are fearfully opposed to all competition. The task of finding teachers who are willing to set aside the precepts of the witch doctors to which they have been exposed is monumental. Fortunately, as human beings become reawakened to their absolute right to freedom, the desire to pass the good word becomes a reality and the availability of teachers will become less and less of a problem. In the midst of the many problems, there will also be the problem of teaching the teachers and this will be no small task.

Regardless of the manner in which you go about the important business of encouraging the educational revolution, you will find yourself possessed by a growing enthusiasm and excitement, happily.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

FOR PRESIDENT

To the Editor:

I believe it is about time that we had a man run for President who stood for eternal principles in spite of h. . . and high waters. I believe such a man could lose the election and yet be of greater service in establishing our nation on a solid foundation of economic solidarity and peace.

I believe that the millions of voters all over the country backed Barry Goldwater because he appeared to be that kind of a man. He attracted his support in spite of the opposition from many old guard Republican leaders, which shows that he has a pulling power with the rank and file voter that no other candidate has had in many years.

If he gives in to the appeal of the old guard and tries to change his present image one whit he cannot possibly win anything. Richard Nixon played his opponent's game and lost by a very small margin. I would hate to think that Goldwater would do the same thing. His opponents now are in his own party and if he cannot be victorious over them at the convention he will not be the winner in November. Let us pray for a man who can give this great nation of ours stability.

Good News From the Hills

By RUFUS L. PORTER

There's good news today for hard rock men; there's action in the gold camp once again. The El Paso, a mine of renown, after two years of being shut down, is going to reopen its shaft and stopes and the new owners have very great hopes of mining a lot of good-grade ore — a few million dollars' worth, or more.

They plan on building a brand new mill somewhere out on Beacon Hill, adjacent to the mine, no doubt, to treat the ore when they hoist it out. The ore is there and if they make it pay, Cripple Creek and Victor are on their way to take their former place, their own, as the greatest gold camp ever known.

Let's toast the new owners — I think we should — they looked on the camp and found it good. And let us all join them in the fight, let's pitch in and help them prove they were right.

It is true, the Great Divide Explorations Limited of Canada has taken up its option on the famous El Paso mine on Beacon Hill, one of the richest hills in the great gold district. The price wasn't made public, but according to rumor, the number of excise tax stamps shows it to be in the neighborhood of $140,000, a goodly sum in these times, when gold is a political orphan in this country, but a small enough price when the past production and the future potential of the mine are considered. And if the gold situation should change for the better — not an improbability in the light of recent developments — the new company will be ready to profit from the change and will be the first to do so.

It takes courage to step into the business of gold production in the United States today, at a time when most of the nation's own producers have given up in discouragement or in plain disgust. But courage and foresight have been the factors that have brought more than one sick industry back to vigorous health. All of us who have known and loved the Cripple Creek - Victor district, through all its good years and bad, hope and pray that the new enterprisers have all the good luck they so richly deserve.

We drove up to Cripple Creek last Friday. That was when we heard the good news about the El Paso. But there are other things afoot in both Cripple Creek and Victor that seem to give the lie to the rumor that they are near ghost towns. In fact, one glance down Bennett Avenue, or Victor Avenue, where even at this early date in the tourist season one finds it difficult to find a parking space, and where new buildings are being erected and new businesses being started almost daily, a stranger is more apt to believe that he is driving into new and thriving communities rather than ones that the calamity howlers have already buried.

Bennett Avenue in Cripple Creek especially, shows remarkable activity for a "dead" town. At the corner of East Bennett Avenue and Carbonate (5th) Street, which old timers will remember as the site of the old National Garage, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Moulton have constructed a group of buildings in the old western style which they call "Old Town." This name is appropriate since Carbonate Street was once the dividing line between Old Town and Cripple Creek. The Cripple Creek Museum stands just across Carbonate at the head of Bennett Avenue.

All up and down the avenue buildings have been renovated and remodeled, but kept in the true western style. The bank has certainly had its face lifted, inside and out. Bill Robinson, editor and publisher of the Gold Rush, across the avenue from the bank, has started a launderette in a spare building alongside the paper office. I told him it was a nice clean business and he said, "Then why am I always so dirty?" I didn't know whether he was referring to his personal habits or to some of the jokes he prints in his paper, so I wisely refrained from answering that crack.

Bud Peiffer, new owner of the Cripple Creek Inn, has erected a new "A-frame" building next door to the inn. I didn't get to see Bud to learn what he intends to use it for.

At the western end of Bennett Avenue stands the "Westward Ho" motel and curio shop, started a few years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mentzer, and being added to yearly. This place, like the Moultons', is strictly "old west" in styling.

Gertrude Dial, former owner of the inn, has started a jewelry and novelty shop in the old post office building. "Hattie's" has a new manager. The Grub Stake Theatre is getting ready for a big season. The Homestead on Myers Avenue is as attractive as ever. The Mount Pisgah road has been reconditioned. George Bowman has his famed jeep tours in operation. The Molly Kathleen shaft has been retimbered and given an A-1 rating by the mining commissioner and is getting record crowds for the time of year.

The various gift and antique shops are open as are the good eating places. The same kind of activity is found over in Victor at the east end of camp. I am running out of space, or I would be happy to name them all. Maybe, another time.

I just wanted to prove that, even without the good news about renewed mining in the district, the old camp is far from rolling over and playing dead. You can't keep a good camp down.

Wit and Whimsy

The teacher was trying to make the pupils think, so asked some tricky questions.

"Johnny," said the teacher, "give me an example of nothing."

A sad-looking character was shown into the office of a prominent psychiatrist.

Sad Character: "I've lost all desire to go on, Doctor. Life has become too hectic, too confused."

Doctor (clucking sympathetically): "I understand. We all have our problems. You'll need a year or two of treatment at $50 a week."

There was a pause.

Sad Character: "Well, that solves your problem, Doc. Now what about mine?"

If one looks at the various efforts being made constantly by government, one can become pessimistic and discouraged. Regulations and taxes are increasing. And government has devised an instrument called the United Nations which is a sort of international association of politicians designed to dominate and rule the world, either directly or indirectly through its members.

But if we look to the market place, there is room for some optimism and encouragement. For we are advancing here in terms of technological knowhow, in terms of automation, computer controls and in terms of world trade.

Envision, if you can, a world in which government does not intrude into the economy at any point for any reason.

In such a world, individuals in one nation can trade as they please with any individual in another nation and neither of them will be punished for doing so, nor prevented from doing so. Consider the vast strides we could make if our tax money each year, running into the multiple billions in this country, and on a world scale into many more billions, were to remain in private hands and would be invested in our development of trade and industry and in the private education of individuals.

There is a natural genesis for peace. Peace comes not from government and its enforced armaments, but through the development of market place skills and free trade. And the more thoroughly we rely on the economy and the more completely we reject government solutions, the more quickly can we move in the obviously desirable direction of peace and prosperity.

Two Steps

If you wish to profit from your mistakes you must do two things: 1) admit your error; 2) understand where you made it.

Crime Reduction In Montana

Although this is going to sound almost unbelievable to a great many, the evidence is increasing that newspapers do a better job of reducing the crime rate than many courts of law.

The courts are judicial and punitive agencies, and of course are not engaged actively in PREVENTING anything. But the theory persists that actions of courts, in punishing offenders, provide some kind of a warning to possible future offenders and, hence, serve a preventative purpose.

There's an interesting observation appearing in one of the issues of a Denver Sunday supplement on the question of juvenile delinquency. The item reveals that whereas there is a marked tendency across the nation for an increase in juvenile delinquency, there is one state where this kind of behavior is actually on the decline. And that state is Montana.

The article goes on to explain that in Montana a bold move was made. All juvenile courts were scrapped. Any offender, regardless of age, is treated like any other. If his offense warrants it, he goes into a regular court, his name is not omitted, and there he is charged and must defend himself just like an adult.

And the big part of the affair is that the law in Montana no longer prohibits the newspapers from publishing the names of the offenders, the names of their parents, the nature of the crimes committed and all the rest of it. Says the author: "The publicity has proven a genuine deterrent to crime."

Juvenile felony cases in Montana are down 49 per cent. Traffic violations by juveniles are down 75 per cent.

Judge Lester Lobel, who brought about this development, says that he treats youthful offenders just like adults.

"The system," says the judge, "is effective because we lecture offenders and their parents in open court so that their cases can be fully reported. It passes responsibility on to the parents. They can no longer hide behind the anonymous charges which used to go on the record in the juvenile court."

Isn't this wonderful? The real damage so often done by governments and their agencies is in the attempt to shield the perpetrator of a wrong, from the results of his actions. Everywhere — in government, school, home — efforts are made to eliminate personal responsibility of individuals.

The environmentalists have convinced vast numbers of people that they can't possibly be responsible and, hence, that their environment or their parents, or their lack of money or some other factor in their past, has eliminated their personal involvement in anything that transpires.

Thus, the juvenile who robs a filling station is led to believe that he did it because he couldn't help it. He had an "impulse" that led to the crime and that "impulse" came out of his environment and his heredity and he just "couldn't help it."

That is pure rubbish. Of course he could help it. And certainly, if his name and the names of his parents are published, then his friends and associates are going to know just what kind of a young fellow he is. The fact that such information would find its way into ordinary news channels would have a far more preventative affect upon possible offenders than anything a juvenile court might do.

All crime flourishes in the dark. It is a furtive world where the only real safety for the criminal relates to his ability to go unrecognized. It is not that he might be punished, that bothers him. If the punishment can be administered quietly, he can always alibi his way out of that. But it is the lack of quiet that disturbs the wrong doer. If his destructive bent is telegraphed from the street corners, he is certainly going to think twice before he puts himself in a position where such bold disclosure can occur.

Of course, disclosure will not prove a panacea. There will always be a certain number of men of any age who will presume they are smart enough to "get away with it." But if newspapers could have a free hand in the reporting of information of this sort, it would be the greatest boon, not toward punishment of wrong doers, but toward preventing future crimes.

An old adage is appropriate. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." It is crime prevention we must seek, not skillful ways to punish afterwards, and certainly not skillful ways to prevent the facts of the crime from reaching the eyes and ears of those who know the criminal best. Punishment, sometimes cruel and severe punishment, has done little to deter future crime. But publicity . . .the full disclosure of the identity of the perpetrator of crime. . .not so much related to how he is being punished, but related to what he did — that is the Achilles' heel through which a reduction in crime may occur.

Montana Judge Lester Lobel has made a wise move.

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

What the European press has to say about the Goldwater victory in California is absolutely fantastic, if the cabled excerpts that have reached this country are fairly representative of what has been said. What they seem to prove is that European reporters have made absolutely no effort to find out what Goldwater has actually said about any of the major issues of war and peace.

The London Daily Telegraph, The Times, the Amsterdam Christian Democratic Volkskrant, the Frankfurter Allgemeine and the Frankfurter Rundschau all joined the chorus that Goldwater represents political "degeneracy" and a wild foreign policy. I find this fanastic because I happen to have read several times over Goldwater's long foreign policy statement, published in Life magazine last January, which called for a "structural" strengthening of the Atlantic community. The statement was so much on the side of a strong NATO that Clarence Streit, the apostle of a federal union of the North Atlantic democracies, commended it in his magazine, Federal Union, his only regret being that Goldwater had not seen fit to go all the way toward "union now." If it be considered "degenerate" in Europe to support NATO, then the United States must indeed be in for an agonizing reappraisal of its position in the world.

NON-ADVOCACY

Possibly the European newspapers actually believe that Goldwater had called for using the A - bomb in Southeast Asia. But this, as columnist David Lawrence had the gumption to point out before anyone else, could only have been based on an erroneous construction of a Goldwater statement that had merely listed possibilities being discussed in Washinton. Goldwater had gone on to say that he didn't think atomic "defoliation of Asiatic forests" would be used. In any event, he didn't advocate it.

If the European papers are really interested in Goldwater's position on Vietnam and the Southeast Asia crisis, they might ask their correspondents to cable them the full text of Goldwater's San Fernando Valley, California, speech of April 29. Criticizing the policy that permits the North Vietnamese to use supposedly neutral Laotian jungle trails to infiltrate South Viet Nam, Goldwater said our war to keep Communism from inching toward Thailand, Malaysia, Australia, and New Zealand could only succeed by some action that would force the Communist Viet Cong to give up the fight.

"This means," said Barry, "threatening or actually interdicting the supply routes from Red China, Laos and Cambodia. It does not mean bombing Vietnamese, or even bombing Vietnamese cities. It could mean messing up some roads, hitting some depots, and stopping some shipping. Also, the opium crops upon which North Vietnam bases a good part of its foreign exchange, could be destroyed. Again, this doesn't mean launching attacks against North Vietnamese. It just means applying some pressure to a source of supply for their war effort."

SHARED VIEWS

This is the sum total of Goldwater's recommendations for stepping up the war in Southeast Asia. Goldwater did not, repeat, not, urge that A-bombs be substituted for ordinary bombs. Since his proposals are identical with those of Lyndon Johnson's advisers, who have contemplated the alternative of trying to interdict communist supply routes into South Vietnam, any charge of "degenerate" foreign policy must apply to many in the administration as well as to Goldwater. As a matter of fact, Henry Cabot Lodge has also considered the possible necessity of "interdiction" of communist movement based on North Viet Nam. So has Richard Nixon, in stronger words than those used by Goldwater.

In the same San Fernando Valley speech that European papers have ignored, Goldwater warned against putting all our eggs in the "intercontinental ballistic missile basket" for a very humane reason. The ballistic missile, he said, is an "either - or" weapon. "Once you push the button, you are fully committed. Manned bombers, on the other hand, can be called back."

This very responsible and humane reason for retaining the manned bomber ought to appeal to Europeans who are afraid of an "irresponsible" finger on the atomic trigger. But nobody, whether he is European or American, is going to learn very much about Barry Goldwater if he won't listen to what the Senator actually says.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question No. 519: "How would you feel if you were informed who won the election before you had cast your ballot?

"In the California primary on June 2 the GOP candidate was declared the winner at 7:22 p.m. by a major TV network. In San Francisco people were voting, since the polls close at 8:00 p.m. in this city.

"In national elections a similar situation could easily occur — indeed, with our state's large voting bloc to swing a close election, politicians might be tempted to buy votes for a victory.

"Shouldn't the ballot count, partial or otherwise, remain secret until everyone has voted?"

Answer: It seems conceivable that crooked politicians might try to buy enough votes to swing the election the way they want, regardless of whether some results are known in advance.

As a practical matter, it is a little difficult to see how a national sampling, such as the television sampling in the California primary, could show a trend unless it included western states. Thus, it would be difficult to see how a national projection could be made before western states' votes were in. Even in the television projection, there was quite a bit of skepticism about the result at 7:22 which left out the key areas where voting continued until 8 o'clock.

We hope there is no suggestion that a law be passed to prohibit any such projections or reports of eastern votes before all states in the nation have cast their ballots. This would mean nothing could be published until after Hawaii's polls had closed. It also would be further federal intervention into states' authority to run their own elections and would be interfering with the people's right to know what is being done in their governments.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

For several months I have managed to refrain from bragging about my grandchildren but last evening, Vicki, 15 and lovely and frequently insistent on appearing to be helpless and rather slow intellectually, brought something home from school for my edification. Having decided that most boys of her own age are a bit frightened of girls who exhibit signs of rapidly growing intelligence, Vicki is dedicated to the high purpose of not frightening male youngsters. On the other hand, she finds it difficult to keep her understanding of the freedom philosophy under complete control, and her comprehension of my reaction to the material she carefully copies for me makes me feel good. To add to my enjoyment, our middle grandkid, Lynn, darkly lovely in contrast to her sister's blondeness, asked, abruptly, "What's that, Vick?"

Vicki replied, "This crazy four freedoms stuff. You know, we learned about that at our seminar; how we are either free or we are not free."

With equal erudition, Lynn replied, "Oh, sure, I know all about that. Wouldn't you think the darned schools would get some sense into their heads — at least high schools?"

The first item is concerned with a WORLD dedicated to the four freedoms, while the people of this country remain enslaved. It refers to freedom of speech and expression, on a WORLD basis, while being dedicated to a variety of prohibitions against freedom of speech and expression and association.

It refers to freedom from fear, translated into what it calls world terms. It refers to freedom from want, translated into world terms, which is supposed to mean economic understanding which will SECURE to every NATION a peacetime, healthy life for its inhabitants, whether the nations or the inhabitants earn it or not, at the expense of those who do earn and invest.

The propaganda to which victims of the socialist school system are exposed regularly, refers repeatedly to a WORLD ORDER as a method of avoiding the use of the expression world government and the extremist point of view which envisions a world order or world government is no different than the lunatic dreams of paranoiacs who have plagued freedom loving, reasonable human beings throughout the pages of history. The battle between world government socialists, world government communists and world government fascists rages on.

I have just received word of two more proposed private schools in Southern California. The ambitious, clear - thinking people who recognize the fact that totalitarianism may be halted only through private schools, dedicated to the cause of freedom and joyous respectability, are discovering how difficult it is to finance worthwhile endeavors while unthinking people scramble around investing in everything from worthless stocks to hotshot get-rich-quick schemes.

Encouraging private schools, in which students are not plagued by the sub-pagan urge for mass mediocrity, is a task which is almost as difficult as the work of creating each new private school. In some areas oppressive government controls will make it painfully difficult to operate schools on an independent and truly progressive basis. The socialist school system and its minions are fearfully opposed to all competition. The task of finding teachers who are willing to set aside the precepts of the witch doctors to which they have been exposed is monumental. Fortunately, as human beings become reawakened to their absolute right to freedom, the desire to pass the good word becomes a reality and the availability of teachers will become less and less of a problem. In the midst of the many problems, there will also be the problem of teaching the teachers and this will be no small task.

Regardless of the manner in which you go about the important business of encouraging the educational revolution, you will find yourself possessed by a growing enthusiasm and excitement, happily.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

To the Editor:

I believe it is about time that we had a man run for President who stood for eternal principles in spite of h. . . and high waters. I believe such a man could lose the election and yet be of greater service in establishing our nation on a solid foundation of economic solidarity and peace.

I believe that the millions of voters all over the country backed Barry Goldwater because he appeared to be that kind of a man. He attracted his support in spite of the opposition from many old guard Republican leaders, which shows that he has a pulling power with the rank and file voter that no other candidate has had in many years.

If he gives in to the appeal of the old guard and tries to change his present image one whit he cannot possibly win anything. Richard Nixon played his opponent's game and lost by a very small margin. I would hate to think that Goldwater would do the same thing. His opponents now are in his own party and if he cannot be victorious over them at the convention he will not be the winner in November. Let us pray for a man who can give this great nation of ours stability.

Good News From the Hills

By RUFUS L. PORTER

There's good news today for hard rock men; there's action in the gold camp once again. The El Paso, a mine of renown, after two years of being shut down, is going to reopen its shaft and stopes and the new owners have very great hopes of mining a lot of good-grade ore — a few million dollars' worth, or more.

They plan on building a brand new mill somewhere out on Beacon Hill, adjacent to the mine, no doubt, to treat the ore when they hoist it out. The ore is there and if they make it pay, Cripple Creek and Victor are on their way to take their former place, their own, as the greatest gold camp ever known.

Let's toast the new owners — I think we should — they looked on the camp and found it good. And let us all join them in the fight, let's pitch in and help them prove they were right.

It is true, the Great Divide Explorations Limited of Canada has taken up its option on the famous El Paso mine on Beacon Hill, one of the richest hills in the great gold district. The price wasn't made public, but according to rumor, the number of excise tax stamps shows it to be in the neighborhood of $140,000, a goodly sum in these times, when gold is a political orphan in this country, but a small enough price when the past production and the future potential of the mine are considered. And if the gold situation should change for the better — not an improbability in the light of recent developments — the new company will be ready to profit from the change and will be the first to do so.

It takes courage to step into the business of gold production in the United States today, at a time when most of the nation's own producers have given up in discouragement or in plain disgust. But courage and foresight have been the factors that have brought more than one sick industry back to vigorous health. All of us who have known and loved the Cripple Creek - Victor district, through all its good years and bad, hope and pray that the new enterprisers have all the good luck they so richly deserve.

We drove up to Cripple Creek last Friday. That was when we heard the good news about the El Paso. But there are other things afoot in both Cripple Creek and Victor that seem to give the lie to the rumor that they are near ghost towns. In fact, one glance down Bennett Avenue, or Victor Avenue, where even at this early date in the tourist season one finds it difficult to find a parking space, and where new buildings are being erected and new businesses being started almost daily, a stranger is more apt to believe that he is driving into new and thriving communities rather than ones that the calamity howlers have already buried.

Bennett Avenue in Cripple Creek especially shows remarkable activity for a "dead" town. At the corner of East Bennett Avenue and Carbonate (5th) Street, which old timers will remember as the site of the old National Garage, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Moulton have constructed a group of buildings in the old western style which they call "Old Town." This name is appropriate since Carbonate Street was once the dividing line between Old Town and Cripple Creek. The Cripple Creek Museum stands just across Carbonate at the head of Bennett Avenue.

All up and down the avenue buildings have been renovated and remodeled, but kept in the true western style. The bank has certainly had its face lifted, inside and out. Bill Robinson, editor and publisher of the Gold Rush, across the avenue from the bank, has started a launderette in a spare building alongside the paper office. I told him it was a nice clean business and he said, "Then why am I always so dirty?" I didn't know whether he was referring to his personal habits or to some of the jokes he prints in his paper, so I wisely refrained from answering that crack.

Bud Peiffer, new owner of the Cripple Creek Inn, has erected a new "A-frame" building next door to the inn. I didn't get to see Bud to learn what he intends to use it for.

At the western end of Bennett Avenue stands the "Westward Ho" motel and curio shop, started a few years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mentzer, and being added to yearly. This place, like the Moultons', is strictly "old west" in styling.

Gertrude Dial, former owner of the inn, has started a jewelry and novelty shop in the old post office building. "Hattie's" has a new manager. The Grub Stake Theatre is getting ready for a big season. The Homestead on Myers Avenue is as attractive as ever. The Mount Pisgah road has been reconditioned. George Bowman has his famed jeep tours in operation. The Molly Kathleen shaft has been retimbered and given an A-1 rating by the mining commissioner and is getting record crowds for the time of year.

The various gift and antique shops are open as are the good eating places. The same kind of activity is found over in Victor at the east end of camp. I am running out of space, or I would be happy to name them all. Maybe, another time.

I just wanted to prove that, even without the good news about renewed mining in the district, the old camp is far from rolling over and playing dead. You can't keep a good camp down.

Wit and Whimsy

The teacher was trying to make the pupils think, so asked some tricky questions.

"Johnny," said the teacher, "give me an example of nothing."

A sad-looking character was shown into the office of a prominent psychiatrist.

Sad Character: "I've lost all desire to go on, Doctor. Life has become too hectic, too confused."

Doctor (clucking sympathetically): "I understand. We all have our problems. You'll need a year or two of treatment at $50 a week."

There was a pause.

'Better Design' Sought by FHA For Housing

By JOHN PIERSON

Last year, the Federal Housing Administration awarded prizes to 28 properties that had been built with FHA-insured mortgages. These included single-family houses, apartment houses, subdivisions and housing for the elderly.

Now the other housing agencies have decided to get in the act, so there will be awards this year for urban renewal, public housing, direct-loan housing for the elderly, college housing and public facilities, as well as the private housing already recognized by the FHA.

The stepped-up awards reflect U.S. housing chief Robert Weaver's conviction that while the government should not try to dictate in matters of taste, it has a duty to encourage local communities to seek the best in modern planning and design.

In a recent speech at the Harvard Graduate School of Design, Weaver said federal architecture has too long been identified with "monumental monotony."

In the field of high-rise apartments, one reason why government projects stick out like a sore thumb is that for nearly 25 years—1930 to 1955—the government was the only one doing such building.

Now that private builders have entered the field, the Public Housing Administration has the "dubious distinction" of sharing with private enterprise the criticism for dreariness and lack of inspiration, Weaver said.

But that doesn't explain why the public housing projects were so dull to begin with.

The fault lay in "traditional bureaucratic thinking," Weaver said, in the assumption that imagination and innovation equal extravagance and waste. Opposition to the public housing program builds up. The people who are running the program try to stave off the opposition by overly strict controls and "false economy." The result is "far too many uninspired public housing developments."

Lately the Administration has not been taking the opposition lying down.

When federal auditors condemned the Marin City, Calif., public housing project for what they called "extravagant design," use of expensive materials such as tile roofing, and disregard for economy, the public housing people took the issue to Congress and won.

Another more recent example of federal interest in good design was FHA's announcement that it will allow builders to spend one per cent for art in FHA-insured multi-family projects.

Weaver's theory is that if you give a man something that is exciting and beautiful, "his tastes are raised and his demand becomes more discriminating."

Unity and Diversity Is Urged by Warren

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren told the 3,300-member Stanford University graduating class Sunday that the American ideal has been to bring about unity through diversity.

"All true union is the integration of diversity" and America's "pluralistic society is made up of people of diverse races, colors and religions."

The chief justice told the 73rd annual Stanford commencement audience of 12,000, "It has been hard for human beings to learn this lesson, and all through the ages they have paid a price for rejecting it. Group pride, group rapacity, the assertion of superiority, the fear of change, have always fought against it.

"Unity can only be brought about if it exists in the heart and mind of people and if all are accorded equal rights and opportunities."

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — The fast-changing developments in Southeast Asia tend to obscure the fact that in the last few days President Johnson reached a resolute decision on the need for a firm and tough policy to meet the Red threat in that area.

* * *

The late John F. Kennedy
He wanted to take on Barry

This was not an easy decision to reach. There were weeks of seeking out the views of key advisers, of checking and double-checking intelligence information concerning Moscow and Peking intentions.

The tipoff that Johnson had decided on a strong stand, even if it involved the risk of an escalated war, came first in the order for American reconnaissance planes to fly over Laos.

Any doubt that Johnson had decided on a tough policy was erased when the "fire back" order came after two of our reconnaissance craft were shot down.

The presidential decision made because of the increased Communist threat to Southeast Asia, is the most significant since he entered the White House.

It required almost the same kind of lonely soul - searching that was involved in John F. Kennedy's week of groping before his decisive action in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis.

And, it is agreed here by diplomats, the President has now made a commitment which emphasizes his intention of carrying on the same strong U.S. global leadership he inherited from his predecessor. Foreign capitals previously had to guess concerning Johnson's "image" on the world scene. There was some inclination to feel he might be vacillating in a crisis —preferring to try out his "let us reason together" technique even with Hanoi and Peking.

One of the reasons Johnson's stance on the hard-core policy problem in Southeast Asia had appeared uncertain was because the problem of Viet Nam appeared the crux of the controversy.

REDS' ACTION IN LAOS ADDED A NEW DIMENSION

And decisions made concerning the growing crisis in South Viet Nam left the impression that no big policy shift was planned. Out of the Honolulu huddle of our military brass, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Defense Secretary McNamara, there came no big surprises.

More military and economic aid, more GI "advisor units," of course, but definitely no threat to carry the war into North Viet Nam.

What was lost sight of was that a new dimension had been added to the critical Southeast Asia situation by the May 16 aggressive action of the Pathet Lao in ostensibly neutral Laos.

It was never said so plainly here, publicly at least, but the Red military activity in Laos convinced the administration that Peking was pulling strings for a broad envelopment which would endanger all of Southeast Asia.

Infiltration moves confined to South Viet Nam could perhaps be handled more cautiously, but a widened threat posed an entirely new and much more emergency type problem.

Johnson's decision that a strong U.S. response was required was strickly his own. It is leaking no secret to report that among his advisers there was great — and bitter — disagreement.

PRESIDENT STUDIED MISHMASH OF OPINIONS

There were those who urged that Johnson refrain from any display of U.S military strength until the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, nations huddled. Others wanted the whole problem kicked over to the United Nations.

There were differing intelligence estimates on how Hanoi or Peking would react — and warnings that the schism between Moscow and Peking might be healed if we acted forcefully.

Out of this mishmash of opintary and foreign policy experts, Johnson had to reach his own decision. It was his responsibility alone, and in the last few weeks it has been evident that the search for the right decision weighed him down.

This gave rise to such ludicrous reports as that the President had decided to act "dignified" — that he had decided he preferred that kind of "image," not the homey one of a Texas extrovert, bounding around shaking hands and pulling dog's ears.

The truth, of course, was that he was immersed in tackling a most grave problem, one involving national security. There was the natural temptation to lean toward a compromise approach — to let more developments occur before deciding to act positively.

Goldwater Dinner Is Staged in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas Republicans poured into Dallas today for a $100-a-plate dinner honoring Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and a convention due to pledge him the state's 56 GOP delegates.

"The great state of Texas will give Sen. Goldwater the 56 votes that will put him beyond the magic number of 655 and will give him a first roll call victory for the Republican nomination for president." State Chairman Peter O'Donnell said.

Joining O'Donnell in predicting a Goldwater victory at the national republican convention July 13 in San Francisco was was John Tower, Texas' first Republican senator since Reconstruction days.

Tower discounted the entry of Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania into the GOP presidential nomination race. He said Goldwater should win because he will be "firstest with the mostest."

Tower also asserted that many Texans have "become disenchanted" with President Johnson and predicted that Goldwater has a good chance of carrying several Southern states, including Texas.

Army-Air Force War Games Cost $54 Million

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent Army-Air Force war games in the Far West cost about $54 million and were the most costly since World War II, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told this was the price tag on Desert Strike, a two-week mock war in which some 100,000 Army troops and Air Force units dueled over areas of California, Arizona and Nevada last month.

The Defense Department said it originally had been calculated the exercise would cost $60.1 million, but that various economies had sliced about $6 million from that estimate.

By comparison, "Exercise Big Lift" last fall cost 20 million. In this operation, the 16,000 men of an armored division were flown 5,600 miles from Texas to Germany and returned after maneuvers near the Iron Curtain.

The Pentagon said "the major contributing factor to the cost of joint exercise Desert Strike was the commercial transportation of the armored units and their heavy equipment to and from the exercise area."

Two armored divisions — the 1st and 2nd — were moved by train from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the three-state battleground. Armored divisions have about 3,750 vehicles, including 364 tanks and 660 personnel carriers.

Also involved in Desert Strike were an armored brigade of the California National Guard and a tank battalion from Ft. Campbell, Ky., in Air Force planes the 5th Mechanized Intantry Division came from Colorado and various smaller Army and Air Force units were drawn from as far away as the East Coast.

The cost of moving Army forces by commercial means, where this was done, was estimated at $27.9 million.

Asked why Desert Strike was considered worth the outlay of funds, the Pentagon cited these reasons, among others:

—"It is the first time since World War II that we have been able to get two armored divisions into an exercise maneuver area in the United States where they could operate as freely as required for proper armor field training.

—"The exercise also gave us a chance to simulate realistically the employment of tactical nuclear weapons. This let us better explore tactical use of nuclear weapons in a limited war situation.

— "Joint exercise Desert Strike was not only a thorough test of men and equipment, but also an ideal opportunity to test and further improve several operational concepts for joint air-ground operations we have been developing and improving over the past several years."

'Better Design' Sought by FHA For Housing

By JOHN PIERSON

Last year, the Federal Housing Administration awarded prizes to 28 properties that had been built with FHA-insured mortgages. These included single-family houses, apartment houses, subdivisions and housing for the elderly.

Now the other housing agencies have decided to get in the act, so there will be awards this year for urban renewal, public housing, direct-loan housing for the elderly, college housing and public facilities, as well as the private housing already recognized by the FHA.

The stepped-up awards reflect U.S. housing chief Robert Weaver's conviction that while the government should not try to dictate in matters of taste, it has a duty to encourage local communities to seek the best in modern planning and design.

In a recent speech at the Harvard Graduate School of Design, Weaver said federal architecture has too long been identified with "monumental monotony."

In the field of high-rise apartments, one reason why government projects stick out like a sore thumb is that for nearly 25 years—1930 to 1955—the government was the only one doing such building.

Now that private builders have entered the field, the Public Housing Administration has the "dubious distinction" of sharing with private enterprise the criticism for dreariness and lack of inspiration, Weaver said.

But that doesn't explain why the public housing projects were so dull to begin with.

The fault lay in "traditional bureaucratic thinking," Weaver said, in the assumption that imagination and innovation equal extravagance and waste. Opposition to the public housing program builds up. The people who are running the program try to stave off the opposition by overly strict controls and "false economy." The result is "far too many uninspired public housing developments."

Lately the Administration has not been taking the opposition lying down.

When federal auditors condemned the Marin City, Calif., public housing project for what they called "extravagant design," use of expensive materials such as tile roofing, and disregard for economy, the public housing people took the issue to Congress and won.

Another more recent example of federal interest in good design was FHA's announcement that it will allow builders to spend one per cent for art in FHA-insured multi-family projects.

Weaver's theory is that if you give a man something that is exciting and beautiful, "his tastes are raised and his demand becomes more discriminating."

Unity and Diversity Is Urged by Warren

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren told the 3,300-member Stanford University graduating class Sunday that the American ideal has been to bring about unity through diversity.

"All true union is the integration of diversity" and America's "pluralistic society is made up of people of diverse races, colors and religions."

The chief justice told the 73rd annual Stanford commencement audience of 12,000, "It has been hard for human beings to learn this lesson, and all through the ages they have paid a price for rejecting it. Group pride, group rapacity, the assertion of superiority, the fear of change, have always fought against it.

"Unity can only be brought about if it exists in the heart and mind of people and if all are accorded equal rights and opportunities."

WASHINGTON — The fast-changing developments in Southeast Asia tend to obscure the fact that in the last few days President Johnson reach-

The late John F. Kennedy
He wanted to take on Barry

ed a resolute decision on the need for a firm and tough policy to meet the Red threat in that area.

This was not an easy decision to reach. There were weeks of seeking out the views of key advisers, of checking and double-checking intelligence information concerning Moscow and Peking intentions.

The tipoff that Johnson had decided on a strong stand, even if it involved the risk of an escalated war, came first in the order for American reconnaissance planes to fly over Laos.

Any doubt that Johnson had decided on a tough policy was erased when the "fire back" order came after two of our reconnaissance craft were shot down.

The presidential decision made because of the increased Communist threat to Southeast Asia, is the most significant since he entered the White House.

It required almost the same kind of lonely soul - searching that was involved in John F. Kennedy's week of groping before his decisive action in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis.

And, it is agreed here by diplomats, the President has now made a commitment which emphasizes his intention of carrying on the same strong U.S. global leadership he inherited from his predecessor. Foreign capitals previously had to guess concerning Johnson's "image" on the world scene. There was some inclination to feel he might be vacillating in a crisis —preferring to try out his "let us reason together" technique even with Hanoi and Peking.

One of the reasons Johnson's stance on the hard-core policy problem in Southeast Asia had appeared uncertain was because the problem of Viet Nam appeared the crux of the controversy.

REDS' ACTION IN LAOS ADDED A NEW DIMENSION

And decisions made concerning the growing crisis in South Viet Nam left the impression that no big policy shift was planned. Out of the Honolulu huddle of our military brass, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Defense Secretary McNamara, there came no big surprises.

More military and economic aid, more GI "advisor units," of course, but definitely no threat to carry the war into North Viet Nam.

What was lost sight of was that a new dimension had been added to the critical Southeast Asia situation by the May 16 aggressive action of the Pathet Lao in ostensibly neutral Laos.

It was never said so plainly here, publicly at least, but the Red military activity in Laos convinced the administration that Peking was pulling strings for a broad envelopment which would endanger all of Southeast Asia.

Infiltration moves confined to South Viet Nam could perhaps be handled more cautiously, but a widened threat posed an entirely new and much more emergency type problem.

Johnson's decision that a strong U.S. response was required was strickly his own. It is leaking no secret to report that among his advisers there was great — and bitter — disagreement.

PRESIDENT STUDIED MISHMASH OF OPINIONS

There were those who urged that Johnson refrain from any display of U.S military strength until the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, nations huddled. Others wanted the whole problem kicked over to the United Nations.

There were differing intelligence estimates on how Hanoi or Peking would react — and warnings that the schism between Moscow and Peking might be healed if we acted forcefully.

Out of this mishmash of opinitary and foreign policy experts, Johnson had to reach his own decision. It was his responsibility alone, and in the last few weeks it has been evident that the search for the right decision weighed him down.

This gave rise to such ludicrous reports as that the President had decided to act "dignified" — that he had decided he preferred that kind of "image," not the homey one of a Texas extrovert, bounding around shaking hands and pulling dog's ears.

The truth, of course, was that he was immersed in tackling a most grave problem, one involving national security. There was the natural temptation to lean toward a compromise approach — to let more developments occur before deciding to act positively.

Goldwater Dinner Is Staged in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas Republicans poured into Dallas today for a $100-a-plate dinner honoring Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and a convention due to pledge him the state's 56 GOP delegates.

"The great state of Texas will give Sen. Goldwater the 56 votes that will put him beyind the magic number of 655 and will give him a first roll call victory for the Republican nomination for president," State Chairman Peter O'Donnell said.

Joining O'Donnell in predicting a Goldwater victory at the national republican convention July 13 in San Francisco was was John Tower, Texas' first Republican senator since Reconstruction days.

Tower discounted the entry of Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania into the GOP presidential nomination race. He said Goldwater should win because he will be "firstest with the mostest."

Tower also asserted that many Texans have "become disenchanted" with President Johnson and predicted that Goldwater has a good chance of carrying several Southern states, including Texas.

Army-Air Force War Games Cost $54 Million

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent Army-Air Force war games in the Far West cost about $54 million and were the most costly since World War II, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told this was the price tag on Desert Strike, a two-week mock war in which some 100,000 Army troops and Air Force units dueled over areas of California, Arizona and Nevada last month.

The Defense Department said it originally had been calculated the exercise would cost $60.1 million, but that various economies had sliced about $6 million from that estimate.

By comparison, "Exercise Big Lift" last fall cost 20 million. In this operation, the 16,000 men of an armored division were flown 5,600 miles from Texas to Germany and returned after maneuvers near the Iron Curtain.

The Pentagon said "the major contributing factor to the cost of joint exercise Desert Strike was the commercial transportation of the armored units and their heavy equipment to and from the exercise area."

Two armored divisions — the 1st and 2nd — were moved by train from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the three-state battleground. Armored divisions have about 3,750 vehicles, including 364 tanks and 660 personnel carriers.

Also involved in Desert Strike were an armored brigade of the California National Guard and a tank battalion from Ft. Campbell, Ky., in Air Force planes the 5th Mechanized Intantry Division came from Colarado and various smaller Army and Air Force units were drawn from as far away as the East Coast.

The cost of moving Army forces by commercial means, where this was done, was estimated at $27.9 million.

Asked why Desert Strike was considered worth the outlay of funds, the Pentagon cited these reasons, among others:

—"It is the first time since World War II that we have been able to get two armored divisions into an exercise maneuver area in the United States where they could operate as freely as required for proper armor field training.

—"The exercise also gave us a chance to simulate realistically the employment of tactical nuclear weapons. This let us better explore tactical use of nuclear weapons in a limited war situation.

— "Joint exercise Desert Strike was not only a thorough test of men and equipment, but also an ideal opportunity to test and further improve several operational concepts for joint air-ground operations we have been developing and improving over the past several years."

Nikita Begins Big Tour of Scandinavia

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev headed for Copenhagen today, starting an 18-day Scandinavian tour during which he is expected to plug for a ban on nuclear weapons in the countries he is visiting as well as central Europe.

Accompanied by his wife, Nina, and a party of Soviet officials, Khrushchev left Moscow by train Sunday night. He will board a ship today at Kaliningrad and is due in the Danish capital Tuesday morning.

A cheering crowd of Muscovites saw the 70-year-old Soviet leader off on his third foreign trip in three months. Khrushchev visited Hungary in April and the United Arab Republic in May.

As he tours Denmark, Norway and Sweden, Khrushchev probably will try again to crack the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's northern defense ring by asking the Scandinavian countries to join in turning the Baltic into a sea of peace.

Khrushchev has often urged a ban on nuclear weapons in central Europe and Scandinavia. He has been particularly anxious to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to West Germany, NATO member. Nuclear weapons also would be banned from Communist East Germany under Khrushchev's proposal.

Although there is considerable anti-nuclear sentiment in Scandinavia, NATO members Denmark and Norway have been unwilling to act independently of their Atlantic alliance partners on the nuclear-free zone.

Neutral Sweden officially supported a nuclear-free central and northern Europe as far back as two years ago. It has always insisted on firm controls to prevent cheating.

Khrushchev will spend six days in each country, ending his tour in Sweden July 4.

Various groups in each country have indicted degrees of opposition to the visit. A Swedish organization plans to hold public protest meetings. Its members include many exiles from the formerly independent Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, annexed by the Soviet Union after World War II.

Prospects for the Swedish visit also have been clouded by the conviction last week of Swedish air force Col. Stig Wenerstrom for spying for the Soviet Union. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Cuba Charges Trouble At Guantanamo Base

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa says his country will take "fitting" measures against attacks on Cuban soldiers by U.S. guards at the Guantanamo Naval Base.

The government last week made public Roa's protest over the alleged wounding of a Cuban soldier by U.S. sentries at Guantanamo last week.

The U.S. Defense Department has denied the charge and suggested the Cuban may have been shot by Fidel Castro's own troops hunting rebels.

In a note to the U.S. State Department sent through the Czechoslovakia Embassy in Washington, Roa said the Guantanamo sentries opened fire six times Tuesday night and at one point threw a spotlight on the Cubans.

Stassen Continues His Lonely Campaign

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Harold E. Stassen, pressing his lonely campaign for the presidential nomination, told Virginia Republicans here that efforts to stampede delegates to the national convention should be rebuffed and rejected.

"An open thorough consideration of policies and programs and personalities should be carried forward right to the national convention," Stassen told Virginia's state GOP convention which is choosing 10 at large delegates to the national convention.

Stassen, the onetime boy-wonder of Minnesota and disarmament adviser in the Eisenhower administration, did not mention in his prepared remarks Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's entrance into the GOP race Friday.

El Paso Democrats Launch Election Activities Tonight

By GLENN URBAN
Gazette Telegraph
Political Writer

El Paso County Democrats officially launch their election year activities tonight.

Precinct caucuses will be held in each of the county's 76 precincts tonight as the first step in a series of activities that lead to the National Democratic Convention, scheduled to open in Atlantic City on Aug. 24. Following is a list of the Democratic activities for this county and the districts it is in.

County conventon and assembly — June 27 in the El Paso county courthouse, beginning at 10 a.m.

Third Congressional District convention and assembly — July 11 in the Continental Hotel in Pueblo.

State convention and assembly — July 18 in the Denver Hilton Hotel.

At the precinct meetings, precinct committee men and women will be elected (or reelected, as the case may be) and delegates to the convention and assembly, and others are elected on the basis of the number of votes the precinct cast for the Democratic candidate for governor in 1962.

At the county meeting, delegates and alternates to the Third Congressional District, Fourth Judicial District and state meetings will be named.

Other activities at the county convention will include naming and approving candidates for office.

This is an off year for many offices. For instance, neither U. S. Senator is up for reelection this year. Also governor and lieutenant governor, and other top elected officials in the state, will not be up for election again until 1966, having been up in 1962.

Most county offices also were filled two years ago by election and so will not be at issue in this election year.

These offices for which El Paso County citizens may vote in the general election are to be filled this year:

— One member of the El Paso Board of County Commissioners.

— Two county court judges.

— Five representatives from the county to the Colorado House of Representatives.

— One senator from El Paso county to the Colorado Senate.

— Two district court judges from the Fourth Judicial District.

— One representative from the Third Congressional District to the U. S. House of Representatives.

— On the state level, one Colorado Supreme Court Judge and one member of the Colorado University Board of Regents must be chosen. Democratic nominees for these jobs will be named at the state convention.

The Republican Party has candidates for all those offices, and in cases has more candidates that can be on the ballot in the general election. The list will be trimmed in the Colorado primary election, set for Sept. 8. Both parties will hold their primary elections that date.

If the Democrats will be able to field a full ticket is not yet known.

At the state level, party-wise, the Democrats must also name a national committeeman and woman and delegates and alternates to the national covention.

The two present representatives to the Democratic National committee are expected to be re-elected at the state convention. They are:

— Former Gov. McNichols, who was elected in 1963 to serve out the unexpired term of Maurice Leckenby who at one time was an official in McNichol's administration. Leckenby died last year.

McNichols defeated former State Chairman Fred Betz of Lamar for the post. Betz is best known locally, perhaps, as the court appointed trustee who is trying to straighten out the affairs of the Joe Newcomer Finance Co. and get it back into business.

— Mrs. Jean Graham of Denver area. Mrs. Graham was first elected in 1961 and was appointed to the party's Executive Committee by National Democratic Chairman John Bailey of Connecticut.

Naming of the committeeman and woman and the delegates and alternates is not expected to be as spectacular a show at the Democratic meeting as it was at the Republican meeting on June 6 in Pueblo.

Witnesses To Present Film at Lamar

Duffield Jones, 2303 W. Willamette Ave., presiding minister of the West-Side Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, said today that a free two-hour color film will be presented Saturday as a special feature of the three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses scheduled for this weekend in Lamar. The film is entitled, "Proclaiming 'Everlasting Good News' Around the World."

According to Jones, the film was produced by the Watch Tower Society as part of the around-the-world series of assemblies held from June 30 to Sept. 8, 1963. Over 580,000 persons from 161 lands attended the 24 conventions in principal cities of the U.S.A., Europe, Asia, Australia and the Islands of the Pacific.

"This film is not just a travelogue," Jones said, "although it shows scenes in 22 countries and 35 cities and many highlights of this unusual assembly. Its theme draws on the basic influences at work in our modern civilization that are undermining the morals and the spirituality of people in all nations and all walks of life."

The showing in Lamar is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Lamar Community Building.

"Three or four hundred persons from Colorado Springs," Jones said, "are expected to take in this feature, as well as other features, of the three-day assembly in Lamar."

Manitou Water Engineers Urge Large Bond Issue

Water engineers hired by the City of Manitou Springs recommend issuance of an additional $100,000 in water bonds.

The engineers, R. W. Beck and Associates, Denver, said the additional bond issue would make possible "badly needed improvements such as replacing inadequate sized pipe, loop connections and setting pipe lower to prevent freezing."

Last week city officials signed $250,000 in water bonds. They will be sold and the money invested until needed for improving the water system.

The Beck report said that only $225,000 of the $250,000 would be available after subtracting their fee, contingent expenses, escrowed interest and bond expense.

This is "not sufficient to complete construction of . . . recommended improvements. . having a total construction cost of $245,000," the report said.

The largest chunk of the $245,000 was recommended for two storage tanks with piping and equipment for:

—A two - million - gallon tank for $110,000 near the present leaky settler.

—One - million - gallon tank in East Manitou for $66,000.

Beck recommended the East Manitou tank "to assure adequate fire flow and alleviate some of the problems occurring in this area." Without the tank, the report said, "It would be virtually impossible to obtain the fire flows required."

The engineer's report said: "It is our understanding that the city has entered into an agreement with the developer in the East Manitou area whereby the developer will be required to provide adequate water - storage for the area to be developed. It will be to the city's advantage to construct the East Manitou Reservoir jointly with the developer. . ."

Mayor L. L. Longaker said that Beck's estimates were the maximum expected from bidders.

He said that recent findings by Beck might shave $15,000 off the $245,000 estimate. This would eliminate the cost of laying a 10 - inch pipe from Chelton Road to the East Manitou tank.

Beck reported that a 10 - inch pipe has already been laid by the City of Colorado Springs and "turned over to Manitou Springs."

Beck said a recommendation for a storage tank in North Manitou was excluded because of the uncertainty of the "exact route" of the U.S. 24 relocation through part of "Little Switzerland."

The report said it would be cheaper per gallon to construct one five - million - tank instead of the two smaller ones they recommended.

A five - million - gallon tank would cost approximately $245,000 or $49 per 1,000 gallons, compared with about $55 per 1,000 for a two-million gallon tank, according to the Beck report.

"The cost per 1,000 gallons of storage does not decrease with the size of the reservoir as rapidly as might be expected due to the costs of grading and excavation associated with the proposed site," the report pointed out.

Chairman Floyd Lee will meet today with his city council water committee to consider the engineer's recommendations.

Acceptance of a water system improvement program would have to be at a regular or special council meeting.

Manitou Driver Signs to Run In Hill Climb

Pat Livingston of Manitou Springs, one of this area's most promising young sports car drivers, tossed his hat into the ring and will compete in the July 4th running of the 42nd annual Pikes Peak Auto Hill Climb.

The six - foot, 200 - pound, 21 - year - old rookie joins such noted drivers as Indianapolis winner Parnelli Jones, Al and Louis J. Unser and Al Daniels in the fold for the "richest race per mile in the world today." The purse already tops the $20,000 mark.

Livingston, an El Paso County highway department employe, will make his debut in the 12.42 mile "race to the clouds" in a 1963 Sting Ray Corvette coupe entered by Leo Kolman of Colorado Springs. It is sponsored by Krazy - Kat, Inc., the Colorado Springs teenage night club. Preparing the car is Arman Palomba of Colorado Springs, one of the top sports car mechanics in the state.

A graduate of Manitou Springs High School, Livingston is the youngest driver entered for the famed Independence Day Classic. However, he is not a novice as far as hill climbs go, as he has raced at Mt. Buckhorn, Estes Park, Burke Springs and Canon City, where he was second overall.

Livingston scored a first in class win at Calhan last April 28 as well as breaking the track record for his class in a timed event. Last year, he recorded a second and fourth in class at Calhan; a fourth in class at Estes Park; and a third in class at Aurora.

He hopes to gain enough experience in his first Hill climb race to be a strong contender next year.

Tourists Worth $500 Million To Colorado

Tourists are worth $400 to $500 million a year to Colorado. That is the report by Paul A. Yetter, president of the Colorado Visitors Bureau, in the current issue of the Colorado Business Review.

The Review is published monthly by the University of Colorado Bureau of Business Research. The major article in the current issue is a speech by Yetter at a conference on leisure time sponsored by the National Colorado Councils of Churches.

People at leisure represent about 10 per cent of the state's total income from all sources, according to Yetter.

"Money brought into Colorado by people at leisure is nearly double the salaries earned by those engaged in agriculture, and substantially more than the total government payroll in our state," Yetter noted.

In discussing the economics of leisure in general, Yetter noted the average man today has 73.5 leisure hours a week. "The significance of all this is that people are using this extra time to pursue activities which have an economic impact," he said.

People at leisure are visiting more local, state and federal parks and are buying more tents, trailers and camping equipment. Industries dealing with participant sports have grown dramatically, he said. For example, there were 6,325 bowling establishments in 1960 and 10,610 in 1962. There were 131,000 boats sold in 1960 and 226,000 sold in 1962. Fishermen spent $2,800 billion in 1960. Golf courses have a $45 million yearly payroll and hotels and resorts spent $22.7 million on advertising in 1962.

Yetter said that Americans spent $16 billion in 1950 in leisure activities and "the result of all of this is a very tangible 'shot in the arm' for our nation's economy."

There are numerous postal patrons who never realize till it's too late that invitations, announcements, and cards cause woes. These items can bring frustration and additional expense to the mailer.

In an effort to clarify the postage requirements and avoid "postage due" on envelopes or cards, an adoption of a suggestion made by a local employe was recently put into effect.

Postal Clerk Eugene R. Manfrin, Rt. 4, submitted an employe's suggestion for a visual display to be used in the lobby of the Main Post Office and the various Post Office Stations in the Springs area.

This graphic chart visually illustrates the various types of mail and the postage requirements for first class and air mail, both domestic and foreign.

Postmaster R. H. Wardwell emphasizes that all classes of mail carrying the proper rate of postage and properly prepared for mailing must be handled by the Post Office in accordance with Postal Regulations. This advice is offered due to the fact that numerous postage due first class material has been sent out from the Main Post Office.

Insufficient postage requires the mail to be marked - up for collection by the recipient, or the mail is returned to the sender. If no return address is used there can be no return. There generally is a subsequent delay at both the sending and receiving end.

Wardwell reiterates the fact that as far as post office employes are concerned, everyone in the service is expected to contribute whatever he can to the success of weddings, showers, receptions, and other events. He uses as an example, shower invitations, birthday invitations, and thank - you notes.

If these are entirely printed, mimeographed, duplicated or otherwise wholly produced by machine process, they may be mailed in unsealed envelopes or in sealed envelopes endorsed "third class" at the third class rate of four cents each. This type of mail is not forwardable and cannot be returned even though a return address is written thereon.

If, however, the date, hour, place, or other pertinent information is shown in handprinting, handwriting, or typewriting, the first class rate of postage - five cents per ounce - must be applied regardless of whether the invitations are in sealed or unsealed envelopes.

It is strongly recommended that a return address be placed on all envelopes bearing first class postage. If undeliverable it will be returned to the sender.

The illustration accompanying this article depicts the majority of the various first class and air mail postage requirements on letters and cards, both domestic and foreign. Oversize post cards require a five cent postage stamp since this type of card exceeds the limitations set by the Post Office Department for four cent postage.

As for air mail envelopes, they should never be used unless the sender desires air mail service.

The colorful red and blue bordered envelopes are restricted to mail intended for transportation by air. If this restriciton is not observed there is potential trouble and embarassment for everyone. Air Mail envelopes not having sufficient postage are handled as air mail and postage due is collected from the addressee.

When prepared by the distributor for return by surface mail, business reply mail may not be accepted for return by air unless postage is fully prepaid at the air mail rate.

Further information about mailing matter of any kind may be obtained by phoning 632-8841.

Colleges Receive Large Sums From Business

Business and industry have contributed more than a half-million dollars to the Associated Colleges of Colorado in the past eight years.

The association reported it has received $91,123 in gifts from last July 1 ... bringing total contributions to $512,461 since 1956.

"We naturally are gratified by the way business and industry have responded with their dollars," said Dr. Lloyd E. Worner, president of Colorado College and this year president of the Associated Colleges of Colorado.

"But even more," Worner said, "we have been heartened by the real concern expressed by our business leaders for maintaining strong and independent liberal arts education in Colorado."

The Associated Colleges of Colorado movement has grown from $18,241 from 15 contributors the first year, to $94,300 from 190 donors last year.

Associated Colleges of Colorado represents Colorado College, Colorado Woman's College, Loretto Heights College and Regis College. The four private liberal arts colleges have student bodies totaling more than 4,000.

Established in 1956, the Associated Colleges of Colorado is a co - operative program providing a channel for distribution of corporate philanthropic support for the four member colleges.

At the four institutions, each college is paying an average of one - third of the cost of the education of each student enrolled. This cost must come from endowment and voluntary gifts.

Sister Eileen Marie, president of Loretto Heights College, will become president of the association July 1 for a one - year term. The presidency rotates among the four association members.

El Paso Democrats Launch Election Activities Tonight

By GLENN URBAN
Gazette Telegraph
Political Writer

El Paso County Democrats officially launch their election year activities tonight.

Precinct caucuses will be held in each of the county's 76 precincts tonight as the first step in a series of activities that lead to the National Democratic Convention, scheduled to open in Atlantic City on Aug. 24. Following is a list of the Democratic activities for this county and the districts it is in.

County conventon and assembly — June 27 in the El Paso county courthouse, beginning at 10 a.m.

Third Congressional District convention and assembly — July 11 in the Continental Hotel in Pueblo.

State convention and assembly — July 18 in the Denver Hilton Hotel.

At the precinct meetings, precinct committee men and women will be elected (or reelected, as the case may be) and delegates to the convention and assembly, and others are elected on the basis of the number of votes the precinct cast for the Democratic candidate for governor in 1962.

At the county meeting, delegates and alternates to the Third Congressional District, Fourth Judicial District and state meetings will be named.

Other activities at the county convention will include naming and approving candidates for office.

This is an off year for many offices. For instance, neither U. S. Senator is up for reelection this year. Also governor and lieutenant governor, and other top elected officials in the state, will not be up for election again until 1966, having been up in 1962.

Most county offices also were filled two years ago by election and so will not be at issue in this election year.

These offices for which El Paso County citizens may vote in the general election are to be filled this year:

— One member of the El Paso Board of County Commissioners.

— Two county court judges.

— Five representatives from the county to the Colorado House of Representatives.

— One senator from El Paso county to the Colorado Senate.

— Two district court judges from the Fourth Judicial District.

— One representative from the Third Congressional District to the U. S. House of Representatives.

— On the state level, one Colorado Supreme Court Judge and one member of the Colorado University Board of Regents must be chosen. Democratic nominees for these jobs will be named at the state convention.

The Republican Party has candidates for all those offices, and in cases has more candidates that can be on the ballot in the general election. The list will be trimmed in the Colorado primary election, set for Sept. 8. Both parties will hold their primary elections that date.

If the Democrats will be able to field a full ticket is not yet known.

At the state level, party-wise, the Democrats must also name a national committeeman and woman and delegates and alternates to the national covention.

The two present representatives to the Democratic National committee are expected to be re-elected at the state convention. They are:

— Former Gov. McNichols, who was elected in 1963 to serve out the unexpired term of Maurice Leckenby who at one time was an official in McNichol's administration. Leckenby died last year.

McNichols defeated former State Chairman Fred Betz of Lamar for the post. Betz is best known locally, perhaps, as the court appointed trustee who is trying to straighten out the affairs of the Joe Newcomer Finance Co. and get it back into business.

— Mrs. Jean Graham of Denver area. Mrs. Graham was first elected in 1961 and was appointed to the party's Executive Committee by National Democratic Chairman John Bailey of Connecticut.

Naming of the committeeman and woman and the delegates and alternates is not expected to be as spectacular a show at the Democratic meeting as it was at the Republican meeting on June 6 in Pueblo.

Witnesses To Present Film at Lamar

Duffield Jones, 2303 W. Willamette Ave., presiding minister of the West-Side Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, said today that a free two-hour color film will be presented Saturday as a special feature of the three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses scheduled for this weekend in Lamar. The film is entitled, "Proclaiming 'Everlasting Good News' Around the World."

According to Jones, the film was produced by the Watch Tower Society as part of the around-the-world series of assemblies held from June 30 to Sept. 8, 1963. Over 580,000 persons from 161 lands attended the 24 conventions in principal cities of the U.S.A., Europe, Asia, Australia and the Islands of the Pacific.

"This film is not just a travelogue," Jones said, "although it shows scenes in 22 countries and 36 cities and many highlights of this unusual assembly. Its theme draws on the basic influences at work in our modern civilization that are undermining the morale and the spirituality of people in all nations and all walks of life."

The showing in Lamar is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Lamar Community Building.

"Three or four hundred persons from Colorado Springs," Jones said, "are expected to take in this feature, as well as other features, of the three-day assembly in Lamar."

Manitou Water Engineers Urge Large Bond Issue

Water engineers hired by the City of Manitou Springs recommend issuance of an additional $100,000 in water bonds.

The engineers, R. W. Beck and Associates, Denver, said the additional bond issue would make possible "badly needed improvements such as replacing inadequate sized pipe, loop connections and setting pipe lower to prevent freezing."

Last week city officials signed $250,000 in water bonds. They will be sold and the money invested until needed for improving the water system.

The Beck report said that only $225,000 of the $250,000 would be available after subtracting their fee, contingent expenses, escrowed interest and bond expense.

This is "not sufficient to complete construction of . . . recommended improvements. . having a total construction cost of $245,000," the report said.

The largest chunk of the $245,000 was recommended for two storage tanks with piping and equipment for:

—A two - million - gallon tank for $110,000 near the present leaky settler.

—One - million - gallon tank in East Manitou for $66,000.

Beck recommended the East Manitou tank "to assure adequate fire flow and alleviate some of the problems occurring in this area." Without the tank, the report said, "It would be virtually impossible to obtain the fire flows required."

The engineer's report said: "It is our understanding that the city has entered into an agreement with the developer in the East Manitou area whereby the developer will be required to provide adequate water - storage for the area to be developed. It will be to the city's advantage to construct the East Manitou Reservoir jointly with the developer. . ."

Mayor L. L. Longaker said that Beck's estimates were the maximum expected from bidders.

He said that recent findings by Beck might shave $15,000 off the $245,000 estimate. This would eliminate the cost of laying a 10 - inch pipe from Chelton Road to the East Manitou tank.

Beck reported that a 10 - inch pipe has already been laid by the City of Colorado Springs and "turned over to Manitou Springs."

Beck said a recommendation for a storage tank in North Manitou was excluded because of the uncertainty of the "exact route" of the U.S. 24 relocation through part of "Little Switzerland."

The report said it would be cheaper per gallon to construct one five - million - tank instead of the two smaller ones they recommended.

A five - million - gallon tank would cost approximately $245,000 or $49 per 1,000 gallons, compared with about $55 per 1,000 for a two-million gallon tank, according to the Beck report.

"The cost per 1,000 gallons of storage does not decrease with the size of the reservoir as rapidly as might be expected due to the costs of grading and excavation associated with the proposed site," the report pointed out.

Chairman Floyd Lee will meet today with his city council water committee to consider the engineer's recommendations.

Acceptance of a water system improvement program would have to be at a regular or special council meeting.

Manitou Driver Signs to Run In Hill Climb

Pat Livingston of Manitou Springs, one of this area's most promising young sports car drivers, tossed his hat into the ring and will compete in the July 4th running of the 42nd annual Pikes Peak Auto Hill Climb.

The six - foot, 200 - pound, 21 - year - old rookie joins such noted drivers as Indianapolis winner Parnelli Jones, Al and Louis J. Unser and Al Daniels in the fold for the "richest race per mile in the world today." The purse already tops the $20,000 mark.

Livingston, an El Paso County highway department employe, will make his debut in the 12.42 mile "race to the clouds" in a 1963 Sting Ray Corvette coupe entered by Leo Kolman of Colorado Springs. It is sponsored by Krazy - Kat, Inc., the Colorado Springs teenage night club. Preparing the car is Arman Palomba of Colorado Springs, one of the top sports car mechanics in the state.

A graduate of Manitou Springs High School, Livingston is the youngest driver entered for the famed Independence Day Classic. However, he is not a novice as far as hill climbs go, as he has raced at Mt. Buckhorn, Estes Park, Burke Springs and Canon City, where he was second overall.

Livingston scored a first in class win at Calhan last April 28 as well as breaking the track record for his class in a timed event. Last year, he recorded a second and fourth in class at Calhan; a fourth in class at Estes Park; and a third in class at Aurora.

He hopes to gain enough experience in his first Hill climb race to be a strong contender next year.

Tourists Worth $500 Million To Colorado

Tourists are worth $400 to $500 million a year to Colorado. That is the report by Paul A. Yetter, president of the Colorado Visitors Bureau, in the current issue of the Colorado Business Review.

The Review is published monthly by the University of Colorado Bureau of Business Research. The major article in the current issue is a speech by Yetter at a conference on leisure time sponsored by the National Colorado Councils of Churches.

People at leisure represent about 10 per cent of the state's total income from all sources, according to Yetter.

"Money brought into Colorado by people at leisure is nearly double the salaries earned by those engaged in agriculture, and substantially more than the total government payroll in our state," Yetter noted.

In discussing the economics of leisure in general, Yetter noted the average man today has 73.5 leisure hours a week. "The significance of all this is that people are using this extra time to pursue activities which have an economic impact," he said.

People at leisure are visiting more local, state and federal parks and are buying more tents, trailers and camping equipment. Industries dealing with participant sports have grown dramatically, he said. For example, there were 6,325 bowling establishments in 1950 and 10,610 in 1962. There were 131,000 boats sold in 1950 and 226,000 sold in 1962. Fishermen spent $2,690 billion in 1960. Golf coarses have a $45 million yearly payroll and hotels and resorts spent $22.7 million on advertising in 1962.

Yetter said that Americans spent $16 billion in 1959 in leisure activities and "the result of all of this is a very tangible 'shot in the arm' for our nation's economy."

There are numerous postal patrons who never realize till it's too late that invitations, announcements, and cards cause woes. These items can bring frustration and additional expense to the mailer.

In an effort to clarify the postage requirements and avoid "postage due" on envelopes or cards, an adoption of a suggestion made by a local employe was recently put into effect.

Postal Clerk Eugene R. Manfrin, Rt. 4, submitted an employe's suggestion for a visual display to be used in the lobby of the Main Post Office and the various Post Office Stations in the Springs area.

Postmaster R. H. Sertoma, Elks Get First Victories As American Legion League Opens

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Sertoma managed only four hits off two Rotary pitchers but used a two-run single by John Wickham with one down in the bottom of the ninth to capture a 5-4 decision in the nightcap of an American Legion "A" doubleheader at Memorial Park Sunday afternoon.

In the earlier contest, the Elks nine romped past Lions 12-2 in an abbreviated seven-inning battle as Ray McCaffrey scattered seven hits to pick up the victory.

Wickham, who was responsible for half of the Sertoma production at the plate, lined a shot to center with the bases loaded to break up the fist tight nightcap. It was only the third hit off hard-luck loser, Phil Johnson, who took over for starter Ted Jones with no one down in the fourth.

Jones had allowed only a first inning triple to Wickham before retiring, but frequent stretches of wildness offered Sertoma too many scoring opportunities. He wild-pitched Wickham home in the first and a pair of walks plus two passed balls allowed Sertoma to pull into a 3-3 tie in the bottom of the second. Then when the former Palmer High star issued three straight passes to lead off the fourth, Coach Jerry Hughes quickly summoned Johnson.

The curve-balling righthander responded by forcing Tom Stanley to pop to third, fanned Budgie Hamilton, and retired Terry Stillwaugh on another pop fly to shut off the home team without a run. Later he worked out of jams in the sixth and seventh, forcing Sertoma to strand runners at third both times.

Rotary finally broke through in the top of the eighth when Ned Owens led off with a triple and scampered home on Johnson's infield single. Johnson set Sertoma down in order in the bottom of that frame but suddently ran into a streak of wildness in the ninth.

Stanley and Hamilton both drew walks to open the final half of the inning and Stillwaugh moved them around with a sacrifice. Hughes then ordered Mike Teague passed intentially to load the bases but the strategy backfired when Wickham lined a Johnson pitch into center to score the decisive runs.

Clay Chambers worked eight innings for the winners, allowing 11 hits but performing well in clutch situations. Rotary had him on the ropes in the first inning when three hits, including a triple to the foot of the wall in right-center by Don Breeding, scored three runs. But the Wasson High graduate settled quickly and slammed the door until Rotary pushed across the go-ahead tally in the eighth. When Jerry Golden led off the ninth with a single, Coach Chris Talbott called in Bob Kochis and he quickly doused any potential rally.

The opening game had little of the suspense of the nightcap. Lions' starter Danny Gieck did not have his usual good stuff and the Elks nine jumped him quickly. An error, walk, and the first of four straight hits by Randy Hesselberg plated two runs in the second and a third crossed by Sam Zavatti's single in the third. Singles by Hesselberg and Gary Barta, a stolen base, and an error scored two more in the fourth.

McCaffrey's triple, a double by Hesselberg and another error accounted for two tallies in the sixth. The Lions defense, which had been shaky all afternoon, collapsed completely around Gieck in the seventh as the Elks put the contest out of reach with five more runs.

The Lions bunched two hits in both the fourth and sixth frames to score single tallies but McCaffrey had the situation in hand the rest of the way. The Lions did threaten again in the bottom of the seventh with two straight hits but leadoff batter John Jamison lined into a rally-killing double play.

NCAA Tourney Opens Over Broadmoor Course

The problem facing the NCAA Golf Tournament which got underway at the Broadmoor this morning is what to offer for an encore!

Sunday's preliminary events, which were more for enjoyment than competition, produced a sensational record-tying round of 63 by Mark Hopkins of Houston University and issued a warning that the rugged mountainside course may be in for a testing week.

Playing with Dave Eichelberger of Oklahoma State in Sunday's East-West match, Hopkins recorded his brilliant round despite two bogies. He also missed a short putt on the final hole which would have given him a 62. As it was, the round tied the course record held by Bud Maytag.

The Ecihelberger - Hopkins combination also had the low score of 62 in the best-ball competition to lead the West to an 8½-3½ victory in the Sunday action.

This morning the bulky field, representing 66 colleges and universities, began teeing off in the first of two days of medal play which will eventually determine the team champion and also serve as qualifying for the match play tourney which gets underway Wednesday morning.

Golfers began firing as early as 6 a.m. today from both the first and 10th tees and the final foursomes were not scheduled to rip their first drives until 1 p.m. A similar scheduled will be in effect Tuesday.

The team champion will be determined by totaling the scores of four representatives of each competing school for the 36 holes played today and Tuesday. In addition the 64 low qualifying scores will place those players into the match play tournament which will run through Saturday's 36 hole finals to crown the individual champion.

Other activity Sunday saw Jim Rheim Jr. of Stanford win the driving contest with an average of 265.55 yards for three drives. Brian Kaufman of UCLA had the longest belt, 293 yards.

On the business side, the NCAA Golf Committee named its 1964 All-America team. First team members include George Hixon of Oklahoma State, Wright Garrett of Houston, Sherman Finger of Southern California, Terry Winter of Purdue, Ken Folkes of Wake Forest, and Vernon Novak of Maryland.

Named to the second team were Eichelberger, Byron Comstock of Indiana, Rick Rhoads of Southern California, Jay Sigel of Wake Forest, Johnny Stevens of Wichita, and Guy Wimberly of New Mexico.

Stan Wood of USC was elected president of the NCAA Golf Coaches Association Sunday, succeeding Sam Voinoff of Purdue. Other new officers are Charles Finger of Stanford, first vice president; Dick McGuire of New Mexico, second vice president; and Vic Kelley of UCLA, secretary-treasurer.

In addition Woods recommended that next summer's NCAA tournament be held the week following the U.S. Open so that college players qualifying for both will not have the conflict. Next year's NCAA tourney will be held at the Hillstrom Country Club in Knoxville, Tenn.

Sertoma, Elks Get First Victories As American Legion League Opens

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Sertoma managed only four hits off two Rotary pitchers but used a two-run single by John Wickham with one down in the bottom of the ninth to capture a 5-4 decision in the nightcap of an American Legion "A" doubleheader at Memorial Park Sunday afternoon.

In the earlier contest, the Elks nine romped past Lions 12-2 in an abbreviated seven-inning battle as Ray McCaffrey scattered seven hits to pick up the victory.

Wickham, who was responsible for half of the Sertoma production at the plate, lined a shot to center with the bases loaded to break up the fist tight nightcap. It was only the third hit off hard-luck loser, Phil Johnson, who took over for starter Ted Jones with no one down in the fourth.

Jones had allowed only a first inning triple to Wickham before retiring, but frequent stretches of wildness offered Sertoma too many scoring opportunities. He wild-pitched Wickham home in the first and a pair of walks plus two passed balls allowed Sertoma to pull into a 3-3 tie in the bottom of the second. Then when the former Palmer High star issued three straight passes to lead off the fourth, Coach Jerry Hughes quickly summoned Johnson.

The curve-balling righthander responded by forcing Tom Stanley to pop to third, fanned Budgie Hamilton, and retired Terry Stillwaugh on another pop fly to shut off the home team without a run. Later he worked out of jams in the sixth and seventh, forcing Sertoma to strand runners at third both times.

Rotary finally broke through in the top of the eighth when Ned Owens led off with a triple and scampered home on Johnson's infield single. Johnson set Sertoma down in order in the bottom of that frame but suddently ran into a streak of wildness in the ninth.

Stanley and Hamilton both drew walks to open the final half of the inning and Stillwaugh moved them around with a sacrifice. Hughes then ordered Mike Teague passed intentially to load the bases but the strategy backfired when Wickham lined a Johnson pitch into center to score the decisive runs.

Clay Chambers worked eight innings for the winners, allowing 11 hits but performing well in clutch situations. Rotary had him on the ropes in the first inning when three hits, including a triple to the foot of the wall in right-center by Don Breeding, scored three runs. But the Wasson High graduate settled quickly and slammed the door until Rotary pushed across the go-ahead tally in the eighth. When Jerry Golden led off the ninth with a single, Coach Chris Talbott called in Bob Kochis and he quickly doused any potential rally.

The opening game had little of the suspense of the nightcap. Lions' starter Danny Gieck did not have his usual good stuff and the Elks nine jumped him quickly. An error, walk, and the first of four straight hits by Randy Hesselberg plated two runs in the second and a third crossed by Sam Zavatti's single in the third. Singles by Hesselberg and Gary Barta, a stolen base, and an error scored two more in the fourth.

McCaffrey's triple, a double by Hesselberg and another error accounted for two tallies in the sixth. The Lions defense, which had been shaky all afternoon, collapsed completely around Gieck in the seventh as the Elks put the contest out of reach with five more runs.

The Lions bunched two hits in both the fourth and sixth frames to score single tallies but McCaffrey had the situation in hand the rest of the way. The Lions did threaten again in the bottom of the seventh with two straight hits but leadoff batter John Jamison lined into a rally-killing double play.

The Ecihelberger - Hopkins combination also had the low score of 62 in the best-ball competition to lead the West to an 8½-3½ victory in the Sunday action.

This morning the bulky field, representing 66 colleges and universities, began teeing off in the first of two days of medal play which will eventually determine the team champion and also serve as qualifying for the match play tourney which gets underway Wednesday morning.

Golfers began firing as early as 6 a.m. today from both the first and 10th tees and the final foursomes were not scheduled to rip their first drives until 1 p.m. A similar scheduled will be in effect Tuesday.

The team champion will be determined by totaling the scores of four representatives of each competing school for the 36 holes played today and Tuesday. In addition the 64 low qualifying scores will place those players into the match play tournament which will run through Saturday's 36 hole finals to crown the individual champion.

Other activity Sunday saw Jim Rheim Jr. of Stanford win the driving contest with an average of 265.55 yards for three drives. Brian Kaufman of UCLA had the longest belt, 293 yards.

On the business side, the NCAA Golf Committee named its 1964 All-America team. First team members include George Hixon of Oklahoma State, Wright Garrett of Houston, Sherman Finger of Southern California, Terry Winter of Purdue, Ken Folkes of Wake Forest, and Vernon Novak of Maryland.

Named to the second team were Eichelberger, Byron Comstock of Indiana, Rick Rhoads of Southern California, Jay Sigel of Wake Forest, Johnny Stevens of Wichita, and Guy Wimberly of New Mexico.

Stan Wood of USC was elected president of the NCAA Golf Coaches Association Sunday, succeeding Sam Voinoff of Purdue. Other new officers are Charles Finger of Stanford, first vice president; Dick McGuire of New Mexico, second vice president; and Vic Kelley of UCLA, secretary-treasurer.

In addition Woods recommended that next summer's NCAA tournament be held the week following the U.S. Open so that college players qualifying for both will not have the conflict. Next year's NCAA tourney will be held at the Hillstrom Country Club in Knoxville, Tenn.

Houston's Dick Farrell First 10-Game Winner

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Farrell, who figures the scrappy Fox is the latest weapon in his well-stocked pitching arsenal, became the first 10-game winner in the major leagues Sunday night as he scattered eight hits in a 4-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A converted reliever acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for the premier $125,000 price tag in the National League expansion draft, Farrell is in his third and most productive season as a starter. And that's where Fox, acquired from the Chicago White Sox, enters the picture.

"He keeps me bearing down," says the 30-year-old right-hander. "He is always on my back."

Farrell had a 10-20 record for the Colts in 1962 and was 14-13 last year. But with the helpful intimidation of the little second baseman he has reached the first plateau en route to a 20-victory season with the best record in the majors.

Farrell's latest triumph was his seventh in a row and brought his record to an eye-opening 10-1. It also extended the Cardinals' skid. St. Louis now has lost four straight and 18 of its last 24 while falling into eighth place, 6½ games behind National League leading Philadelphia.

The Phillies swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 9-5 and 4-2, boosting their lead over second-place San Francisco to one-half game. The Giants' rode homers by Orlando Cepeda and Jim Hart to an 8-2 victory over Cincinnati.

Elsewhere in the NL, Milwaukee swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Dodgers by identical 5-1 scores and the Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 5-2. The second game of the Cubs-Pirates doubleheader was rained out.

Farrell struck out nine and walked two, allowing the Cardinals' only run in the sixth when Bill White tripled and Ken Boyer singled. Al Spanger provided the runs Farrell needed with two sacrifice flies, the last capping a three-run fifth inning uprising that put it away against Bob Gibson, 5-4.

John Briggs, starting his first major league game because of a leg injury to Wes Covington, produced the fireworks for the Phillies in the opener. Briggs singled twice, slammed a double, drove in two runs and scored twice, riding home on Richie Agbbvvpetaoin
Richie Allen's 13th homer in the fourth.

John Callison took over against the Mets in the nightcap, driving in three runs with a homer and double. Art Mahaffey got the nightcap victory with Ed Roebuck's relief help after Ray Culp posted his first victory since April 26 in the opener.

Cepeda and Hart, who drove in three runs, hit consecutive homers against Reds starter Jim O'Toole, 5-3 in the third inning. Willie Mays also figured heavily in the attack with a single, double, triple and three runs scored. Ron Herbel, 4-2, got the victory with an eight-hitter.

The Braves unloaded 11 extra-base hits—including the 350th homer of Hank Aaron's major league career—and became the first team in two years to sweep a doubleheader against the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

Aaron, Felipe Alou and Denis Menke homered in the opener while Tony Cloninger, 5-5, pitched a five-hitter. Gene Oliver slammed a bases-empty homer and a run-producing double in the nightcap while Bob Sadowski, Dan Schneider and Denny Lemaster combined to check the Dodgers on seven hits.

Billy Cowan and Lou Brock slammed two-run homers as the Cubs whipped the Pirates. Dick Ellsworth, 8-5, had a four-hit shutout until the ninth when Gene Freese accounted for the Pittsburgh runs with a two-run homer.

SPOILS FOR THE VICTOR—Tony Lema and his wife Betty hold a trophy, a check for $8,000 after he won the $66,000 Buick Open at Grand Blanc, Mich., on Sunday. Lema, who finished with a 70 for a 277 total, had a last round stretch duel with Dow Finsterwald of the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs. Last week Lema won $20,000 top money in the Thunderbird Open in New York. (AP Wirephoto)

Lema Surprised at Victory Over Springs' Finsterwald

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Tony Lema, more surprised than anybody else over his victory in the $66,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament Sunday, headed today for the National Open at Washington, D.C., hoping that lightning strikes three times in a row.

I've never done very well in the National Open and I don't have any particular feeling about it this year," said Lema after becoming the first pro in 21 months to put together major victories in successive weeks. He preceded his Buick Open triumph with victory in the $100,000 Thunderbird at Rye, N.Y. The National Open starts Thursday.

Said Lema of the Buick Open, "it has to be one of the biggest surprises of my life."

"I never thought I could win a tournament when I started playing," Lema added, "let alone win two in a row."

The San Leandro, Calif. native kept his usual custom and ordered champagne in the press room following his victory on the 7,280-yard, par-72 Warwick Hills course.

Lema had a 70 in his final round and finished with an 11-under par 277 to pick up nearly $9,000 in prize money.

His round featured four birdies, one on the first hold which he solved for the fourth straight round in the tourney. It was the same hole on which he had taken a seven in the open two years ago.

His second bogie came on the 15th hole and he admitted that it made him a little anxious.

Dow Finsterwald, playing in the threesome ahead of Lema, started the day just two strokes off the pace and at one point in the final round closed to within a stroke of a tie.

"I knew what Dow was shooting right along until something happened without communications at about the 10th hole," Lema explained. "I didn't know what he had done from the 10th through the 14th.

"When I bogied No. 15, I really started to worry. But not for long, though, as word got to me that Dow had also bogied the same hole and that I was still ahead by a couple of strokes."

"I'm very happy with my game," Lema said. "I led this tournament from the 27th hole and I guess that, along with winning the Thunderbird, has helped me gain a lot of confidence."

Undefeated Gophers Meet Missouri in NCAA Finals

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

The NCAA baseball tourney is a record four days behind schedule, but attendance is up 9,251 over last year's record pace. And three dozen major league scouts are still on hand hoping to sign some top prospects.

Minnesota became the last unbeaten team by beating Southern Cal's defending champs 6-5 with a three-run ninth inning rally Saturday night. Dave Hoffman's two-out single drove in the winning run.

The Big Ten champions, almost as deep in top pitching as Missouri, will be in an excellent position if they can eliminate the Tigers. They'll be facing Keith Weber 10-1 who shut out Arizona State last Tuesday.

Pollack was touched for 11 hits but went all the way Saturday night. Left-hander Larry Fisher of USC had a no-hitter for six innings but was the loser.

Maine needed Joe Ferris the last 2 1-3 innings to save its 4-2 upset over Arizona State Saturday but Coach Jack Butterfield nominated him to start against the Trojans.

Should the Big Eight champions stay alive, they would have Stroud and Dennis Musgraves for the last two. Missouri's hitting has been anemic so far in the tournament.

A Missouri victory would leaves three times in the tournament. Then a drawing would be held and the team with a bye would play for the championship Wednesday against the winner of Tuesday's game.

Ron Cook, 2-0, is the USC starter against Maine and Coach Rod Dedeaux hopes he doesn't have to use his ace, Walt Peterson, in relief. If USC wins and draws a bye, 17-game winner Peterson would pitch the title game with four days rest.

A Minnesota victory would force USC to use Peterson Tuesday and Fisher Wednesday each with three days rest.

Chisox' Lopez Remains Optimistic Despite Series Sweep by Yankees

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We have been going good, and we are going to get better," said Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox shortly before his American League leaders started a five-game series with the New York Yankees.

The White Sox now are in second place.

The Yankees took care of that, using just 50 hours for a sweep of the series. They completed the annihilation Sunday, taking a doubleheader 8-3 and 4-3 in 10 innings.

The double loss coupled with Baltimore's two victories over Boston put the Orioles on top, one game and 10 percentage points ahead of the White Sox, who have dropped six straight.

The rampaging Yankees rendered the White Sox attack so ineffective it might take Lopez the rest of the year to find it. Chicago managed only 28 hits in the series and scored only 10 runs.

The White Sox came close to averting the sweep but couldn't hold off New York in the ninth inning of Sunday's nightcap. Trailing 3-1, the Yankees scored twice with the aid of shortstop Ron Hanse's error, then won it in the 10th on Joe Pepitone's run-scoring single.

Another highlight of the five-doubleheader day was the 30 home runs that were hit in the league. That tied the major league record set June 10, 1962.

Minnesota's power - laden Twins led the onslaught in their 6-5 and 9-2 victories over Washington. The Orioles clobbered the Red Sox 10-1 and 8-1. Kansas City edged Cleveland 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2 and Detroit squeezed by Los Angeles 6-5 and 6-4.

Before the Yankees struck in the ninth inning of the second game, Gary Peters appeared set to record his first complete game in 13 starts. Singles by Elston Howard and Joe Pepitone and Hansen's error scored one run while Bobby Richardson's sacrifice fly took care of the other.

Pepitone singled home Archie Moore with the winning run. Moore had walked, taken second on a sacrifice and advanced to third on a fly. Dave Nicholson clouted a three-run homer for Chicago in the sixth.

Juan Pizarro suggered his third loss in 10 decisions in the opener. Howard and Phil Linz rocked him for two-run homers in the second. Linz added a solo homer in the eighth.

Baltimore moved into first place behind the five-hit pitching of Chuck Estrada and Dick Hall in the nightcap. Estrada pitched the first five innings, enough for his first victory since May 21, 1963. Jerry Adair drove in two runs for the Orioles, giving him five for the day.

Brooks, Robinson and Luis Aparicio each lashed four hits in the opener. Robinson hit a home run, a triple and two singles while Aparicio collected a triple and three singles and stole three bases.

The Twins' Harmon Killebrew pounded three homers, giving him 20 for the season. He hit two in the first game while Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles added one each. Fred Valentine homered with two aboard for the Senators.

Minnesota also clouted four homers in the nightcap, including Allison's 15th. The Twins' Johnny Goryl was thrown out of the game in the sixth after charging and punching pitcher Jim Duckworth who hit him with a pitch. Duckworth was fined $50.

Home runs decided both of the games between the Athletics and the Indians. Jim Gentile who previously knocked in three runs, connected in the 10th inning of the opener while Dick Green hammered a two-run homer in the seventh for the second-game triumph.

John Romano's homer had given the Indians a brief 2-1 lead in the sixth.

The Tigers won the second game on Don Demeter's two-run double in the four-run seventh. The blow came off reliever Bob Lee, who also was the victim of Dick McAuliffe's eighth-inning homer which won the opener.

Nationally Known Amperex Comes to Pueblo Dog Track

PUEBLO — Several of the kennels racing at Pueblo Greyhound Park will receive major reinforcements from Cloverleaf this week, gladdening the heart of acting Racing Secretary Frank Hartwell and greatly increasing his supply of high-graded dogs.

Kennel owner Joe Mamino announced that Amperex, nationally known since his Colorado Springs debut two years ago, will race in Pueblo for the first time. Amperex, in winning the $2,000 Puppy Derby, set a track record for the Colorado Springs 5-16 which was retired unchallenged when the racing distance was changed last year.

Omer B. Rawlings planned to move hi sentire cloverleaf kennel to Pueblo, including such high-graded dogs as Repton, Atchley and Stroll Syer.

James Black is sending down Boston Rocket and Melvin C. Hughes is reinforcing his present Pueblo kennel with Captain E. and Irish Dino, among others.

Another group of reinforcements is due after the June 23 closing of Raynham's meet in Massachusetts. At that time C. C. Wilson will bring Westy Whizzer, winner of the $7,500 Raynham Juvenile Stake, to Pueblo along with Westy Hornet, Westy Capp and Westy Black, all racing in the higher grades.

Houston's Dick Farrell First 10-Game Winner

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Farrell, who figures the scrappy Fox is the latest weapon in his well-stocked pitching arsenal, became the first 10-game winner in the major leagues Sunday night as he scattered eight hits in a 4-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A converted reliever acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for the premier $125,000 price tag in the National League expansion draft, Farrell is in his third and most productive season as a starter. And that's where Fox, acquired from the Chicago White Sox, enters the picture.

"He keeps me bearing down," says the 30-year-old right-hander. "He is always on my back."

Farrell had a 10-20 record for the Colts in 1962 and was 14-13 last year. But with the helpful intimidation of the little second baseman he has reached the first plateau en route to a 20-victory season with the best record in the majors.

Farrell's latest triumph was his seventh in a row and brought his record to an eye-opening 10-1. It also extended the Cardinals' skid. St. Louis now has lost four straight and 18 of its last 24 while falling into eighth place, 6½ games behind National League leading Philadelphia.

The Phillies swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 9-5 and 4-2, boosting their lead over second-place San Francisco to one-half game. The Giants' rode homers by Orlando Cepeda and Jim Hart to an 8-2 victory over Cincinnati.

Elsewhere in the NL, Milwaukee swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Dodgers by identical 5-1 scores and the Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 5-2. The second game of the Cubs-Pirates doubleheader was rained out.

Farrell struck out nine and walked two, allowing the Cardinals' only run in the sixth when Bill White tripled and Ken Boyer singled. Al Spanger provided the runs Farrell needed with two sacrifice flies, the last capping a three-run fifth inning uprising that put it away against Bob Gibson, 5-4.

John Briggs, starting his first major league game because of a leg injury to Wes Covington, produced the fireworks for the Phillies in the opener. Briggs singled twice, slammed a double, drove in two runs and scored twice, riding home on Richie Agbbvvpetaoin
Richie Allen's 13th homer in the fourth.

John Callison took over against the Mets in the nightcap, driving in three runs with a homer and double. Art Mahaffey got the nightcap victory with Ed Roebuck's relief help after Ray Culp posted his first victory since April 26 in the opener.

Cepeda and Hart, who drove in three runs, hit consecutive homers against Reds starter Jim O'Toole, 5-3 in the third inning. Willie Mays also figured heavily in the attack with a single, double, triple and three runs scored. Ron Herbel, 4-2, got the victory with an eight-hitter.

The Braves unloaded 11 extra-base hits—including the 350th homer of Hank Aaron's major league career—and became the first team in two years to sweep a doubleheader against the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

Aaron, Felipe Alou and Denis Menke homered in the opener while Tony Cloninger, 5-5, pitched a five-hitter. Gene Oliver slammed a bases-empty homer and a run-producing double in the nightcap while Bob Sadowski, Dan Schneider and Denny Lemaster combined to check the Dodgers on seven hits.

Billy Cowan and Lou Brock slammed two-run homers as the Cubs whipped the Pirates. Dick Ellsworth, 8-5, had a four-hit shutout until the ninth when Gene Freese accounted for the Pittsburgh runs with a two-run homer.

SPOILS FOR THE VICTOR—Tony Lema and his wife Betty hold a trophy, a check for $8,000 after he won the $66,000 Buick Open at Grand Blanc, Mich., on Sunday. Lema, who finished with a 70 for a 277 total, had a last round stretch duel with Dow Finsterwald of the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs. Last week Lema won $20,000 top money in the Thunderbird Open in New York. (AP Wirephoto)

Lema Surprised at Victory Over Springs' Finsterwald

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Tony Lema, more surprised than anybody else over his victory in the $66,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament Sunday, headed today for the National Open at Washington, D.C., hoping that lightning strikes three times in a row.

I've never done very well in the National Open and I don't have any particular feeling about it this year," said Lema after becoming the first pro in 21 months to put together major victories in successive weeks. He preceded his Buick Open triumph with victory in the $100,000 Thunderbird at Rye, N.Y. The National Open starts Thursday.

Said Lema of the Buick Open, "it has to be one of the biggest surprises of my life."

"I never thought I could win a tournament when I started playing," Lema added, "let alone win two in a row."

The San Leandro, Calif. native kept his usual custom and ordered champagne in the press room following his victory on the 7,280-yard, par-72 Warwick Hills course.

Lema had a 70 in his final round and finished with an 11-under par 277 to pick up nearly $9,000 in prize money.

His round featured four birdies, one on the first hold which he solved for the fourth straight round in the tourney. It was the same hole on which he had taken a seven in the open two years ago.

His second bogie came on the 15th hole and he admitted that it made him a little anxious.

Dow Finsterwald, playing in the threesome ahead of Lema, started the day just two strokes off the pace and at one point in the final round closed to within a stroke of a tie.

"I knew what Dow was shooting right along until something happened without communications at about the 10th hole," Lema explained. "I didn't know what he had done from the 10th through the 14th.

"When I bogied No. 15, I really started to worry. But not for long, though, as word got to me that Dow had also bogied the same hole and that I was still ahead by a couple of strokes."

Finsterwald finished with a 71 for a total of 280 and was runner-up here for the second straight year. Bob Charles, the left-handed New Zealander, finished with a 67 to take third place money with a 283.

Lema became the first pro to win two tournaments in a row since Jack Nicklaus won in Seattle and Portland, Ore. in September, 1962.

"I'm very happy with my game," Lema said. "I led this tournament from the 27th hole and I guess that, along with winning the Thunderbird, has helped me gain a lot of confidence."

Undefeated Gophers Meet Missouri in NCAA Finals

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Omaha (AP)—Minnesota puts its perfect tourney record on the line against Missouri's top pitcher and perennial power Southern Cal meets Maine's Series tonight — unless it rains again.

The NCAA baseball tourney is a record four days behind schedule, but attendance is up 9,251 over last year's record pace. And three dozen major league scouts are still on hand hoping to sign some top prospects.

Minnesota became the last unbeaten team by beating Southern Cal's defending champs 6-5 with a three-run ninth inning rally Saturday night. Dave Hoffman's two-out single drove in the winning run.

The Big Ten champions, almost as deep in top pitching as Missouri, will be in an excellent position if they can eliminate the Tigers. They'll be facing Keith Weber 10-1 who shut out Arizona State last Tuesday.

Dick Mielke, a 6-foot-4 sophomore right-hander with a 7-1 record, is the pitching choice of Coach Dick Siebert, who will have Frank Brosseau and Joe Pollack ready for the last two games.

Pollack was touched for 11 hits but went all the way Saturday night. Left-hander Larry Fisher of USC had a no-hitter for six innings but was the loser.

Maine needed Joe Ferris the last 2 1-3 innings to save its 4-2 upset over Arizona State Saturday but Coach Jack Butterfield nominated him to start against the Trojans.

Should the Big Eight champions stay alive, they would have Stroud and Dennis Musgraves for the last two. Missouri's hitting has been anemic so far in the tournament.

A Missouri victory would leaves three times in the tournament. Then a drawing would be held and the team with a bye would play for the championship Wednesday against the winner of Tuesday's game.

Ron Cook, 2-0, is the USC starter against Maine and Coach Rod Dedeaux hopes he doesn't have to use his ace, Walt Peterson, in relief. If USC wins and draws a bye, 17-game winner Peterson would pitch the title game with four days rest.

A Minnesota victory would force USC to use Peterson Tuesday and Fisher Wednesday each with three days rest.

Chisox' Lopez Remains Optimistic Despite Series Sweep by Yankees

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We have been going good, and we are going to get better," said Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox shortly before his American League leaders started a five-game series with the New York Yankees.

The White Sox now are in second place.

The Yankees took care of that, using just 50 hours for a sweep of the series. They completed the annihilation Sunday, taking a doubleheader 8-3 and 4-3 in 10 innings.

The double loss coupled with Baltimore's two victories over Boston put the Orioles on top, one game and 10 percentage points ahead of the White Sox, who have dropped six straight.

The third-place Yankees moved four percentage points behind Chicago, holding a seven game winning streak, longest in the majors this season.

The rampaging Yankees rendered the White Sox attack so ineffective it might take Lopez the rest of the year to find it. Chicago managed only 28 hits in the series and scored only 10 runs.

The White Sox came close to averting the sweep but couldn't hold off New York in the ninth inning of Sunday's nightcap. Trailing 3-1, the Yankees scored twice with the aid of shortstop Ron Hanse's error, then won it in the 10th on Joe Pepitone's run-scoring single.

Another highlight of the five-doubleheader day was the 30 home runs that were hit in the league. That tied the major league record set June 10, 1962.

Minnesota's power-laden Twins led the onslaught in their 6-5 and 9-2 victories over Washington. The Orioles clobbered the Red Sox 10-1 and 8-1, Kansas City edged Cleveland 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2 and Detroit squeezed by Los Angeles 6-5 and 6-4.

Before the Yankees struck in the ninth inning of the second game, Gary Peters appeared set to record his first complete game in 13 starts. Singles by Elston Howard and Joe Pepitone and Hansen's error scored one run while Bobby Richardson's sacrifice fly took care of the other.

Pepitone singled home Archie Moore with the winning run Moore had walked, taken second on a sacrifice and advanced to third on a fly. Dave Nicholson clouted a three-run homer for Chicago in the sixth.

Juan Pizarro suggered his third loss in 10 decisions in the opener. Howard and Phil Linz rocked him for two-run homers in the second. Linz added a solo homer in the eighth.

Baltimore moved into first place behind the five-hit pitching of Chuck Estrada and Dick Hall in the nightcap. Estrada pitched the first five innings, enough for his first victory since May 21, 1963. Jerry Adair drove in two runs for the Orioles, giving him five for the day.

Brooks, Robinson and Luis Aparicio each lashed four hits in the opener. Robinson hit a home run, a triple and two singles while Aparicio collected a triple and three singles and stole three bases.

The Twins' Harmon Killebrew pounded three homers, giving him 20 for the season. He hit two in the first game while Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles added one each. Fred Valentine homered with two aboard for the Senators.

Minnesota also clouted four homers in the nightcap, including Allison's 15th. The Twins Johnny Goryl was thrown out of the game in the sixth after charging and punching pitcher Jim Duckworth who hit him with a pitch. Duckworth was fined $50.

Home runs decided both of the games between the Athletics and the Indians. Jim Gentile who previously knocked in three runs, connected in the 10th inning of the opener while Dick Green hammered a two-run homer in the seventh for the second-game triumph.

John Romano's homer had given the Indians a brief 2-1 lead in the sixth.

The Tigers won the second game on Don Demeter's two-run double in the four-run seventh. The blow came off reliever Bob Lee, who also was the victim of Dick McAuliffe's eighth-inning homer which won the opener.

Nationally Known Amperex Comes to Pueblo Dog Track

PUEBLO — Several of the kennels racing at Pueblo Greyhound Park will receive major reinforcements from Cloverleaf this week, gladdening the heart of acting Racing Secretary Frank Hartwell and greatly increasing his supply of high-graded dogs.

Kennel owner Joe Mamino announced that Amperex, nationally known since his Colorado Springs debut two years ago, will race in Pueblo for the first time. Amperex, in winning the $2,000 Puppy Derby, set a track record for the Colorado Springs 5-16 which was retired unchallenged when the racing distance was changed last year.

Omer B. Rawlings planned to move hi sentire cloverleaf kennel to Pueblo, including such high-graded dogs as Repton, Atchley and Stroll Syer.

James Black is sending down Boston Rocket and Melvin C. Hughes is reinforcing his present Pueblo kennel with Captain E. and Irish Dino, among others.

Another group of reinforcements is due after the June 23 closing of Raynham's meet in Massachusetts. At that time C. C. Wilson will bring Westy Whizzer, winner of the $7,500 Raynham Juvenile Stake, to Pueblo along with Westy Hornet, Westy Capp and Westy Black, all racing in the higher grades.

Twins Seeking Angels' Dean Chance But Unwilling to Trade Bob Allison

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Twins already have made one offer for Los Angeles' Dean Chance, a 22-year-old right-hander who has had harsh words with the Angels' front office. But the Twins were unwilling to meet the asking price for slugger Bob Allison.

Whether the fourth-place Twins would continue to pursue Chance or try to make a deal for pitching help elsewhere was the No. 1 question today with only hours remaining before the major league trading deadline was reached at midnight.

Besides the Twins, other teams have been in the trade market recently. The National League leading Philadelphia Phillies made an offer to the New York Mets for pitcher Al Jackson, and the New York Yankees have tried to deal with Boston for pitcher Bill Monbouquette.

The Phillies approached the Mets, offering starter Art Mahaffey and reliever Jack Baldschun for Jackson. They also offered starter Ray Culp even-up. The Yankees were trying to pry Monbouquette free with a package that included pitcher Ralph Terry and catcher - outfielder John Blanchard.

Three trades have been completed in this last week of dealing. The Twins engineered a three-cornered deal with Los Angeles and Cleveland, then admitted that they still were seeking some pitching help.

Minnesota sent first baseman Vic Power and outfielder Lenny Green to the Angels. Los Angeles shipped second baseman Billy Moran to Cleveland and the Indians dispatched infielder Jerry Kindall to the Twins. Minnesota also got outfielder Frank Kostro from the Angels.

Two trades were completed over the weekend. The Baltimore Orioles got a replacement for injured catcher Johnny Orsino by trading relief pitcher Wes Stock to Kansas City for receiver Charley Lau. In the other deal, Cincinnati sent veteran outfielder Bob Sinner to St. Louis for minor league catcher Jim Saul and cash.

The Orioles exchanged a relief pitcher who has won 10 games without a loss over a three-year period for a catcher they traded away last year. But Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer said the Orioles were forced to make the deal "because of the situation we were in."

Orsino, the Orioles' first-string backstop, cracked a hand bone while sliding May 24 and has not played since. He may have to undergo surgery. Dick Brown is the only other catcher on the roster and emergency measures had called for outfielder Jackie Brandt to take over if anything happened to Brown.

Stock has a 2-0 record with a 3.86 earned run average. Lau is hitting .271.

Skinner, who has hit over .300 three times in his major league career, was hitting .220 with the Reds. He was used mostly as a pinch hitter.

Hawaii Whips Denver; Rangers on Win Streak

Pacific Coast League
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dallas Rangers, who have brought up the rear in the Pacific Coast League Eastern Division race for a month and a half, are riding high on a three - game winning string, their first of the season.

The Rangers recorded their 15th and 16th wins Sunday by beating Tacoma 3-2 and 5-2 in a doubleheader. They began the string by beating Tacoma Saturday 5-0 in the frist game of a series.

Ken Harrelson batted two home runs to produce all the Rangers' runs in the first game Sunday. Tacoma's Hal Lanier opened the scoring with a bases-empty homer in the first, but Harrelson matched it in the second and added his two-run shot in the fourth.

In the second game, Chet Boak homered for Dallas with one aboard in the fourth but the Giants tied it in the fifth. Again, Harrelson was the hero. He clouted his third homer of the day with two out and two on base in the sixth for the winning runs.

Elsewhere, Portland beat Seattle 5-3 in the first of two and lost the second 3-0, Indianapolis stopped Arkansas 3-2, Hawaii whipped Denver 10-6, Salt Lake City split a doubleheader with San Diego, winning the first 3-2 and losing the second 10-4, and Spokane downed Oklahoma City 6-2.

Portland made it four in a row against Seattle in the first game. Singles by Duke Sims, Tommie Agee and Tony Attanasio loaded the bases in the second, and another single by Al Luplow drove in two runs. Three singles and a walk produced three more in the next inning and put the game out of reach.

Seattle broke the losing streak in the second game with a three-run sixth inning. With one on, Bob Guindon hit the first pitch to him over the right field fence. The next batter, Billy Harrell, let the count get to 2-1 before he sent another one out.

Indianapolis scored on a bad throw with two out in the bottom of the ninth for its win over Arkansas, the Eastern Division leader. Norm Gigon tried to nail Chico Fernandez off third but his throw went into the dirt. Indianapolis had snapped a seven-game Arkansas winning streak Saturday with a 12-3 victory.

Nancy Richey Spearheads Tennis Win

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONDON (AP)—Nancy Richey, 21-year-old tennis star from Dallas, Tex., was hailed today as the star of America's victorious Wightman Cup team and a serious contender for the Wimbledon title.

The American girls won the cup for the fourth straight year with a 5-2 margin over Britain at Wimbledon.

In the final matches, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., defeated Deidre Catt of Britain 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. Angela Mortimer and Liz Starkie of Britain defeated Mrs. Donna Fales of New York and Miss Richey in the doubles 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Richey scored the only straight sets victory in defeating Mrs. Ann Jones, the British No. 1 on Saturday, 7-5, 11-9 in the match that decided the series.

On Friday she thumped her shots from the baseline to defeat Deidre Catt 4-6, 6-4, 7-5. She repeated her victory Saturday against Mrs. Jones.

British experts wrote of Miss Richey:

"Nancy Richey was in cracking form. On yesterday's play she is a serious contender for the Wimbledon title. Her backhand and forehand drives have tremendous pace and direction,, and she also showed that she could volley when needed. Her ball control on every shot is quite outstanding."

This week Miss Richey plays in the London championships at Queen's Club, along with the other American Wightman Cuppers—Billie Jean Moffitt and Carole Caldwell, of Santa Monica, Calif. The Wimbledon tournament starts next week.

The result of the Wightman Cup left the record of the event looking more one-sided than ever—30 wins to the Americans and six to the British.

Speedster Henry Carr Sidelined With Injury

By DICK STUART
Associated Press Sports Writer

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The running battle between Arizona State University's Henry Carr and Bob Hayes of Florida A&M is going to come to a temporary halt.

For more than a year Hayes and Carr have carried on a friendly battle to determine who is the nation's fastest human, but Hayes should have it all his way this week in the NCAA 220-yard dash.

Carr won't be in Eugene, Ore., for the meet. The A-State sprinter, world record holder for the 220, is out of action with a pulled right leg muscle.

The 6-foot-3 Detroit, Mich., speedster suffered the injury in a 100-yard dash in the San Diego Invitational Saturday night.

A- State track coach Senon Castillo said Sunday he would not enter Carr, who has bettered his own world mark of 20.3 in the 220 with a 20.2 effort this season, even if the leg responds to treatment.

"I'm also going to keep him on the sidelines for the AAU next week," Castillo said. "It's too bad, too, because I really think he could have won both the 100 and 220 this year."

Carr won the NCAA 220 last year in 20.5. He was the winner, on film, of the 100. The meet judges, however, awarded first to Stanford's Larry Questad. Both were timed in 9.7.

With Carr out, Hayes and several other small school runners who expected to batlte him at Eugene, may have the field to themselves.

Hayes, who has a 9.1 in the 100, warmed up Saturday by winning the NCAA College Division 220 in 20.5. The time equalled his career best. He didn't run the 100, and won't until the AAU.

All of Castillo's news at San Diego wasn't bad, however. Defending NCAA 440-yard dash champion Ulis Williams ran his first competitive race in nearly three months and finished a strong second in 46.9. Marine Hiram Carroll of Camp Pendleton,, Calif., won in 46.7.

"Ulis is coming back," Castillo said, "and I definitely think he can win at Eugene. He didn't run a good race at San Diego, but he finished strong and the leg didn't seem to bother him."

Foyt Captures Auto Race; White Injured

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (UPI) —Indianapolis 500 "rookie of the year" Johnny White was paralyzed from the neck down today after his sprint car barrel-rolled upside-down over a guard rail duing a road race.

Doctors said White, of Warren, Mich., probably will not race again.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Twins already have made one offer for Los Angeles' Dean Chance, a 22-year-old right-hander who has had harsh words with the Angels' front office. But the Twins were unwilling to meet the asking price for slugger Bob Allison.

Whether the fourth-place Twins would continue to pursue Chance or try to make a deal for pitching help elsewhere was the No. 1 question today with only hours remaining before the major league trading deadline was reached at midnight.

Besides the Twins, other teams have been in the trade market recently. The National League leading Philadelphia Phillies made an offer to the New York Mets for pitcher Al Jackson, and the New York Yankees have tried to deal with Boston for pitcher Bill Monbouquette.

The Phillies approached the Mets, offering starter Art Mahaffey and reliever Jack Baldschun for Jackson. They also offered starter Ray Culp even-up. The Yankees were trying to pry Monbouquette free with a package that included pitcher Ralph Terry and catcher - outfielder John Blanchard.

Three trades have been completed in this last week of dealing. The Twins engineered a three-cornered deal with Los Angeles and Cleveland, then admitted that they still were seeking some pitching help.

Minnesota sent first baseman Vic Power and outfielder Lenny Green to the Angels. Los Angeles shipped second baseman Billy Moran to Cleveland and the Indians dispatched infielder Jerry Kindall to the Twins. Minnesota also got outfielder Frank Kostro from the Angels.

Two trades were completed over the weekend. The Baltimore Orioles got a replacement for injured catcher Johnny Orsino by trading relief pitcher Wes Stock to Kansas City for receiver Charley Lau. In the other deal, Cincinnati sent veteran outfielder Bob Skinner to St. Louis for minor league catcher Jim Saul and cash.

The Orioles exchanged a relief pitcher who has won 10 games without a loss over a three-year period for a catcher they traded away last year. But Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer said the Orioles were forced to make the deal "because of the situation we were in."

Orsino, the Orioles' first-string backstop, cracked a hand bone while sliding May 24 and has not played since. He may have to undergo surgery. Dick Brown is the only other catcher on the roster and emergency measures had called for outfielder Jackie Brandt to take over if anything happened to Brown.

Stock has a 2-0 record with a 3.86 earned run average. Lau is hitting .271.

Skinner, who has hit over .300 three times in his major league career, was hitting .220 with the Reds. He was used mostly as a pinch hitter.

Hawaii Whips Denver; Rangers on Win Streak

Pacific Coast League
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dallas Rangers, who have brought up the rear in the Pacific Coast League Eastern Division race for a month and a half, are riding high on a three-game winning string, their first of the season.

The Rangers recorded their 15th and 16th wins Sunday by beating Tacoma 3-2 and 5-2 in a doubleheader. They began the string by beating Tacoma Saturday 5-0 in the frist game of a series.

Ken Harrelson batted two home runs to produce all the Rangers' runs in the first game Sunday. Tacoma's Hal Lanier opened the scoring with a bases-empty homer in the first, but Harrelson matched it in the second and added his two-run shot in the fourth.

In the second game, Chet Boak homered for Dallas with one aboard in the fourth but the Ciants tied it in the fifth. Again, Harrelson was the hero. He clouted his third homer of the day with two out and two on base in the sixth for the winning runs.

Elsewhere, Portland beat Seattle 5-3 in the first of two and lost the second 3-0, Indianapolis stopped Arkansas 3-2, Hawaii whipped Denver 10-6, Salt Lake City split a doubleheader with San Diego, winning the first 3-2 and losing the second 10-4, and Spokane downed Oklahoma City 6-2.

Portland made it four in a row against Seattle in the first game. Singles by Duke Sims, Tommie Agee and Tony Attanasio loaded the bases in the second, and another single by Al Luplow drove in two runs. Three singles and a walk produced three more in the next inning and put the game out of reach.

Seattle broke the losing streak in the second game with a three-run sixth inning. With one on, Bob Guindon hit the first pitch to him over the right field fence. The next batter, Billy Harrell, let the count get to 2-1 before he sent another one out.

Indianapolis scored on a bad throw with two out in the bottom of the ninth for its win over Arkansas, the Eastern Division leader. Norm Gigon tried to nail Chico Fernandez off third but his throw went into the dirt. Indianapolis had snapped a seven-game Arkansas winning streak Saturday with a 12-3 victory.

Nancy Richey Spearheads Tennis Win

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONDON (AP)—Nancy Richey, 21-year-old tennis star from Dallas, Tex., was hailed today as the star of America's victorious Wightman Cup team and a serious contender for the Wimbledon title.

The American girls won the cup for the fourth straight year with a 5-2 margin over Britain at Wimbledon.

In the final matches, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., defeated Deidre Catt of Britain 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. Angela Mortimer and Liz Starkie of Britain defeated Mrs. Donna Fales of New York and Miss Richey in the doubles 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Richey scored the only straight sets victory in defeating Mrs. Ann Jones, the British No. 1 on Saturday, 7-5, 11-9 in the match that decided the series.

Miss Richey was the most talked about player. Her play astonished the critics.

On Friday she thumped her shots from the baseline to defeat Deidre Catt 4-6, 6-4, 7-5. She repeated her victory Saturday against Mrs. Jones.

British experts wrote of Miss Richey:

"Nancy Richey was in cracking form. On yesterday's play she is a serious contender for the Wimbledon title. Her backhand and forehand drives have tremendous pace and direction,, and she also showed that she could volley when needed. Her ball control on every shot is quite outstanding."

This week Miss Richey plays in the London championships at Queen's Club, along with the other American Wightman Cuppers—Billie Jean Moffitt and Carole Caldwell, of Santa Monica, Calif. The Wimbledon tournament starts next week.

The result of the Wightman Cup left the record of the event looking more one-sided than ever—30 wins to the Americans and six to the British.

Sleepy, Summery Pace Recorded On Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Television has settled down to a sleepy, summery pace, especially on weekends.

This reviewer was confronted with an hour or so to kill Sunday after NBC's "Meet the Press," when Barry Goldwater's campaign manager fielded tough questions very neatly. The networks offered only "Mr. Ed," "Lassie" and "The Bill Dana Show," and there is nothing more dreary than seeing a comedy for a second time.

Thus I found myself watching a 15-year-old James Cagney gangster movie. At one point, Cagney shot a man and then kicked him down a long flight of stairs, with the camera showing every bounce. At another he jammed a victim in the trunk of an automobile and casually pumped lead into it. The final shoot-out lasted at least 15 minutes.

The most violent scene I have encountered in this season's television output came in Sunday nights NBC "Show of the Week," a meandering tale called "Ambassador at Large."

It was a most uneven piece, extremely talky, with a few wild bursts of action.

The story centered on a fictitious South American country on the verge of revolution. A U.S. State Department troubleshooter sent to soothe the dictator arrives just as the rebel leader appears at embassy to ask political asylum.

The play sought to explain the necessity for dealing with an official of whom our nation disapproved and also tried to point out the reluctance of the State Department men to send his enemy out to certain death.

The play solved their problem in a way that got the dramatist off the hook but was not satisfactory to the viewer. They spirited the rebel out of the embassy by a trick, but he was caught and killed later, thus placating the dictator.

The shocking scene was one that showed, in specific detail, the hanging of four rebel partisans. It was not necessary to the story.

Arthur Kennedy and Andrew Duggan played the State Department good guys. Peter Falk as the banana republic firebrand used such a convincing foreign accent that he was hard to understand.

Most unexpected event of the weekend was the act from the "Folies Berger" which Ed Sullivan chose for his show Sunday night. Instead of a scantily clad chorus of mademoiselles doing a can-can, there were two men and a girl doing tricks on a slack wire. That's hardly what tourists attend the Folies to see.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Leading Question!

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and live in Lead, South Dakota. I think our State is very unfairly treated. It is never advertised like New York or California or Texas. I love my State and we have just as many exciting things as other States. And Lead is a nice city, too, but you never hear anything about it. Can you put this in your column and give us a boost? — LESLIE DORNBUSH, Lead, S. D.

DEAR LESLIE: The pioneers fought the Indians, grasshoppers and dust to make South Dakota one of the richest farming States in the nation. And there's gold in them thar hills, too! Furthermore, your Rushmore Memorial Park is one of the best known State parks in the country. Your pheasant hunting is second to none. South Dakota is growing in resources and culture. So ask your governor if he has Lead in his plans.

DEAR ABBY: I once read somewhere that it is quite proper to say, "I don't give a dam," because a dam is a coin used in India. Is there any truth in this? —J. S.

DEAR J. S.: A "dam" was indeed a former copper coin used in India. But it has been so many years since anyone has had a dam to give that the expression today is more profane than proper.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an adorable boy. Oh, he's not that cute, but heck, neither am I. He's 19 and I am 13. The only ones who know how I feel about him are my two best girl friends. They say I should give up and forget him because he is too old for me, but I have tried and I can't. I have felt this way about him since I was nine and a half. I can't see where six years is such a big difference. My mother is 33 and my father is 39. Do you think there is any hope? —GREENVILLE

DEAR GREENVILLE: Not at 13! Stay out of sight. And when you are 19 and he is 25, try again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. M. F.: If he is truly your friend, tell him candidly that he needs a psychiatrist with five couches. One for each member of his family.

Commie Split Unbridgable, Nikita Hints

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Nikita Khrushchev seems about ready to admit that the Soviet-Chinese split is unbridgeable in the foreseeable future, and that a splintered Communist world is inevitable.

Khrushchev concedes there is an estrangement not only between the Chinese and Soviet Communist parties, but also between the Peking and Moscow governments.

Khrushchev leaves it up to the Chinese whether there will be a move toward reconciliation. Displaying little hope that there will be, he virtually apologizes to the rest of the Communist world for the current state of affairs.

Khrushchev's remarks, interpolated in Friday's speech about the East German-Soviet friendship treaty, indicated a profound weariness with the whole Chinese affair. They seemed the words of a man caught in an impossible squeeze between the pressures in the Soviet Union for economic advancement and the pressures of world communism for more aggressive expansion.

If there is no reconciliation, Khrushchev seems to say, it will not be his fault but Peking's.

"One should not," says Khrushchev, "allow the spread of ideological differences to intergovernmental relations, since this ultimately weakens the position of world socialism and plays into the hands of imperialism.

"We believe that even today the road is not closed for the normalization of Soviet-Chinese relations, including governmental relations. All that is required is good will and awareness of one's supreme duty to one's people, to the entire revolutionary movement. Our party will constantly guide itself by this principle."

It seems likely Moscow considers Red China effectiveless outside the Soviet bloc of nations.

The Soviet newspaper Izvestia recently quoted Marshal Chen Yi, Red China's foreign minister, as describing China as a "nonaligned country." Izvestia added that "politically speaking, this means Chen Yi no longer considers China part of the world socialist (Communist) camp."

Khrushchev insists he is just as ardently for world revolution as the Chinese. But he reflects the Soviet people's own aspirations when he says people around the world would hardly follow a Communist government "whose people have no trousers."

That's the problem. It's trousers or world revolution.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Leading Question!

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and live in Lead, South Dakota. I think our State is very unfairly treated. It is never advertised like New York or California or Texas. I love my State and we have just as many exciting things as other States. And Lead is a nice city, too, but you never hear anything about it. Can you put this in your column and give us a boost? — LESLIE DORNBUSH, Lead, S. D.

DEAR LESLIE: The pioneers fought the Indians, grasshoppers and dust to make South Dakota one of the richest farming States in the nation. And there's gold in them thar hills, too! Furthermore, your Rushmore Memorial Park is one of the best known State parks in the country. Your pheasant hunting is second to none. South Dakota is growing in resources and culture. So ask your governor if he has Lead in his plans.

DEAR ABBY: I once read somewhere that it is quite proper to say, "I don't give a dam," because a dam is a coin used in India. Is there any truth in this? —J. S.

DEAR J. S.: A "dam" was indeed a former copper coin used in India. But it has been so many years since anyone has had a dam to give that the expression today is more profane than proper.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an adorable boy. Oh, he's not that cute, but heck, neither am I. He's 19 and I am 13. The only ones who know how I feel about him are my two best girl friends. They say I should give up and forget him because he is too old for me, but I have tried and I can't. I have felt this way about him since I was nine and a half. I can't see where six years is such a big difference. My mother is 33 and my father is 39. Do you think there is any hope? —GREENVILLE

DEAR GREENVILLE: Not at 13! Stay out of sight. And when you are 19 and he is 25, try again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. M. F.: If he is truly your friend, tell him candidly that he needs a psychiatrist with five couches. One for each member of his family.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Commie Split Unbridgable, Nikita Hints

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Nikita Khrushchev seems about ready to admit that the Soviet-Chinese split is unbridgeable in the foreseeable future, and that a splintered Communist world is inevitable.

Khrushchev concedes there is an estrangement not only between the Chinese and Soviet Communist parties, but also between the Peking and Moscow governments.

Khrushchev leaves it up to the Chinese whether there will be a move toward reconciliation. Displaying little hope that there will be, he virtually apologizes to the rest of the Communist world for the current state of affairs.

Khrushchev's remarks, interpolated in Friday's speech about the East German-Soviet friendship treaty, indicated a profound weariness with the whole Chinese affair. They seemed the words of a man caught in an impossible squeeze between the pressures in the Soviet Union for economic advancement and the pressures of world communism for more aggressive expansion.

If there is no reconciliation, Khrushchev seems to say, it will not be his fault but Peking's.

"One should not," says Khrushchev, "allow the spread of ideological differences to intergovernmental relations, since this ultimately weakens the position of world socialism and plays into the hands of imperialism.

"We believe that even today the road is not closed for the normalization of Soviet-Chinese relations, including governmental relations. All that is required is good will and awareness of one's supreme duty to one's people, to the entire revolutionary movement. Our party will constantly guide itself by this principle."

It seems likely Moscow considers Red China effectiveless outside the Soviet bloc of nations.

The Soviet newspaper Izvestia recently quoted Marshal Chen Yi, Red China's foreign minister, as describing China as a "nonaligned country." Izvestia added that "politically speaking, this means Chen Yi no longer considers China part of the world socialist (Communist) camp."

The break has done enormous harm to the world Communist movement, and Khrushchev seems to want to escape blame.

Khrushchev insists he is just as ardently for world revolution as the Chinese. But he reflects the Soviet people's own aspirations when he says people around the world would hardly follow a Communist government "whose people have no trousers."

That's the problem. It's trousers or world revolution.

I WANT TO DO SOMETHING THAT WILL PUT THINGS IN PROPER FOCUS... INCLUDING YOUR EYES!

CROSSROADS CONCLAVE ENDS — Pandurang Joshi of India and Kiyoko Akaiwa of Japan donned their native costumes Saturday as the week-long Summer Crossroads program came to an end. With them are Anders Bjurner (second from right) of Sweden and Robert Blair of Denver, associate director of the Rocky Mountain office of the Institute of International Education, which sponsored the program. Forty-seven college students from 29 countries were guests in local homes for the week in addition to various special occasions arranged for them. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Prince Edward County Schools To Tell Plans

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)— Prince Edward County supervisors are to deliver to U.S. District Court today a letter specifying what steps, if any, they plan to open public schools, closed five years to avoid desegregation.

It is the country's formal reply to an order by Judge Oren R. Lewis, charged by the U.S. Supreme Court with carrying out its May 25 order that the schools be reopened on a desegregated basis.

Judge Lewis has promised to enter his decree Wednesday. He is empowered by the Supreme Court, if necessary, to order the supervisors to levy taxes for public schools.

One week ago, the judge directed the supervisors to notify him in writing by today what steps they were taking to comply with the court's order. The supervisors' reply, drawn up last Thursday night, has been a closely guarded secret.

Counsel for Prince Edward County Negro children has suggested that Judge Lewis direct the supervisors to appropriate $775,000 for public schools in 1964-65.

Thus far, there has been no evidence to indicate that the supervisors plan voluntarily to earmark any money for school operations. The county budget of $1.04 million, tentatively adopted May 19, includes nothing for this purpose.

It is like all other budgets adopted since 1959 when, faced with a court order to desegregate that autumn, the supervisors closed the schools by the simple expedient of setting aside no money for them. Taxes were lowered accordingly.

In the intervening years, the county's white children have attended private, segregated schools. Its 1,600 school-age Negro children had no formal schooling until last fall, when a free school system opened on a one-year basis, financed by private donations.

Tonight, the free school will give high school diplomas to 23 pupils, including one white boy.

Should the supervisors add school funds to the 1964-65 budget, some hurried fiscal footwork would be required.

The new budget would have to be adopted and advertised, a public hearing held, and final adoption completed, all before the fiscal year begins July 1.

When Judge Lewis issued his order to the supervisors last week, he also directed the school board to tell him whether it has made plans to operate desegregated public schools this fall.

The board was expected to tell him today that it is prepared to operate them if funds are available.

Bookkeeper Robs Denver Credit Union

DENVER (UPI)— State bank officials said here that a woman bookkeeper for a Catholic parish credit union had admitted embezzling $14,076 from the union over the past five years.

State Bank Commissioner Frank Goldy identified the woman as Mrs. Pauline Ronan of Denver. She resigned June 3 as bookkeeper of St. Cajetan's Parish Credit Union, the same day the state began an audit.

Goldy said the woman had been taking from $150 to $180 a month since 1959. No charges have been filed against her.

Enlarged Security Council Is Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—An African-Asian move to enlarge the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council has won the support of the Soviet Union.

Informed sources said here the Soviets have abandoned their opposition to expansion of the Security Council from 11 to 15 members and the Economic and Social Council from 18 to 27. The General Assembly has voted overwhelmingly for the amendments.

The issue had become politically embarrassing for the Russians, because it brought them into opposition to the African-Asian bloc. Peking earlier had disclosed it favored expanding the councils, even though it was not a U.N. member.

ANCIENT MUMPS

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the oldest known diseases of man is the mumps, says Encyclopedia International. The disease was accurately described by the Greek physician Hippocrates as far back as the 5th century B.C.

FROM START TO FINISH

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — Lowery Rains probably is the only man to start a 100-yard dash, then judge the finish.

Rains, a rural schoolteacher, agreed to fill in at a track meet when the regular judge failed to appear.

He fired the starting gun, started jogging down the track, and was on hand to call the finish as the youngsters broke the tape.

The engine, for example, is assembled by hand. And it's machined to such close tolerances that it won't burn a thimbleful of oil.

Like an oil cooler.

Or a sealed bottom.

How do all those plums get thrown in for the price?

By spending time on changes to make the car work better. Not look different.

And the money that's saved by not retooling for new styles gets poured right back into the car. (Into a fourth coat of paint, for instance. For a finish you don't look at, so much as into.)

Prince Edward County Schools To Tell Plans

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Prince Edward County supervisors are to deliver to U.S. District Court today a letter specifying what steps, if any, they plan to open public schools, closed five years to avoid desegregation.

It is the country's formal reply to an order by Judge Oren R. Lewis, charged by the U.S. Supreme Court with carrying out its May 25 order that the schools be reopened on a desegregated basis.

Judge Lewis has promised to enter his decree Wednesday. He is empowered by the Supreme Court, if necessary, to order the supervisors to levy taxes for public schools.

One week ago, the judge directed the supervisors to notify him in writing by today what steps they were taking to comply with the court's order. The supervisors' reply, drawn up last Thursday night, has been a closely guarded secret.

Counsel for Prince Edward County Negro children has suggested that Judge Lewis direct the supervisors to appropriate $775,000 for public schools in 1964-65.

Thus far, there has been no evidence to indicate that the supervisors plan voluntarily to earmark any money for school operations. The county budget of $1.04 million, tentatively adopted May 19, includes nothing for this purpose.

It is like all other budgets adopted since 1959 when, faced with a court order to desegregate that autumn, the supervisors closed the schools by the simple expedient of setting aside no money for them. Taxes were lowered accordingly.

In the intervening years, the county's white children have attended private, segregated schools. Its 1,600 school-age Negro children had no formal schooling until last fall, when a free school system opened on a one-year basis, financed by private donations.

Tonight, the free school will give high school diplomas to 23 pupils, including one white boy.

Should the supervisors add school funds to the 1964-65 budget, some hurried fiscal footwork would be required.

The new budget would have to be adopted and advertised, a public hearing held, and final adoption completed, all before the fiscal year begins July 1.

When Judge Lewis issued his order to the supervisors last week, he also directed the school board to tell him whether it has made plans to operate desegregated public schools this fall.

The board was expected to tell him today that it is prepared to operate them if funds are available.

Bookkeeper Robs Denver Credit Union

DENVER (UPI)— State bank officials said here that a woman bookkeeper for a Catholic parish credit union had admitted embezzling $14,076 from the union over the past five years.

State Bank Commissioner Frank Goldy identified the woman as Mrs. Pauline Ronan of Denver. She resigned June 3 as bookkeeper of St. Cajetan's Parish Credit Union, the same day the state began an audit.

Goldy said the woman had been taking from $150 to $180 a month since 1959. No charges have been filed against her.

Enlarged Security Council Is Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—An African-Asian move to enlarge the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council has won the support of the Soviet Union.

Informed sources said here the Soviets have abandoned their opposition to expansion of the Security Council from 11 to 15 members and the Economic and Social Council from 18 to 27. The General Assembly has voted overwhelmingly for the amendments.

The issue had become politically embarrassing for the Russians, because it brought them into opposition to the African-Asian bloc. Peking earlier had disclosed it favored expanding the councils, even though it was not a U.N. member.

ANCIENT MUMPS

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the oldest known diseases of man is the mumps, says Encyclopedia International. The disease was accurately described by the Greek physician Hippocrates as far back as the 5th century B.C.

FROM START TO FINISH

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — Lowery Rains probably is the only man to start a 100-yard dash, then judge the finish.

Rains, a rural schoolteacher, agreed to fill in at a track meet when the regular judge failed to appear.

He fired the starting gun, started jogging down the track, and was on hand to call the finish as the youngsters broke the tape.

Never mind the money.

The engine, for example, is assembled by hand. And it's machined to such close tolerances that it won't burn a thimbleful of oil.

Poke around the parts and you'll find things you won't even find on some high-priced sports jobs.

How do all those plums get thrown in for the price?

By spending time on changes to make the car work better. Not look different.

And the money that's saved by not retooling for new styles gets poured right back into the car. (Into a fourth coat of paint, for instance. For a finish you don't look at, so much as into.)
